BRITISH SHIPS TO GUARD SUEZ

MOLEY NAMED IN LOBBY QUIZ ON SHIP GRANT

New York Luncheon Is Described.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Raymond Moley, first head of the "brain trust," was brought suddenly into the senate lobby investigation today when the committee switched from public utilities to ship subsidy legislation.

Ira A. Campbell, counsel for shipping interests, described a luncheon session in New York last week to discuss the ship subsidy bill, attended by John M. Franklin, Kermit Roosevelt, and "Mr. Moley."

"What Mr. Moley?" Chairman Black [Dem., Ala.] asked quickly.

"Mr. Raymond Moley, that's all I know about him," the witness replied while spectators chuckled.

He then told of a second meeting this week in a room at the capitol. Senator Copeland [Dem., N. Y.], in charge of the ship subsidy legislation as chairman of the commerce committee was there, he said.

Stanley Dollar Present.

Also present were Stanley Dollar of the Dollar Lines, W. K. Jackson of the United Fruit company, and Robert Patchin of the Grace Line.

"Did you discuss the bill?" Black asked of the New York meeting.

"We discussed one provision."

"What was that?"

"The provision taking away from the courts jurisdiction over the fixing of compensation for the cancelation of mail contracts."

"What, was there a provision like that in the bill?" Black asked.

It developed through further questioning that the provision barred the courts from granting compensation for possible future profits from the mail contracts.

The committee went into efforts to shape the subsidy legislation, now dead for this session, after laying aside for a time its investigation of lobbying against the public utilities bill.

A Dramatic Appearance.

Heated denials and persistent questions were given a lively interruption by the sudden and dramatic appearance of Senator Millard Tydings [Dem., Md.], indignant at testimony yesterday that he had attended a party given by Hopson's representative in the fight against the public utilities bill.

Bernard B. Robinson, Chicago broker, was abruptly recalled to the stand. His testimony that he "thought" Tydings was one of the guests was read to him. Tydings took up the questioning himself and drew from Robinson that his statement was based on what he had read in the newspapers.

Tydings Questions Robinson.

Senator Tydings inquired:

"Mr. Robinson, did you invite me to a party at the F. Street club?"

Robinson replied:

"You attended a joint party—you were there."

"Who invited me?"

"I think you were invited by a young lady."

"Did she have any connection with a public utility lobby?"

"I never said she had."

"Then what do you mean by saying that I was a guest at a cocktail party given by you, and paid for with utility company money?"

Reads Society Columns.

"It was a joint party, Senator, given by Miss Walker and myself. I saw in the society columns that you were present."

"Then you don't claim that you saw me there—you just read it in the newspapers?"

"I thought you were there, Senator."

"You testified that I was a guest at a cocktail party given by you, and paid for by a public utility lobby. There's not a word of truth in that, and you know it.

"After this, if you use my name in your testimony, be damn sure you are right."

Hopson Is Excused.

The committee excused Howard C. Hopson subject to call, after Senator Schwellenbach [Dem., Wash.], digging into the financial past of the Associated Gas and Electric System, charged him with having conducted a $27,000,000 "wash sale" of the company's stock to lure the general public into buying.

Schwellenbach traced 464,400 shares

LONDON FEARS ITALIAN ATTACK AT KEY POINT

LONDON, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The defense committee of the British cabinet ordered the imperial defense machine today to swing into position to maintain the empire's dominance of the Mediterranean, protect its colonies in Africa, and keep open its lines of communication.

It directed provision of elaborate naval, military and air defenses for the Suez canal, an informant said.

On protection and control of that gateway depends the very life of the empire, it was asserted. In event of war in east Africa the canal would become a key point. Its closing to warships and transports of combatants is already being discussed. Such a move, one observer said, would be a mortal blow to Premier Mussolini's East African ambitions.

Fear Italy May Attack Suez.

During the meeting of the imperial defense committee at No. 10 Downing street today the problem of Suez canal defense was discussed at length. One report said grave concern was expressed over the possibility that Italy might attempt to seize the canal in case of war.

The opinion was expressed in both naval and military circles that the fleet alone is incapable of holding the canal and that the army and air force have already received instructions for use in case of trouble. One of the chief worries of the British is the possibility of attack by submarines and aircraft.

The admiralty, officials of which have long and publicly lamented the size and condition of the British fleet, was told, an informant said, to hasten the massing in Mediterranean waters of the strongest British naval forces ever assembled there, to establish headquarters at Malta and to be ready for any eventuality.

Report Navy 'Not Prepared.'

In diplomatic circles the opinion was expressed that the British navy is not prepared to enforce the will of the British government in the Mediterranean and the statement was made that the admiralty had so reported to the cabinet when asked if it is ready for action.

An enlarged Mediterranean fleet will be assembled at Malta soon, naval observers said. There will be five fast battleships of the Queen Elizabeth type and three famed battle cruisers—the 42,000 ton Hood and the Renown and Repulse, of 32,000 tons each. The arrival of the Repulse may be delayed. It is in the dockyard at present.

From Athens came reports that a British air squadron was hurrying toward the Sudan, adjoining the north border of Ethiopia, and would land there tomorrow. The Greek government granted permission for the planes to fly over Greece.

From other widely scattered points came rumors of troop movements. The rumors were not confirmed by officials here. It was said considerable bodies of native troops are involved in the British plans for the defense of the colonies.

The Exchange Telegraph agency's correspondent at Djibouti, French Somaliland, said tonight Swedish and Belgian officers who have been acting as instructors in the Ethiopian army received orders from their governments to resign and return home.

Italy Is Stirred.

ROME, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Reports that Great Britain is moving part of her north Atlantic fleet to Gibraltar and is making strong defense plans for Malta stirred Italy today.

These reports and others that Britain might attempt to invoke sanctions [penalties for treaty violations] against Italy at Geneva shared first place in the discussion in informed circles. Premier Mussolini's newspaper announced yesterday that "sanctions mean war."

Naples, the principal embarkation point for east Africa, was busy today. The S. S. Quirinale sailed tonight with 411 Black Shirts, 50 officers, and 100 mounted carabinieri. The Saturnia will sail tomorrow with 4,000 troops and the Atlanta with 1,000 Black Shirts.

It was reported that Mussolini's sons, Bruno and Vittorio, and his son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, minister of propaganda, are among the de-

TEXAS VOTES TODAY ON REPEAL OF 16 YEAR OLD PROHIBITION LAW

Austin, Tex., Aug. 23.—(AP)—A close vote was predicted by observers tonight as Texans prepared to ballot tomorrow on a proposal to repeal the 16 year old state prohibition law. Both wets and drys claimed victory.

Because of persistent apathy, only 400,000 to 600,000 of the 800,000 persons eligible are expected to vote.

United States Senator Morris Sheppard, co-author of the eighteenth amendment to the federal constitution, battled for the drys. He charged conditions since repeal of the national dry laws have been unsatisfactory. Anti-prohibitionists declared the state is overrun with bootleggers.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 23.—(AP)—The Dallas colored chamber of commerce backed an "anti-razor" campaign today. President A. Confesses Golf Club Murder; Names 4 Pals

Three men were held at the detective bureau last night facing charges of murder in connection with the fatal beating administered to William Barry, 69 years old, a watchman at the Hickory Hills Golf club, West 95th street and 87th avenue, Palos township, in an attempted robbery early yesterday.

One of the men was reported to have confessed to the state's attorney's police and implicated the other two in custody. He also was reported to have given the police the names of two other men who were in the gang that assaulted Barry. These men were being sought last night.

Barry died at the Little Company of Mary hospital a few hours after he had been brutally beaten by the five men who attempted to rob the club. Their only loot was the contents of a slot machine.

All Three Have Records.

The man reported to have confessed is James Whelan, 25 years old, 8005 Calumet avenue. He was indicted on Jan. 18, 1927, on 17 charges of robbery and on April 14, 1927, was sentenced to the state reformatory at Pontiac after a conviction for grand larceny. He was released on July 18, 1933.

The other two held are:

Daniel Slattery, 25 years old, 8142 West 52d street, who has been walking with the aid of crutches since he broke his ankle in a baseball game two months ago; granted probation in 1927 after a conviction for stealing an automobile; fined $50 in 1927 for driving while intoxicated; found not guilty of robbery in 1931; no bill in 1932 on a charge of assault to murder; sentenced to 9 months in the Bridewell in 1933 for petty larceny.

Fright Frustrates Plot.

According to the police, Whelan said that he and his four companions planned to burglarize the golf club but were frightened when they saw Barry and beat him. Whelan declared that Ryder administered most of the blows, the police said.

At the detective bureau the police said the three would be placed in the "show up" with five other men held as members of a gang accused of robbing a score of country clubs in the Chicago area.

The Hickory Hills robbers broke into the clubhouse early yesterday morning, arousing Barry, Robert Prescott, and Howard Knize, who were sleeping in the locker room in the basement. Miss Marie Doran and five other women employés of the club, sleeping on the second floor, were awakened by the commotion below.

Guard Ordered Beaten.

"Don't shoot the old man, but beat him up good," the leader ordered, according to the testimony of Miss Doran at the inquest conducted at the Little Company of Mary hospital and continued to Aug. 30 at the request of police. Severely beaten about the head and body, Barry staggered to a telephone, got the operator, and collapsed without saying a word.

County Highway Policemen Peter Brown, Anthony Kirincich, and Anthony Urban, responding to the telephone operator's alarm, overtook Whelan's car on 87th street.

Brown fired six shots into the car, one of them wounding Whelan in the arm, forcing him to halt. He and Slattery surrendered. An hour later the same policemen encountered Ryder, his shirt torn from his back and bleeding from two slight bullet wounds, walking on the highway.

Ryder maintained that he had lost his shirt in a tavern brawl, but police found clutched in Barry's hands, however, a torn shirt collar with the identification mark, "E. Ryder."

Duchess Fined by Nazis for Fatal Auto Accident

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DESSAU, Germany, Aug. 23.—Duchess Edda of Anhalt was today held responsible by a Dessau court for an automobile accident in which a 60 year old woman was killed. The duchess was punished by a "heavy fine," the amount of which was not revealed.

FOUR CZARIST EAGLES ORDERED OFF KREMLIN BY DICTATOR STALIN

MOSCOW, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Four great double-headed czarist eagles, which for more than 17 years have mounted guard on top of the Kremlin towers over the soviet government, were ordered removed today. The two eagles atop the historical museum facing Red square also are to descend from their perch.

Joseph Stalin, secretary general of the communist party, ordered them removed by Nov. 17, the 18th anniversary of the Red revolution, and replaced by giant soviet stars.

These stars will be 6½ feet in height and will have in the center a hammer and sickle made of colored stone from the Ural mountains. The stars themselves will be gilt and will be lighted at night. Gilt crosses that have not been removed from the Kremlin and churches in Moscow are to remain untouched.

Winant Named Chairman of Security Board

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt in a day of appointments today named the three members of the newly created social security board. He also named three members of the national labor relations board and appointed a member of the securities and exchange commission.

John G. Winant, former Republican governor of New Hampshire, who has been mentioned as a possible Republican candidate against Mr. Roosevelt in 1936, was made chairman of the board. His associates will be Arthur J. Altmeyer of Wisconsin, assistant secretary of labor, and Vincent Morgan Miles, attorney of Fort Smith, Ark. The three members of the board are to receive an annual salary of $10,000.

Winant to Serve 6 Years.

In sending his nominations to the senate the President stipulated that former Gov. Winant will serve six years, Altmeyer will serve 4 years and Miles one year. All appointments date from last Aug. 13 when the social security bill reached the White House.

In appointing the board the President set in motion the act which he has said is one of the outstanding social reforms in the history of the government. The act provides for old age pensions and annuities and unemployment insurance.

Mr. Winant served in the past year on the advisory council to the President's committee on economic security and assisted in the preparation of the social security act. Last summer he served, at the request of Mr. Roosevelt, as one of the mediators in the textile strike. He served in France during the war and was governor of New Hampshire from 1925 to 1926 and again from 1931 to 1934.

Former Labor Commissioner.

Altmeyer was at one time labor commissioner for the state of Wisconsin. Before becoming assistant secretary of labor he served as head of the compliance division of the NRA. He was head of the technical board which advised the President on the social security bill.

Miles was formerly Democratic national committeeman from Arkansas. Recently he was regional adviser for the Public Works administration.

As chairman of the new national labor relations board, which is to supervise relations of labor and industry under the Wagner bill, the President named Joseph Madden, Pittsburgh attorney. He will serve for five years. His associates will be John Michael Carmody of New York, member of the old national mediation board which governed railroad labor relations, and Edwin S. Smith of Massachusetts, who was a member of the old NLRB which was killed along with the NRA by the Supreme court.

Ross Nomination Surprise.

The nomination of J. D. Ross as a member of the securities and exchange commission came as a surprise here. It had been believed that the appointment would go to Benjamin Cohen, one of the "hot dogs" of Prof. Felix Frankfurter's law classes at Harvard, as a reward for his co-authorship of the utility death sentence bill.

Ross is in line with the administration power program, having served as superintendent of the Seattle, Wash., municipal power system, one of the largest in the country. At present he is a PWA advisory engineer on power.

RAIL, MORTGAGE, COAL BILLS SENT TO WHITE HOUSE

Hope Today Is End

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Adjournment prospects as viewed late tonight by capitol hill leaders:

Speaker Byrns: "There seems little doubt but that we'll be out of here by tomorrow night."

Senator Robinson, Democratic leader: "Well, I don't know. I am hopeful that we will finish and adjourn tomorrow."

BULLETIN.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—(Special.)—The house after a night of disorder adjourned at 11:45 p. m. until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Among the bills passed tonight was a measure staying the deportation of approximately 2,700 aliens with relatives in the United States until March 1, 1936. A few minutes later the senate recessed until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—With administration leaders determined to adjourn the session tomorrow night, despite a threatened filibuster in the senate on the 12 cent cotton loan, congress today sent three major bills to the White House and conference deadlocks on two other "must" measures were broken.

Both branches were held in late night sessions, the house considering an immigration and deportation bill, and the senate finding itself embroiled in miscellaneous controversies, ranging from the question of neutrality and international relations to Denver's efforts to steal the flying school from Rantoul, Ill.

Shelve Flood Bill.

The last senate controversy, over the $465,000,000 flood control pork measure, ended just before midnight after a two and one-half hour speech by Senator Millard E. Tydings [Dem., Md.] resulted in recommitting the bill for consideration at the next session.

The house passed a $370,000,000 authorization (most of which comes out of the 4 billion dollar works fund) last night, and the senate commerce committee added $95,000,000 today.

Sent to Roosevelt.

The measures sent to the White House were:

1. The Guffey-Snyder coal regimentation bill, on which conferees agreed in short order and drafted a report that sailed through both houses.

2. The Frazier-Lemke three year farm mortgage moratorium bill, which the house passed without amending the senate measure.

3. The bill levying taxes of 3½ per cent of the pay rolls upon both the railroads and their employés for the payment of railway pensions provided in a companion measure already passed by both houses. The senate passed the house bill without amendments.

Replace Killed Measures.

Both the Frazier-Lemke farm bankruptcy and railway pension bills are designed to replace similar acts passed by the last New Deal congress and killed by the Supreme court. The two "must" measures on which conferees, heretofore deadlocked and apparently hopelessly so, suddenly reached agreements are the federal alcohol control bill and the gold suits bill, withdrawing consent of the government to be sued on repudiated gold clause obligations.

The senate later approved the conference report on gold suits.

The chief obstacle in the liquor control bill was the question of bulk sales, which the house permitted and the senate prohibited. The house receded on this, representing a victory for the glass manufacturers over the keg and stave people.

In return for this concession, the senate yielded on its independent agency and agreed to place administration of the law under the secretary of the treasury, who does not want it.

Compromise on Beer.

The conferees compromised on the question of regulating breweries and beer, included in the house bill but not the senate's. The government will cooperate with dry states to protect them against beer.

The senate bill allowed the filing of gold suits for a period of six months, while the house measure would have prohibited them after the effective date of the act. Under the compromise, such suits may be filed until Jan. 1, 1936.

Other developments in the headlong adjournment drive included:

1. Conferees on the Wheeler-Rayburn public utility bill, on which the house voted yesterday, accepted the "death sentence" for all electric power and gas holding companies beyond the second degree, reached an agreement on all other provisions of the bill, including drastic regulation of operating companies, and were drafting a report.

2. The senate appropriations committee reported unchanged the 93 million dollar third deficiency bill, already passed by the house, and it was considered on the senate floor, but a final vote was deferred until tomorrow to avert the threatened cotton loan filibuster.

3. Senator Key Pittman [Dem., Nev.], chairman of the foreign relations committee, moved that the senate concur in the neutrality resolution passed earlier in the day by the house, but this was put over for a vote at 11 a. m. tomorrow when Senators James Hamilton Lewis [Dem., Ill.] and Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.] expressed a desire to speak.

Soak Rich Bill Last.

In addition to the foregoing measures there remained for final action in both houses before adjournment tomorrow night President Roosevelt's 250 million dollar wealth confiscation tax bill which is to be made the last order of business.

The controversy and threat of a filibuster over the 12 cent cotton loan grew out of the administration's compromise plan announced yesterday, whereby the loans hereafter will be limited to 9 cents, but the farmers who hold their cotton will be guaranteed a 12 cent price. If necessary, the administration, under authority of the AAA amendments, can use up to 30 per cent of customs receipts to pay bounties on exports sold below the domestic price.

Byrnes Demands 12 Cents.

Senator James F. Byrnes [Dem., S. C.] offered an amendment to the third deficiency bill making continuance of the 12 cent loan mandatory, and announced at the same time that "if necessary I am prepared to talk from now until tomorrow and I will get considerable support."

Senator Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.] made a point of order against the amendment on the ground that it constituted general legislation on an appropriation measure and was sustained by the chair. Senator Byrnes, however, served notice that he would move to suspend the rules, which would require a two-thirds vote.

At Byrne's suggestion the final vote on the deficiency bill was put over until tomorrow with the understanding that he would receive a vote on his motion to suspend the rules.

Against Roosevelt Now.

Senator Byrnes, who was President Roosevelt's spokesman on the 4 billion 880 million works bill, was defying the administration in his efforts to extend the 12 cent loan, but he has not been in the good graces of the White House since he voted to override the President on the Patman greenback inflation bonus bill.

All during the late afternoon and evening Senator Edward P. Costigan [Radical Dem., Colo.] kept making a nuisance of himself, bobbing up and demanding action on his motion to take up the bill to transfer the technical aviation training school from Rantoul, Ill., to Denver. Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson was so annoyed that he told Costigan he was threatening the whole legislative program and not doing his bill any good.

"All Want to Go Home."

"The senator knows that we all want to go home tomorrow night," Robinson exclaimed.

Finally, at the suggestion of Senator Robert La Follette [Radical, Wis.] Costigan's bill was made the special order of business for the third day of the next session of congress.

Prior to the aviation school, neutrality and cotton loan controversies, the senate was embroiled in a row over the ocean air mail contracts. It finally ended in the adoption of a resolution by Senator Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] extending the existing law until Aug. 30, 1936, under which President Roosevelt has authority to modify or cancel the contracts.

Black Substitute Defeated.

Senator Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.], chairman of the special committee which investigated both ocean and air mail contracts and precipitated the scandalous cancelation of the latter, offered a substitute which would make mandatory the cancelation of ocean mail contracts on March 31, 1936.

Black's substitute was defeated by a vote of 37 to 27, and Copeland's then was adopted, 44 to 20.

The senate was subjected to long tirades from both Black and Huey P. Long, the Louisiana "Kingfish," each charging gross frauds under the existing contracts based upon the act of 1928. Long seized the opportunity to renew his attacks upon the administration, pointing out that President Roosevelt has authority to cancel or modify the contracts if he chooses to do so.

Implies Astor Influence.

By implication he charged the President with failure to act because of the influence of Vincent Astor, his yachting host on the Nourmahal, and Kermit Roosevelt, his distant cousin, both officials of the International Mercantile Marine company.

Senator Black recounted testimony before his special lobby committee, concerning a luncheon last week in a New York club, at which Raymond Moley, original head of Mr. Roosevelt's brain trust, was entertained by the shipping interests.

The conferees on the Guffey coal bill, including Senator Matthew M. Nealy [Dem., W. Va.], and Senator James J. Davis [Rep., Pa.], lost no time in throwing out a senate amendment which sought to protect the Chicago market from the Pennsylvania-West Virginia monopoly.

This amendment, put in by Senator Sherman Minton [Dem., Ind.], created a special "minimum price" area for Illinois, Indiana, and Iowa, while the bill as finally adopted by the senate groups these states in area No. 1, with Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Under its provisions, Pennsylvania and West Virginia may compete in the Chicago market with Illinois producers, regardless of the freight advantages.

COAL RULE BILL WAITS APPROVAL BY WHITE HOUSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—The adjournment-bound Congress of the United States tonight voted final approval to the controversial Guffey coal socialization bill. With the effective use of the gag rule the house, by a vote of 186 to 150, jammed through the conference report on the measure. The senate, without a record vote, already had accepted the agreement.

The Guffey bill now goes to the White House for the approval of President Roosevelt.

Debate on the neutrality bill was temporarily halted in the house while Representative Samuel B. Hill [Dem., Wash.] called up the conference report. A brief statement of the agreement reached by the conferees was mumbled by the clerk and Hill allowed only five minutes to Representative Daniel Reed [Rep., N. Y.] to speak against the report.

Voices Last Plea.

Reed voiced a last plea to the members to remember that they had sworn to uphold the constitution and that the Guffey bill was plainly unconstitutional.

"I don't think the members yet realize what this bill portends," he said. "The implications of the measure are far reaching and involve the self-respect and honor of every member. For nearly 140 years we have stood by the constitution and we became a great nation. Now we are sweeping aside all consideration of the constitution at the impatient orders of the Chief Executive."

Hill Scorns Statement.

Scorning even to answer this statement, Hill called for a vote on the report. Minority Leader Bertrand H. Snell [Rep., N. Y.] insisted upon a record vote.

The Guffey bill is intended to establish federal regulation of the soft coal industry in which 450,000 persons are employed. It establishes in the department of the interior an additional bituminous coal commission of five members to be appointed by the President whose duty it is to administer the coal code for which the bill provides.

In large measure, the bill attempts to extend the NRA code in the coal industry. A tax of 15 per cent on soft coal at the mine and plans for price fixing are embodied in the bill. Ninety per cent of the tax is rebated to operators complying with code regulations.

Agrees to Borah Amendment.

The most important amendment added by the senate to the bill, that by Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], striking out the anti-trust exemption feature, was agreed to by the house conferees. Another senate amendment by Senator M. M. Logan [Dem., Ky.] was also assented to by the house. It is intended to prevent the United Mine workers from dominating the miners of the country. This amendment will protect the Progressive miners in Illinois and unorganized miners. The bill without this amendment might have compelled miners to join the United Mine Workers, it was said.

The house also receded on an amendment taking commission employés from under civil service requirements. The senate put them back under the civil service law and the house agreed.

W. J. CUMMINGS DENIES HOPSON DEAL WITH BANK

Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, denied yesterday that he had been a "friend" of various utility interests. Mr. Cummings' name was brought into the current senate utilities lobby investigation Thursday in the testimony of Bernard B. Robinson of the Associated Gas and Electric system.

"I have met neither Howard C. Hopson [president of Associated Gas] nor Robinson," Mr. Cummings said. "The bank never had any transaction with them or their company. The bank of course has certain utility holdings which Mr. Hopson or his associates may have wished to purchase, but no deal was ever mentioned."

Robinson, a lobbyist for Hopson's firm, produced before the senate lobby committee a telegram reading 'C. U. is a friend of ours except when his own interests are concerned." Robinson identified Mr. Cumings as "C. U." and said that the Continental Illinois was interested in several large utility transactions.

from a subsidiary company through a series of brokers and back to another subsidiary, the price meanwhile increasing from $60 to $68. During the same period the company was busy, Hopson agreed, selling additional issues of the same stock to the public.

Denies Rigging Market.

Schwellenbach then read to Hopson the record of the wanderings of the 464,400 shares and asked if the transaction was not "an outright rigging of the market and a series of wash sales."

"No, I don't think so," Hopson replied. "There was nothing unusual about it."

"You discussed with your brokers, did you not, the question of creating activity in the stock?"

"That's correct."

"Do you contend that it is customary for brokers to use such devious methods and buy and sell the same stock?"

"I don't think it was a devious method and so I can't answer that question."

Mother of 4 Shot to Death by Mysterious Assailant

Decatur, Ill., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Sadie Sunderlik, 47, mother of 4 children, was shot and killed tonight by a mysterious assailant as she entered the rear door of her home. Her 11 year old daughter, who was standing at her mother's side when Mrs. Sunderlik was felled by two blasts from a shotgun, told the police that the shots apparently were fired from the alley. Mrs. Sunderlik's estranged husband, Stanley, 54, who lived next door, was taken into custody for questioning.

$269,000 PAID BY U. S. TO GET 17 ACRES HERE FOR HOUSING PROJECT

Public Works Administrator Ickes paid $269,000 to Mary Jane Seng, 401 Lake Park avenue, Wilmette, for seventeen acres of ground of the original Deering works of the International Harvester company as a site for a proposed $2,750,000 housing project. This was admitted yesterday by the housing division of the PWA at Washington.

Chester Inman, PWA housing director for Chicago, and other federal officials had declined ever since options were secured on Aug. 14, to admit what the government paid. They said the disclosure of the amount might jeopardize the purchase of other housing sites for which the government now is conducting negotiations. Arthur J. Hughes, attorney for the seller and International Harvester officials also declined to give the price, stating that PWA officials had asked them not to disclose it.

Confirming the announcement made here at the time the option was secured, the Washington housing division admitted that the International Harvester company holds a mortgage on the property but said it did not know the amount.

The property was sold in 1929 by the International Harvester company for a price said to have been $380,850. Title was taken by the Central Trust company of Illinois as trustee. Real estate brokers recently appraised the property at approximately $225,000.

HOUSE APPROVES $150,000 INQUIRY INTO FOOD COST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—The house today authorized the appropriation of $150,000 to enable the federal trade commission to conduct a general investigation into the high price of food. The senate approved a resolution to this effect several months ago and the measure was sent to the white house.

In the debate on the resolution, the Detroit housewives' strike against butchers because of the high price of meat and a threatened similar strike in Chicago was discussed. Opponents attacked the resolution as a typical governmental investigation which would produce no worthwhile facts upon which to base legislation and would be merely a waste of money.

Farmers Want More.

Representatives from the farming districts lent their support to the resolution on the contention that the farmer was not receiving his proper share of the food dollar. The trade commission, under the resolution, must analyze and allocate the costs of producing and distributing foods to the American consumer.

"One statistician has estimated," a committee report stated, "that in 1932 it cost the final consumer of five major American farm products 19 billion 21 million dollars. That is the sum the consumer paid to the retail merchant.

Of this total sum it is estimated that the farmer received only 7 billion 556 million and that it cost somewhere in the neighborhood of 11 billion 500 million to get the farmer's products to the consumer.

Distributor's Share Grows.

"The distressing part of this situation is that apparently the farmer is getting a smaller and smaller share of the consumer's dollar. In 1928, the farmer got 47 cents of the consumer's dollar; the distributor and processor, 53 cents. It has been stated from authoritative sources that in 1931, before the depression had gotten full under way, the farmer got 38 cents of the dollar while the processor and distributor got 62 cents. Twelve months later, the farmer's share had slipped to 33 cents."

The processing taxes levied by the government play an important part in the higher cost to the consumer of food, Representative George Sadowski [Dem., Mich.] asserted.

Three Subjects Proposed.

The trade commission is authorized to investigate and to report to the next session of congress:

1. The extent of the decline in agricultural income in recent years.

2. The extent of the increases or decreases in recent years in the income of the principal corporations engaged in the sale and processing of the principal farm products.

3. The proportion of total consumer cost of foods received by the farmer, the manufacturer, processor, warehouseman, and distributor.

Can't Molest Customers.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Circuit Judge Thomas J. Murphy today signed an order restraining housewives who are conducting a meat strike here from molesting customers of two meat markets.

The injunction prohibits obstructing doorways or sidewalks, but does not restrain picketing.

APPROVED WPA PLAN IN N. Y. TO HIT THOSE WHO REFUSE JOBS

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—A plan to accelerate the placement of employable persons on home relief into jobs under the Works Progress administration, was completed today. The program calls for court action against those who decline jobs where the welfare of dependent families is involved.

The new method was announced at the office of Mayor F. H. La Guardia late this afternoon and followed a full day of conferences involving all the governmental relief agencies. It was approved over the telephone by Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, from Washington, and will go into effect on Monday.

The plan calls for all employable persons on home relief to be assigned to jobs, mostly as unskilled workers. If they refuse jobs, they will be cut off the home relief rolls immediately. If the refusal and the droppage causes suffering to their families, they will be brought into domestic relations court for nonsupport. Thence, it will be up to the courts which have the power to mete out jail sentences.

MOTHER DROWNS 3 CHILDREN AND SELF IN WELL

Monroe, Mich., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Henry Vereecke, 50 year old farmer, found the bodies of his wife and three children drowned in 12 feet of water at the bottom of a 50 foot well tonight. Coroner Ernest Durell said the woman had drowned the children and then threw herself into the well.

The victims were Mrs. Gulma Vereecke, Donald, 14, Ralph, 6, and Patricia, 5.

Coroner Durell said he learned through questioning Vereecke that Mrs. Vereecke had been ill and the family had feared she was developing an unsound mental condition.

Vereecke told the coroner and Sherif Joseph Bairley that he had spent the day helping a neighbor to thresh grain, and discovered that the top had been removed from the well when he returned.

Neighbors he summoned to his aid descended to the water level by ladder and brought up the bodies.

Tinkoff's Freedom Plea Denied by Federal Court

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Application of Paysoff Tinkoff, Chicago attorney and income tax expert, for freedom from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth under a writ of habeas corpus was denied today by Federal Judge Richard J. Hopkins. Tinkoff is being held pending outcome of his appeal from a Chicago federal court conviction and 18 month sentence on an income tax evasion chage. Tinkoff contended the indictment under which he was tried was defective.

ROOSEVELT GETS BILL TO PROTECT SURVIVORS OF DISASTERS AT SEA

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Spurred by the Morro Castle and Mohawk disasters, congress forwarded to the White House today a bill for financial protection of survivors of sea tragedies.

The house passed the senate approved Copeland [Dem., N. Y.], measure which more definitly fixes responsibility of ship owners for loss of life at sea, sets up an insurance funds for the payment of claims and increases from 30 days to one year the time in which suit against a ship owner may be started.

Explaining the bill, Representative Sirovich [Dem., N. Y.], said that under the 1851 law by which the Morro Castle operated, the 187 survivors after it burned could only sue the Ward line for $20,000.

Had the Copeland measure been law, he declared, the company would have had to carry $900,000 liability insurance and if the passengers could prove the agent or captain knew the ship was unseaworthy, they could sue for unlimited damages.

At the same time, the house passed and sent to the senate a bill reorganizing the steamboat inspection service, reducing the inspection districts from 11 to 7 and raising pay of superintendents from $4,400 to $6,000.

ASKS SHOWDOWN ON CONSTITUTION DAY USE OF FIELD

Tribune Sends Telegrams to Park Officials.

Commissioners of the Chicago Park district were asked by THE TRIBUNE yesterday if they will vote to grant the petition for the use of Soldiers' field on Sept. 17, when a large demonstration is being planned in celebration of Constitution day. Julius H. Miner, general director of the celebration, filed the application on Aug. 12. It has not been acted upon and Miner informed the arrangements committee Thursday that he had been unofficially informed it would be refused.

Telegrams seeking to bring into the open the commissioners' attitude on this matter were dispatched to three of the commissioners, James C. Petrillo, president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians; Harry Joseph, and Stephen I. Witmanski. With considerable difficulty a telegram also was delivered to Robert J. Dunham, board president.

Patriotic Nature Is Stressed.

The telegram read:

"As a commissioner of the Chicago Park district, will you vote to permit use of Soldiers' field for patriotic exercises celebrating Constitution day Sept. 17? One hundred thousand persons are expected and admission will be free."

Difficulty was experienced in locating Dunham, who is vacationing at Santa Barbara, Cal. Officials of the district, including George T. Donaghue, commission secretary, were adamant in refusing to disclose his exact address. Donaghue said Dunham had left strict orders that he wasn't to be disturbed. Donaghue later agreed to forward the telegram, but by that time THE TRIBUNE had located Dunham at the Biltmore hotel in Santa Barbara.

Use of Pressure Is Urged.

Miner and the Constitution day committee are urging that pressure be exerted on the commissioners to grant the application. They insist that a patriotic celebration such as is planned, replete with parade and pageantry and featuring both Republican and Democratic speakers, cannot be considered in the "controversial" light which led the commission to refuse the application of Father Coughlin, the Detroit radio priest who sought to use the Stadium as a forum from which to address members of his National Union for Social Justice.

The chairman of the Constitution day program will be Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE. Among the speakers will be Frank Knox, editor of the Chicago Daily News. Others will be chosen from a list of persons interviewed by Director Miner, which includes Senators Carter Glass of Virginia and Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware, Alfred E. Smith, Newton D. Baker, and Bainbridge Colby.

Negotiate for Another Site.

Since the next scheduled meeting of the commission is Sept. 3, Miner's committee has already been forced to look about for a second choice site, particularly in view of the reports that use of the big field will be denied.

Miner has consulted with the management of both the Cubs and the Sox ball parks. Neither, however, would be large enough to accommodate the anticipated crowds, nor would the Chicago Stadium, he believes.

600 LEGIONNAIRES TO LEAVE TODAY FOR CONVENTION

A special train leaving this afternoon will carry the main delegation of 600 Legionnaires of the Cook County council to the state convention opening in Quincy tomorrow evening and running through Tuesday. Matthew J. Murphy, commander of the county group, will lead the men representing 210 posts. Members of the 40 and 8 society, with Abner Bender, chef de gare of voiture 220, at the head, left last night for their session today.

The council's chief interest at the meeting will be election of a senior vice commander from their four candidates: Mr. Murphy, Edward F. McGinnis, and Joseph F. Novotny, past council commanders, and Robert E. Kinnare, judge advocate of the state department. The Rev. Edward Dankowski, running for state chaplain, is the other county candidate. Contenders for the post of Paul G. Armstrong, state commander, of Chicago, are J. B. Murphy of Bloomington, Leonard Applequist, Aurora; Al Lowe, Shawneetown, and William Brandenburg, Robinson.

Winners of the Legion's state-wide essay contest, to be rewarded at the convention Tuesday, have been announced. They are Miss Betty L. Williams, Sterling, first; Robert M. Pritchard, Waukegan, second, and Lester Carkhuff, Joliet, third. Citizenship was the subject.

Oak Park's New Police Radio Gets First Test

Vernon Watson, engineer for Oak Park's new police radio station which operates on the same frequency as the Chicago police radio, said test broadcasts made last night were successful and that there had been no interference with operation of the Chicago station. The tests last night were made despite a warning from Frank Rafferty, chief radio engineer of the Chicago radio department, that he would protest to the federal communications commission if interference resulted to prevent emergency broadcasts of Chicago messages while Oak Park was on the air. Watson said Oak Park did not contemplate sending when Chicago wanted the wave channel.

DRUGGAN NAMED IN BEER PLANT BANKRUPTCY SUIT

Brother of Notorious Terry Sued.

George Druggan, beer baron of prohibition days and a brother of the notorious Terry Druggan, was made defendant in a bankruptcy petition filed yesterday in federal court. The petition named Druggan as the controling stockholder of the Huntley Brewing company at Huntley, McHenry county, about 60 miles northwest of Chicago.

The bankruptcy proceedings were instituted in behalf of three creditors by Attorney Lewis Pennish. An injunction asked to restrain the company from delivering additional beer to Edward Riggs, sole distributor for the brewery, was issued during the afternoon by Referee in Bankruptcy Wallace Streeter, in the absence of any federal judge. The bankruptcy petition charges that although the company books show Riggs owes only $6,000, he has withdrawn beer worth a great deal more than $6,000 during the last six months. Riggs is named as an employé of Druggan.

Charges Juggling by Druggan.

"While the stock is in the name of Louis J. Manion and Arthur Naylor," the petition stated, "nevertheless, George Druggan dominates and controls the stock."

George Druggan, twice wounded in gang warfare and arrested many times in connection with a dozen police investigations of murders during the beer wars, is the actual owner of the brewery, Attorney Pennish said. Previously, as a controling stockholder of another small brewery, the attorney said, Druggan manipulated operations so that when creditors finally took over the property nothing was left but the building and equipment.

Action Follows Investigation.

The bankruptcy action was taken as the result of investigation by the Beverage bureau, an organization of brewery equipment manufacturers.

E. C. Yellowly, alcoholic tax administrator for the Chicago area, said that the operation of the Huntley brewery had been approved on an application made by Manion and Naylor. Druggan's alleged connection with the concern was not known to the government, Yellowley said.

QUIZ CONFESSED KILLER GANG ON MORRISON DEATH

Robbery appeared yesterday to be the most plausible motive in the murder of Kenneth A. Morrison, assistant controler of the Chicago Park district, according to Assistant State's Attorney John Boyle who is assigned to the case.

Boyle disclosed that Morrison's $300 watch, the gift of his father, was missing when the body was found. On the strength of the holdup theory Boyle expressed the hope that three men and a woman arrested earlier in the day, who have confessed to 500 robberies here and one holdup killing in Cleveland, might be linked definitly with the Morrison murder.

Find Two .32 Caliber Pistols.

Two of three pistols found in possession of one of the men were of .32 caliber. Morrison, who was found dead in his automobile at 628 Alaska street early on Aug. 14, had been shot three times with a .32 caliber Harrington and Richardson revolver. One of the weapons found yesterday was of that make and caliber.

The woman held is Miss Helen Harman, 19 years old, 9031 Exchange avenue. The men are: her sweetheart, Donald Eberle, alias Tracy, 30 years old, and John Pleyer, 28, both of 4596 Lake Park avenue, and Charles Gordon, 36, of 1001 North Clark street.

Eberle has confessed, police said, that on April 11 he shot and killed Alex Wesocki Jr. during the robbery of the meat market of Wesocki's father in Cleveland. Pleyer aided in the robbery, he said, while Miss Harman waited outside in a taxicab. They, too, have confessed, according to the police.

Admits Killing Sweetheart.

Eberle also has confessed, police said, that he shot and killed his sweetheart, Mrs. Lorraine Vencel, 25 years old, in their apartment at 147 West Oak street on Nov. 5, 1933. At his trial the next January he repudiated an earlier confession and convinced a jury that Mrs. Vencel had shot him three times and then committed suicide, the police said. He was acquitted.

The gang has been operating for about six months in Chicago and Cleveland, according to statements of its members. They specialized in robbing chain groceries and small stores. Miss Harman's part was to appear at a robbery scene in a taxicab. Meanwhile, her companions, by prearrangement, would rob their victims, lock them in closets, basements or back rooms, and then saunter out and join Miss Harman.

In the Wesocki robbery in Cleveland, Wesocki and his son were locked in the basement but escaped through a side door and intercepted Eberle and Pleyer as they were about to enter their taxicab. In the ensuing scuffle, young Wesocki was killed and Eberle was wounded.

Police Quiz 2 Women; Free Them.

Two women roommates, one of whom admitted having addressed a letter to "K. A. Morrison" bearing only a telephone number as the address, were questioned briefly by the police last night, but were released when it was established that by a coincidence they had a friend with the same initials and last name as the slain man's.

The women are Florence Day, 43 years old, and Ida Belle Moore, 36, of 745 Gordon terrace. They were seized after the letter bearing the strange address—which had gone undelivered since it was postmarked in Chicago at midnight on Aug. 13—was delivered yesterday at the offices of the Chicago park district and came into the hands of Supt. George Donoghue.

Police beginning an investigation after being notified by Donoghue found that the K. A. Morrison of the women's acquaintance is a salesman for a wholesale merchandise house at 1008 West Roosevelt road, owned by Max Nathan. The letter, written by the Moore woman, merely notified him of a change in her address and went astray due to its incomplete address and the recent publicity centering around the name of K. A. Morrison, the slain park controler.

New Rustlers' Gang Blamed for Murder of Young Farmer

The wave of cattle rustling and chicken thieving which recently has assumed alarming proportions in rural areas near Chicago was blamed last night for the slaying of John Bleivernicht, 21 year old farmhand who was found dead early in the day on a lonely country road near Kankakee.

Thousands of chickens and many head of cattle have been stolen in Chicagoland in the last few weeks while reports from numerous other rural areas in the country indicate that the supposedly outmoded crime of rustling is now prevalent on a scale unsurpassed since rustling was stamped out in pioneer days in the western cow country.

Body Found in Ditch.

Bleivernicht's body, with a bullet through his heart, lay in a ditch near the boundary of the farm of his employer, Charles Eckhoff, who had left him to watch a truck parked on the country road. It is believed the truck was the property of chicken thieves whose depredations were interrupted by the arrival of the farmers.

Mr. and Mrs. Eckhoff and Bleivernicht discovered the truck Thursday night as they returned to their farm near Peotone after visiting friends. The truck was parked not far from the enclosure where Eckhoff keeps 250 chickens. The rebuilt vehicle had sufficient space in the back to hold two crates of chickens.

Eckhoff ran to his home and returned with a .22 caliber rifle. He handed the rifle to Bleivernicht and told him to watch the mysterious truck until he could get aid at a neighboring farm. Eckhoff then drove to the farm of his neighbor, Lawrence Timme, who last week reported that 150 of his prize chickens had been stolen.

Shot at Close Range.

When Timme and Eckhoff returned to where Eckhoff had left Bleivernicht the truck had vanished and the farm hand's body was lying in a ditch. The rifle was cocked but had not been fired. He had been shot with a .45 caliber weapon at close range.

Deputy Sheriff Walter Bauer found an empty shell from a .45 caliber automatic pistol in the road about 14 feet from the body. Investigating authorities expressed the belief that the slayer had crept up on Bleivernicht and shot him without warning.

Footprints in a nearby cornfield indicated, police said, that three men had been on the scene. Three gunny sacks found in the cornfield supported the theory that there were three and that their mission was the theft of Eckhoff's chickens.

Bleivernicht's parents live at Grant Park, Ill., about five miles west of the slaying scene.

Thousands of Chickens Stolen.

Many reports of poultry and cattle stealing in Illinois counties have been made in the last few weeks. Chief Deputy Sherif Gordon Breen of Will county revealed that during the last month more than 30 head of cattle and almost 1,000 chickens have been stolen in the area in which the slaying occurred.

Upward of 1,500 chickens and 14 head of cattle were stolen in the Joliet district in the last two weeks. Thieves operating near Morris in Grundy county stole 12 yearlings, a cow and two calves in the last few days.

Several colored men were arrested near Joliet two weeks ago and charged with the thefts but while they were in jail 400 chickens were stolen in the area. They were freed on bond pending trial.

Stock Yards on Lookout.

Numerous reports of cattle thievery have been made to the Chicago stock yards from farmers in western states. The victimized farmers asked that stock yards handlers be on the lookout for their stolen cattle. More than 400 head of calves, cows and steers have been rustled in Antelope valley, 80 miles north of Los Angeles, in recent weeks.

Stock yards men attributed the increase in thefts to the unusually high price of cattle on the present market. These high prices, they said, result from the feed shortage caused by the drouth and the AAA crop curtailing program. They also pointed out the ease with which cattle could be "rustled" in a high speed truck along a paved road today as compared to the driving necessary in earlier days.

Fined $25 for Dropping Cigaret in Woman's Dress

W. C. Mills, 35 years old, of Cleveland, O., was fined $25 yesterday by Judge Joseph L. McGarry in South State street court on a disorderly conduct charge brought by Mrs. Judy Garfield, 23 years old, 4423 Sheridan road. Mrs. Garfield told Judge McGarry she was in the taproom of the Congress hotel when Mills dropped a cigaret down the front of her dress, setting the dress on fire. Mills was not in court and his bond was forfeited.

RECOVER $5,000 BURGLARY LOOT.

Arthur Davis, 29 years old, colored, 235 East 51st street, yesterday confessed to police that he and two companions had looted several apartments in recent months. He was arrested Thursday and police said they found $5,000 worth of loot in his home. David's wife, Diar, also was held.

NEUTRALITY ACT PASSES HOUSE; CURB ROOSEVELT

Changed Arms Attitude Laid to British.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Amid Republican charges that the Roosevelt administration changed its attitude under British influence, the compromise neutrality resolution was pushed toward final passage tonight.

By a viva voce vote the house adopted the measure providing for a mandatory embargo on exports of arms to any belligerent for the next six months and administration leaders predicted its acceptance by the senate tomorrow.

Despite much opposition on both sides of the chamber, the house approved the amended senate resolution after Representative Sam D. McReynolds [Dem., Tenn.], chairman of the foreign affairs committee, had explained his reluctant conversion to the compromise as a choice between neutrality legislation of a sort and no legislation at all.

Favors Discretionary Rule.

"I don't approve the mandatory embargo," said Mr. McReynolds. "I introduced a bill conferring discretionary authority on the executive to lay embargoes on export of arms.

"No great country imposes a mandatory embargo. With the embargo mandatory you destroy the power of this country to influence the preservation of peace. What if Mexico or a South American country should be attacked. We should be compelled to embargo the exportation of arms to the country attacked. Where would your Monroe Doctrin be then?"

"Is the gentleman for or against the bill?" came the taunting cries from the Republican side.

Limited to Six Months.

"I am for it," shouted McReynolds, "but I am for it because it was necessary to make this compromise in order to get any neutrality legislation at all. But we have limited the mandatory embargo to six months and then we can reconsider our position."

Recalling that he was one of the two members of the house who voted against a declaration of war in 1917, Representative Harold Knutson [Rep., Minn.] nevertheless declared himself against the pending measure.

"If all the countries in the world had legislation like this," he said, "there would be an end to all small countries within fifty years. I refer in particular to agricultural countries. It is time to stop such hasty, ill considered and hysterical legislating."

Republican members of the senate foreign relations committee gave notice that when the resolution reaches the upper house tomorrow they purpose to air a mysterious change of attitude by the administration in the last week.

Acceptable Two Weeks Ago.

When the measure was being considered by the foreign relations committee a few weeks ago Secretary of State Cordell Hull, the Republicans assert, told the committee that the mandatory embargo is acceptable to the administration. The only discretionary authority he advocated was that relating to the proclamation by the President warning Americans against traveling on ships flying the flags of belligerents.

The committee reported the resolution to the senate in the form advocated by Secretary Hull and there was no indication of a change in the administration attitude until a few days ago after the British government had begun to sound the United States on coöperative measures against Italy, designed to avert Mussolini's projected attack on Ethiopia.

British Want U. S. Aid.

The British were considering the invocation of economic sanctions by the league of nations against Italy as an aggressor nation under the terms of the league covenant and they wanted America, though not a league member, to support such action with a similar suspension of intercourse with Italy.

According to the Republicans, the influence exerted by the British caused the Roosevelt administration to change its mind and oppose the mandatory embargo of the senate bill. The President and Secretary Hull began advocating discretionary authority to the executive to halt shipments of arms, ammunition and implements of war to any belligerent.

Such authority would enable the President to single out Italy as the object of the embargo while still permitting export of arms to Ethiopia. In that manner America would be brought to the support of the league in declaring Italy the aggressor to be boycotted by the civilized world.

The internationalists threw their support behind the administration in this change of attitude and the President set out to kill the senate measure in the house and substitute one clothing him with the widest discretion in the laying of arms trafic embargoes.

But he soon learned that the senate was adamant against such a delegation of authority and the most he could obtain was a limitation of the mandatory embargo to the next six months, at the end of which time the whole neutrality question again will be thrown open to action by congress.

Gag Rule Adopted.

The compromise resolution was called up in the house late this afternoon under a suspension of rules allowing 40 minutes debate. The shade of Jeff McLemore hovered over the discussion. It was back in 1917 just before we got into the world war that Representative McLemore of Texas offered the famous resolution to prohibit Americans to travel on the ships of belligerents.

The whole strength of the war party, backed by the Wilson administration, was marshalled against the measure which was defeated. McLemore was branded unpatriotic and hounded to his grave by the war frenzy of his compatriots.

Yet today one old time member of the house, William A. Ashbrook [Dem., Ohio], said he was ashamed of his vote against the McLemore resolution and glad of the oportunity to vote for this neutrality resolution which authorizes the President to warn Americans that they travel on belligerent ships at their risk, thus withdrawing from them the protection of the American government.

Opposed to Dictation.

Representative Fred J. Sisson [Dem., N. Y.], declaring for the mandatory embargo in preference to the discretionary authority sought by Mr. Roosevelt, said that he never would vote "to allow any president to dictate our foreign policy."

Representative James W. Wadsworth [Rep., N. Y.] opposed the resolution for the very reason that it makes embargoes mandatory against all belligerents. Italy, he said, is great and powerful, Ethiopia weak and wholly lacking in industrial resources.

"Under this legislation," said Mr. Wadsworth, "the weaker nation would be unable to obtain arms for defense against the stronger nation. I am wondering if it is wise for America—which after all is the hope of the world for peace—to freeze its neutrality policy. If this policy should become the law of nations it would be an invitation to the strong to attack the weak.

"There is something more precious than peace and that is liberty. Can we forget what happened in 1776? If this policy had been accepted by the nations then I gravely doubt that the 13 colonies could have achieved their independence."

Actress Sues for Chicago Divorce

Charges Desertion

Mrs. Zelma O'Neal Bushell, 25 years old, former musical comedy and motion picture player, filed suit in Superior court yesterday for a divorce from Anthony A. Bushell, English actor. The bill, filed by Attorney Phil R. Davis, charges that Bushell deserted his wife on March 31, 1932.

When they were married on Nov. 22, 1928, Miss O'Neal and her husband were called Hollywood's ideal couple. They separated a year later, but in 1931 Bushell supplied a pint of his blood when his wife, after undergoing an operation, required a transfusion to save her life. They became reconciled afterward, but later separated again. Mrs. Bushell lives at 9229 South Damen avenue. Her husband is in England.

INSISTS CANADA MUST DECIDE ON BRITISH WAR AID

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 23.—Should Great Britain be dragged into war with Italy, Canada will not send any men overseas to help Britain unless parliament so orders it in the event such a conflict should break out after Oct. 14 and the Liberal party is victorious, as seems likely.

W. L. McKenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, has promised that if his party is returned to power Canada will not enter into any war unless parliament so wills.

At the present time it is generally felt that when England is at war Canada is at war. That was the stand taken in 1914. There have been many who urged that the decision to send Canadian men overseas should rest with Canada and not with London. The Liberal party now has officially adopted that attitude. The Liberals are expected to win the federal elections Oct. 14 on the basis of their record in winning provincial elections and by-elections in the last two years.

Rules Ethiopian Parade Permit Is Police Matter

Barnet Hodes, city corporation counsel, answering Police Commissioner James P. Allman's request for a legal opinion, said yesterday that under the law the police department has authority to grant a permit for a "Hands-off Ethiopia" parade planned for August 31 by colored residents of the city. Hodes cautioned, however, that such a parade might be deemed by Italy as a "hostile or unfriendly act." Late last night Commissioner Allman had not decided whether to permit the parade, requested by the Chicago civil liberties union and joint conferences for the defense of Ethiopia.

Prepare for Big War Game.

BOLZANO, Italy, Aug. 23.—(AP)—In a simulation of grim reality, 150,000 Italian fighting men moved into this area tonight in preparation to test the Italian military theory of battle by movement as opposed to trench warfare.

The army, assembled just south of the Alps on the slopes opposite the frontier of Austria, is using motorized units and what is termed here "celerity" divisions.

The movement of the 150,000 men here was regarded by officials as a drill in preparation against anything that might happen in Austria while Italy is occupied in east Africa.

The Italian maneuvers, which include the use of 350,000 more troops elsewhere in Italy in local tactics, are regarded as among the largest and most realistic western Europe ever has seen. The "engagement" will begin Sunday morning when a "blue" army, of slightly superior strength, attempts to break through a "red" army with its back to the Austrian border.

Blame Ethiopia For Clash.

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 23.—(AP)—A former Italian colonial governor and two native tribesmen told the commission attempting to arbitrate an Italo-Ethiopian frontier dispute today that Ethiopians were the aggressors in the Ualual battle last December.

Maruizo Raba, former administrator of Italian Somaliland, for nearly an hour gave his version of how the fight started. Two native mule drivers supported his testimony.

Austrians Assail Britain.

VIENNA, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Austrian newspapers, heretofore merely pro-Italian in the Ethiopian dispute, became aggressively anti-British today.

The Stunde bitterly denounced what it described as England's dilatory tactics in the face of an impending catastrophe. It said there is a real danger of a European war as a result of the Italo-British tension.

FRENCH SOLDIERS TO MANEUVER ON ITALIAN BORDER

NICE, France, Aug. 23.—(AP)—An army of 20,000 French soldiers is ready to begin maneuvers on the Italian frontier while Premier Mussolini's huge army drills in northern Italy.

With most of the old garrisons transferred last spring to the German frontier fortifications, a small force will stage mimic battles in southern France next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Gen. Eugene Mittelhausser, member of the superior war council, will be in charge.

Heroism of Englishwoman Is Revealed.

BY WILL BARBER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 23.—While Baron Muzzi Falconi, Italian consul at Debra Marcos, was recovering today from a bullet wound near the heart which he suffered in an accident Wednesday when his new pistol went off in his hand after jamming, the heroism of his English wife under trying circumstances became known today. Baroness Falconi, whose age is 28, is the daughter of the British minister to Ethiopia, Sir Sidney Barton.

The baron and his wife left Addis Ababa Tuesday for Debra Marcos, capital of the province of Godjam, which they failed to reach a few weeks ago because the Nile was swollen by rains and the ferry cable was broken. At noon Wednesday they looked for a spot to halt for luncheon on the denuded plain behind the Entoto mountains, which enclose Addis Ababa. Falconi left the party temporarily and soon two shots were heard. The servants and his wife found him unconscious.

Wife Takes Charge.

The baroness courageously took charge of the situation. She set to work trying to stop the bleeding from her husband's wound and rushed off a runner to get a doctor from Addis Ababa, a day's mule trek behind. She stopped the death dance of the Ethiopian servants, begun because they thought the baron was dead, and rigged up a stretcher out of her camp bed. The small party then started for Addis Ababa in a driving rain.

For 12 hours the baroness walked through sticky mud, almost shin deep, alongside the stretcher, which was carried by four Ethiopians. The rain never stopped. At 10 p. m. Wednesday the party started to climb Entoto.

At 9 o'clock Wednesday night the exhausted runner banged at the door of the Italian legation, handed Count Vinci the Italian minister, a note from the baroness, and collapsed. He had run nine hours.

Vinci informed Emperor Haile Selassie, sent a party of mules to meet the baroness, and dashed across Addis Ababa to get doctors and then started out for the plain. The emperor's private secretary joined Vinci, and together they met Falconi and the baroness at the summit of Entoto.

"Incident" Is Averted.

The doctor dressed the consul's wounds and Falconi was brought to the hospital in Addis Ababa at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The emperor's private secretary helped bear the stretcher down the slippery mountain side and later into the hospital.

At 11 o'clock yesterday morning Baroness Falconi got the story of how he had been shot from her husband. He alone knew what had happened. If he had died, the Ethiopians would never have been able to prove that the shooting was an accident.

The bullet penetrated the baron's lung, missed the heart and lodged between the fourth and fifth ribs. The doctors are uncertain whether they will extract it. In any event, they say, Falconi must remain in the hospital three weeks.

Italian officials insist there is nothing to the rumor that the baron shot himself to avoid returning to his post, fearing war is imminent. On the contrary, they say, he was anxious to get back to Debra Marcos. They pointed out that he was wounded in the early days of Fascism, took part in the march on Rome, and is considered a man of high courage.

The baroness was exhausted by the long march in the rain and the nervous tension, but was in excellent condition today.

DUCE LOSES MORE CREDIT; REFUSES TO PAY HIS BILLS

Merchants Tell How Italy 'Stung' Them.

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Travelers arriving here today from Kenya, Egypt, and the Sudan said British and other merchants in those districts, who had sold large quantities of foodstuffs, timber, oil, motor trucks and livestock to the Italian army, no longer would extend credit to Mussolini.

They explained that the Italian government had not yet paid for supplies furnished the Italian armies in Eritrea and Italian Somaliland as long as eight months ago. Merchants now demand cash on delivery.

Italy Refuses to Pay.

A British company in Kenya colony recently sold the Italian army 5,000 cattle to provide meat for Mussolini's blackshirts. The company is withholding further deliveries.

A Scandinavian timber company in Kenya sold the Italian army huge quantities of thin paneling wood with which to make tropical domiciles for the Italian soldiers in Eritrea and Italian Somaliland. The head of the company, said British merchants arriving here, went to Rome in an effort to obtain payment, but received nothing except promises, several good dinners, and a decoration.

U. S. Agencies 'Stung.'

American automobile agencies in Egypt, the Sudan and Kenya colony have sold the Italian army large quantities of motor trucks, automobiles, tractors and automobiles tires. The luckier ones, who demanded cash down, have already been paid, but a number, said travelers, are still whistling for their money.

The Italian ports of Mogadishu, Assab and Massaua are choked with newly arrived war supplies from Italy, including bombing airplanes, ammunition, field cannon, barbed wire, gas masks, rifles, foodstuffs, clothing, medicines, and Red Cross supplies.

The newly built Italian railroad from Massaua to Asmara, capital of Eritrea, is fast carrying these materials of war into the interior, whence they are transferred to caravans of camels and donkeys for shipment to the Ethiopian frontier.

Couzens in Good Condition, Mayo Physicians Report

Rochester, Minn., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Physicians at the Mayo clinic late today reported that Senator James Couzens of Michigan is in "very good condition, considering his three serious operations." The doctors said unless complications set in he should be able to leave the hospital in about two weeks. The Michigan senator has been here six weeks. He was operated on yesterday for removal of a kidney.

LONDON LEADERS MEET AGAIN TO COMPLETE PLANS

Think There Is No Danger Until League Meets.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 23.—After yesterday's atmosphere of crisis and excitement, a dead calm descended on London today. Great Britain has made a decision to abide by its league of nations engagements and for what that is worth its policy is decided.

The public is calm, for it is believed there is only a remote chance that the council of the league of nations will unanimously demand sanctions [economic penalties] against Italy or any other measures so drastic as to lead to war. This does not mean Britain is not going to use every effort short of war to prevent an Italo-Ethiopian war.

This morning Ramsay MacDonald, lord president of the council and acting prime minister, again convened a meeting of those cabinet ministers who had not left London after yesterday's meeting, and for two hours they discussed the international situation.

Discuss Plans of Procedure.

The ministers present today included Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, first lord of the admiralty; Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign minister; Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer; Lord Halifax, secretary for war, and Sir Lancelot Oliphant, assistant undersecretary of foreign affairs.

The meeting was devoted to the elucidation of plans of procedure.

MacDonald left tonight for Lossiemouth, Scotland, to resume his vacation, and Hoare left for his Norfolk home. The latter will be back in London Tuesday. Close touch is being kept with the French government, and it is possible that Capt. Anthony Eden, minister for league of nations affairs, after a short rest in the country, may go to Paris again to see Premier Laval.

It was again denied today that the United States has been asked to cooperate in efforts to stop Mussolini's aspirations. This denial came from both British and American sources.

Claim There Is No Danger.

Meantime Britain is perfectly calm. Nothing can happen, it is declared, until after the league council meeting, scheduled for Sept. 4, and then if the league rules are followed, three months must elapse before hostilities are started—if Mussolini obeys the league rules.

There are still many diplomats who believe Il Duce is playing a close game of poker, or carrying on a hard horse trade, and hopes by a show of force to gain without fighting what he might have great difficulty in obtaining by conquest.

Even proponents of this theory admit, however, that he is playing a dangerous game and may be forced to make good his threats. Opinion in England, both public and official, is hardening against allowing him to get away with the conquest of all Ethiopia. Britain, it is declared, will not consent to his control of Lake Tsana and the sources of the Nile. If he gets this, it is pointed out, Britain may as wel make up its mind to give up Egypt and the Sudan.

Japan Seizes American Ship; Hunts 2 U. S. Youths as Spies

TOKIO, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Japanese authorities, alert for espionage, detained an American freighter tonight and sought two American youths said by police to have taken photographs of a fortified zone from the ship.

After naval planes joined in a wide hunt for a "mysterious foreign vessel," it was detained by gendarmes at Port Tokuyama, in Yamaguchi prefecture, said Rengo [Japanese] News agency dispatches.

The ship was the S. S. Golden Mountain, out of San Francisco. Its officers and crew were said to be undergoing a rigid examination by military authorities.

Trace Youths to Kobe.

Police attempted to trace two young Americans they suspected of having taken photographs of the fortified zone from the freighter and then having left the ship at Tokuyama and started for Kobe by train.

Their names, which possibly were garbled in dispatches from Port Tokuyama, were given as Phillip Maas, a graduate of Stanford university, and William Felix. They were reported to be returning to the United States from Lingnan university, Canton, China.

The Rengo report said the vessel was seen late yesterday in the Bungo straits, between the islands of Kyushu and Shikoku, in a forbidden fortified zone.

Investigators said they found persons on the freighter photographing the shoreline. While the boat returned to shore for instructions, Rengo said, the freighter sailed away.

Called Case of "Hyper-Suspicion."

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Detention of the American-Hawaiian freighter Golden Mountain by Japanese authorities was ascribed by Thomas G. Plant, an official of the line, here today to "hyper-suspicion."

"The ship stopped at Bungo straits to pick up a pilot," another official of the line said. "While there I presume members of the crew took snapshots just as any tourist might do. The Japanese, being highly patriotic, naturally suspected spies were at work."

The Golden Mountain was en route to Port Tokuyama to unload a cargo of salt. It was the first time in the line's history that one of its vessels has sought to dock there, and foreign ships rarely pass through this area because not located on the regular port-of-call list.

GERMAN-POLISH TIES TIGHTENED BY NAVAL VISIT

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 23.—Poland and Germany met here today as sea powers. Capt. Schnundt and his officers of the German cruiser Koenigsburg, who debarked at Gdynia yesterday, flew to the capital and laid a wreath on the unknown soldier's tomb.

Later at a reception given by the navy department, the Germans spoke of the comradeship between the Polish and German navies. Poles see in this visit another evidence of friendly relations. The Koenigsberg received a warm welcome at Gdynia, where the entire Polish navy is now stationed.

GERMAN PRISON TREATMENT HIT BY 9 NATIONS

Conference Opposes Nazi Principle of Revenge.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 23. — Nine nations, including the United States, Great Britain, and France, today went on record as opposed to Germany's principle of revenge in the treatment of criminals.

During heated debate on the question of the administration of prisons before the international penal conference, the Nazi delegates attempted to impose upon the delegates a resolution to the effect that "penitentiary education for all prisoners is not a suitable principle for punishment."

Germans Demand Vote.

The Americans, British, and French delegates insisted that the principle of rehabilitation be given consideration. The Belgians thereupon introduced an amendment to that effect. The Germans demanded a vote. Because of the presence of special Nazi delegates the German viewpoint was supported by a vote of 148 to 40.

The Americans protested against the numerical vote. They pointed out that many of the voters were not even members of the congress. Doubt was expressed that they have even paid their dues. Together with other nations they demanded a ballot by countries. This resulted in the adoption of the Belgian amendment by a vote of nine to one.

The amendment was referred to the German president of the conference and the Scot vice president, but the American delegates expressed the belief the entire matter has been shelved.

Juvenile Courts Discussed.

Juvenile courts also were discussed by the conference. The American delegates, including Charles Chute, executive director of the National Probation association of New York, announced the acceptance of a resolution declaring that measures should be taken to attempt to avoid as much as possible the detention of juveniles in prisons.

Earlier in the day Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, addressed the delegates. He attempted to convey the impression that Nazism is the "purist form of aristocratic democracy" and spoke of the "constructive work of the National Socialist state."

The official translation of Goebbels' speech records with satisfaction that "after Marxist organizations had been dissolved bourgeois parties went into voluntary liquidation."

This statement startled the delegates of democratic countries who said they considered themselves representatives of a civilization protecing "bourgeois" citizens.

Oppose Rome For Convention.

The penal conference at its closing session tomorrow will decide where it shall meet five years hence. The Germans and Italians are in favor of Rome but the Americans expressed dissatisfaction at meeting in another country ruled by a dictator.

The conference is only one of many international meetings in Germany, delegates of which are being fêted by Goebbels' expert propagandists. International firemen came to Berlin from a convention at Dresden today. The conference on population questions opens next week, and many professors and students are touring Nazi Germany under the auspices of the German Carl Schurz association and other organizations.

JEWISH ORPHAN HOME IS CLOSED BY NAZI RIOTERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—Fifty occupants of the Jewish orphanage at Tiez-on-Lahn were removed under police protection today because of anti-Jewish demonstrations before the building. The orphanage was closed.

The Lippische Staatszeitung published the names of persons alleged to have had business dealings with two Jewish cattle dealers. The cattle dealers and seven of those named by the newspaper, including two women, were arrested "owing to public anger."

Crowds demonstrated before the Frankfurt post office when it was reported the postmaster had ordered the removal of an anti-Catholic poster. Police dispersed the crowd and promised an investigation.

A Protestant clergyman in Stettin was arrested because he refused to admit 23 youths to a confirmation class after they had missed a church service to attend a Nazi youth festival.

Father Benedict Schmidt, a Catholic priest of Dewangen, Bavaria, was sent to prison for nine months for "agitating against the state."

SEES PALESTINE AS 'VINDICATION OF JEWISH RACE'

LUCERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Barnett Janner, member of the British house of commons, told the world Zionist congress today "Palestine stands as a complete vindication of the Jewish race."

"The civilized world is deeply disturbed by the vicious attack made by Nazis against innocent minorities," the Briton declared. "Jews can point to their Palestine national home as a complete answer to the outrageous libel and slander made by their enemies. The truth and the whole truth is the Jews' best weapon."

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York, who will address the congress on the situation of Jews throughout the world, emphasized in an interview today that he would also dwell on the position of Jews in Germany.

UNION PICNIC TOMORROW.

ARMY MEN SEE 3 NEW BOMBERS CHANGE AIR WAR

Say Pursuit Planes Can't Catch Them.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wright Field, O., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Army air corps officers after spending two days inspecting the three new airplanes entered here in the competition for a faster and longer range bombardment machine are convinced that all previous conceptions of aerial warfare will be radically changed by the time the winning plane is manufactured in quantity for field squadrons.

The big airplanes, embodying advances in aerodynamic engineering and highly supercharged motors of increased power and efficiency due to automatic constant speed propellers and new mixture metering devices for regulating gasoline consumption, are so fast and so can carry such larger and well placed crews for defensive purposes that they virtually are invulnerable to the types of pursuit airplanes now being built.

Voice Unofficial Opinions.

The officers here who are, of course, expressing entirely unofficial opinions, say a squadron of any one of the three types of planes now here for test could fight off any number of single seat pursuit planes and, indeed, could outstrip them in a straight race.

It will be impossible with weapons developed at the present time, these officers say, to prevent such a bombardment squadron from reaching its objective and delivering its explosives against the designated target.

Ever since the world war, one of these flying men said, the speed advantage of the single seat fighter has been decreasing. Within the last three years since the building of the Martin B-10 and B-12 bombers purchased by the army in 1933, the newest fighters capable of 240 miles an hour were only 10 to 15 miles an hour faster than bombardment.

Can't Be Given Service Test.

Now these new ships are going to be from 10 to 15 miles an hour faster than the fighters. It is true that the air corps is experimenting with fighters expected to do from 250 to 275 miles an hour, but one of these fighters is yet in the state where it can't even be given service test.

That means it is at least two years from the place where the army can give an order for a quantity of them. For years, in fact, ever since the famous Bristol two seat fighter came out at the end of the world war, military flyers have held that a multiplace airplane which is somewhere near the speed limits of a single seater, can always beat the so-called fighter type. This is true because the single seater airplane must be aimed by the pilot at his target in order to bring his guns to bear.

GUARD AND REGULAR TROOPS IN GREATEST PEACE TIME BATTLE

Pine Camp, N. Y., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—The tide of "war" surged across a ten mile front here today as 36,000 National Guardsmen and regular army troops "fought"—a few of them literally—the greatest peacetime battle in American history.

The second corps, to the south, composed of three divisions— the 27th New York National Guards, the 44th New Jersey, and New York National Guard, and the 1st regular army—opposed the first corps, to the north, consisting of the 26th Massachusttts division, and the 43d New England troops. The first corps with its 15,500 Guardsmen, was outnumbered by the second corps with its 20,000 to 21,000 troops, but what the lads from the north lacked in numbers they made up for in enthusiasm.

The "battle of Doolin's gulch" was only an incident in the great surge of this mimic war, but it left in its wake some actual casualties—a Green Mountain boy with a bayonet cut under his eye, and two regulars with aching heads, who were knocked out—and temporarily lost all interest in the "war"—with rifle butts wielded by some Vermont Guardsmen.

A chorus of 500 children under direction of Arnold Olefsky will be on the program.

NAVY DISPLAYS SEA, AIR POWER FOR U. S. YOUTH

Sky and Ocean Spectacle at San Diego.

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 23.—(AP)—The air was filled with fighting planes today as the navy staged its greatest sky and sea parade in behalf of Young America.

Visibility was 20 miles compared with 500 yards on June 10 when the last show was put on, mostly unseen.

There were 416 planes in the air. The big show of five V-shaped wings of naval air fighters was put on chiefly for children, more than 10,000 being invited to the army and navy posts at the entrance of the harbor here to witness it.

Fleet Also on Parade.

At the same time the fleet came in parade down the coast to the harbor entrance. There were more than ninety fighting ships in line. First came the big dreadnaughts, then heavy cruisers, light cruisers, destroyers, air craft carriers and submarines.

The air show got under way shortly before noon. With roars of the catapult guns, the seaplanes shot from the battleships and cruisers. From two to four planes were shot from each ship.

Down near the end of the sea parade there arose from the two aircraft carriers, Saratoga and Ranger, squadrons of planes like flocks of birds.

Marines Join Show.

At the air station just across the bay from San Diego, hordes of planes rose from the carrier Lexington, followed by the fighting planes of the marines. From the still water of the bay adjoining the naval air station the giant naval patrol seaplanes lifted gracefully.

While the fleet proceeded down the 15 mile run along shore between La Jolla and Point Firmin, the planes formed to fly over the fleet flagship Pennsylvania off Point Loma in review. A second review was a flight over the Pennsylvania just as it entered the harbor off Ballast point.

ALBERTA SOCIAL CREDIT LEAGUE SWEEPS ELECTION

Promises to Give Adults $25 Monthly Dividend.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 23.—Swayed by the promise that every adult and bona fide citizen of the province of Alberta shall receive a monthly dividend of $25, the Social Credit league yesterday swept the legislative elections, according to official returns today.

By virtue of the landslide, William Aberhart, Calgary school teacher and evangelist, became the political boss of the province. As head of the Social Credit league he is expected to become premier although he was not a candidate for office.

The success of the new political movement and its utopian promises spells the doom of Premier R. G. Reid and the United Farmers' party which has ruled Alberta for 14 years.

Standings in Election.

With a few scattered precincts still to be heard from the election standings on members elected were as follows tonight:

Social Credit elected	30
Liberals elected	1
Social Credit leading	28
Liberals leading	2
United Farmers leading	1
Conservative leading	1
Total	63

The Social Credit league, besides promising a monthly dividend of $25 to every man and woman, campaigned on a platform to banish poverty and unemployment.

It has been estimated that the cost of paying the dividend will total $120,000,000 a year. The province has a population of 750,000. It has been pointed out that the total amount of money raised by the government from all sources for all government services for a whole year, apart from the interest on public debt, is about $8,500,000.

Voters Warned by Government.

"The total of all incomes in the province on which a tax was payable in 1932 was $52,000,000," the voters were warned by government spokesmen during the campaign. "The amount of tax collected from these incomes was $650,000, or about sufficient to pay the proposed dividend for two days to the 400,000 persons who would claim it."

Aberhart, the Social Credit leader, replied to the argument of his opponents vaguely. He said the money would be raised by a levy, the form of which has yet to be announced. He denied charges of his opponents that his policy was one of "huge taxation."

The Social Credit scheme involves the payment of credit, not money. Each citizens will be given a dividend book of certificates which will be cleared through a "state credit house." These certificates will have the purchasing power of currency within the province. No new currency will be issued. The establishment of a "just price" for both producer and consumer is also envisaged.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1935 Trafic Toll

Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

WOMAN HURLED FROM AUTO DOOR DIES OF INJURIES

Mrs. Mildred Magoon, 26 years old, 6028 Caldwell avenue, died at the county hospital yesterday from injuries incurred Aug. 14 when the front door of an automobile in which she was riding with her husband, Albert, 26 years old, jarred open, hurling her into the street at North Central and Caldwell avenues.

The coroner's office was investigating the death of Mrs. Alice O'Connor, 57 years old, 2130 Berwyn avenue, who was injured on Aug. 16 when the car in which she was riding with her husband, John, skidded into a light police at North Western and Berwyn avenues.

Mrs. Magoon's death and one other increased the 1935 trafic toll for Cook county to 590. Until 4 p. m. yesterday 469 had been killed in automobile accidents within the Chicago city limits and 10,568 injured. The other victim:

Andrew W. Anderson, 46 years old, 1614 North 35th avenue, Melrose Park. Killed when struck by an automobile as he was crossing Lake street at Broadway, in Melrose Park. The driver of the car, F. L. Garst, 45 years old, 288 Michigan street, Elmhurst, was held for the inquest today.

Joseph Marcone, 4 years old, 3159 Princeton avenue, incurred a broken collarbone and a broken arm when he ran into the path of an automobile at 33d and Wells streets. Edward A. Hartman, 57 years old, 953 Hyde Park boulevard, driver of the car, was not held.

Doctor, 75, Ordered Held in Abortion Death of Girl

Dr. Charles M. Bradley, 75 years old, 15333 Center avenue, Harvey, yesterday was ordered held to the grand jury on a charge of murder by abortion by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Miss Bertha Rosenberg, 19 years old, 1635 South Ridgeway avenue. Dr. Bradley denied the charge. The girl died June 21 at the Bethany hospital. She is reported to have made a deathbed statement accusing the doctor. Dr. Bradley insisted that the girl already had been operated upon when she came to him for treatment.

WOMAN'S DUEL WITH ADMIRER TOLD IN SLAYING

Married Salesman Dead; Farmer Held.

Macon, Mo., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—How a pretty brunette woman snatched up the shotgun of her slain squirrel hunting companion and fought a gun duel with her jealous admirer until both were wounded was told here tonight as an aftermath of a bizarre woodland shooting.

As a result of the gunfire, Chester Noland, 42, a married liquor company salesman of Savannah, Mo., was dead; James Hunt, 48, farmer living near Macon, was wounded and in jail, and Miss Blanche Stamp, 37, a neighbor of Hunt, also was wounded.

Surrenders to Sheriff.

Hunt surrendered today as a posse with bloodhounds sought him for the shooting. He asserted he shot in self-defense, but Sheriff B. R. Williams said he learned otherwise and that a first degree murder charge would be filed against the farmer. A coroner's jury today held that Hunt was responsible for Noland's death.

The shooting occurred late yesterday. Hunt, who had been jealous of his pretty neighbor for a long time, met her and Noland out in the woods as they were squirrel hunting.

"After asking what luck they were having," Sheriff Williams said, reconstructing the slaying, "Hunt went on a little way, then turned and killed Noland with one shot. Then he started firing at the woman, wounding her in the side and leg. She fired at Hunt with a shotgun and inflicted a slight wound in his head.

Noland "Friend of Family."

"Hunt had been jealous over the woman for a long time. It looks like he thought Noland was taking her away from him. But Noland was just a friend of Miss Stamp's family. He visited them on several occasions."

Miss Stamp said her sister had accompanied Noland and herself on the squirrel hunt, but that her sister went on to the house before the farmer appeared on the scene.

The woman told officers that Hunt struck her during a quarrel at a dance two years ago, but that he later apologized.

JUDGE QUASHES NOTICE TO BORIN OF MEXICO SUIT

Superior Judge Walter T. Stanton yesterday disregarded the action of the Mexican government in instituting annulment proceedings to dissolve the marriage of Nathan Borin, wealthy manufacturer, and his wife, Mrs. Claire Borin, whom he is suing for divorce. The judge sustained Borin's motion to quash service of letters rogatory issued by the Mexican government notifying him of the annulment case.

Borin asked that the annulment action be set aside because if carried through it would jeopardize his divorce case in Chicago courts and might affect the $500,000 alienation of affections suit brought by him in California against E. M. Asher, motion picture producer he accused of stealing Mrs. Borin's love. Simon Herr, counsel for Borin, insisted there had been "pressure brought to bear" upon the Mexican government by Mrs. Borin that resulted in annulment proceedings. Attorney Russell Baker, representing the Mexican government, opposed quashing the service of the letters merely on a basis of courtesy to Mexico.

"I'm going to grant this motion," Judge Stanton said. "I'm not afraid of insulting Mexico. I think we can take of our own lawsuits."

Mrs. Borin, now in California, filed suit for separate maintenance in Superior court March 25, a week after Borin had sued Asher. Borin then countered with a cross bill for divorce.

PAYS 24 TRAFIC FINES COVERING 2 YEAR PERIOD

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Sidney S. Goldwin, 27, set a record in trafic court today when he appeared, pleaded guilty to 24 violations of the parking laws and paid $120 in fines. After it was over he said he was glad to have it off his mind, and said he considered the sentence fair.

Warant officers had hunted for him since 1933. Patrolman A. J. Doule finally located him Tuesday. Goldwin posted bail, explaining that he wanted to pass a few days bolstering his resources.

Today he appeared before Magistrate Richard F. McKiniry and entered a blanket plea of guilty to all except a 1934 summons charging him with operating a motor vehicle without a license. He produced his driver's certificate. The magistrate levied a fine of $5 on each of the remaining 24 offenses, all instances of illegal parking.

N. U. PHYSICIST MEASURES HEAT OF ELECTRIC ARC

A new method of measuring the temperature of the electric arc, which is used as a light source in motion picture projecture, airplane beacons, and photo engraving, has been devised by Dr. William T. Gray of the Northwestern university physics laboratory.

This consists of comparing the atomic spectra radiated by the arc with that of various known temperatures, such as the electric light bulb. The result is a temperature of 12,000 degrees Fahrenheit, the highest attained by man and only exceeded by the hottest stars.

Light rays given off by the arc served as the thermometer in this experiment. This method supplements and verifies temperatur determinations made by Prof. Ornstein in Holland a few years ago.

WILL ROGERS, COWBOY HUMORIST

HIS LIFE STORY

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

CHAPTER VII.

WILL ROGERS, the man, in his nonprofessional aspects, will be the theme of the final chapter of this chronicle. His life away from the stage, the movie set, the microphone, the speaker's platform, and the writer's desk was rich with material for the biographer. It might be said, of course, that he had no private life, and certainly there are no secrets to be revealed; but much may be told about Will Rogers, the man, bustling around the country between jobs.

Flying in airplanes as a passenger was his chief hobby. It amounted almost to a passion, which he harnessed as a force for the development of air transportation technique. In 1928 he was given the sobriquet of "Patron Saint of Aviation" by "Casey" Jones, veteran pilot, then president of the Curtiss Flying Service, who said:

"After Lindbergh, Will Rogers is aviation's best press agent."

Inspired by His Air Zeal.

He was not merely air-minded; he veritably was air-struck. He traveled more miles as a passenger than any other nonprofessional American. Aviation authorities estimated that he had flown more than 500,000 miles. The only passages in his writings that approach an emotional, high-colored style are impressions of his airplane journeys.

"Colorful panoramas of spring's tender greens and autumn's gorgeous foliage"—that doesn't sound like Will Rogers, the satirical humorist, but he wrote the words, nevertheless. Traveling by air was an ecstasy for him. He said, "It's like sitting astride a lively cloud and sailing over the earth."

Rogers was a self-elected missionary in the cause of American aviation. After an air tour over Europe in 1926 he returned with a crusader's zeal to correct this country's backwardness in commercial aviation. He lectured and wrote and propagandized with all his showman's shrewdness.

Ridiculed Air Hazards.

He discounted the risk of accident. He wanted the public to be as brave as the pilots, for the sake of the cause. "This thing of talking about somebody's life being too valuable to risk in an airplane," he wrote, "not only is the bunk, it's an insult to the men we ask to do our flying for us."

A few crack-ups, causing minor bumps and bruises, did not dampen his enthusiasm. While en route to the Republican national convention in 1928 his plane crashed at Las Vegas, N. M. He make a joke of the affair in his daily newspaper jotting:

"Wheel broke when she came down, and she turned over and lit on her head. Am the first candidate to land on his head, but being a candidate it didn't hurt the head. This serves me right for not going to the Democratic convention."

Late the same afternoon the landing gear of another plane collapsed and he was bounced out head first. He reported on this incident:

"They're getting easier. The first spill wasn't so bad, and the second was almost a pleasure."

Wife Balked Piloting.

Rogers never learned to fly a plane, chiefly because Mrs. Rogers took a firm negative stand in the matter. But he became a plane owner, to encourage the industry and to make short flights with a hired pilot when the day's motion picture chores were done. Most of his traveling, however, was done with the aces of the profession, as a guest passenger, often on tours with a philanthropic objective.

In 1932 he visited the cities and towns of the southwest as a speaker for the relief fund movement, with Frank Hawks as pilot. The latter's account of the trip was:

"I flew twelve hours a day; Rogers talked twelve hours a day, and we ate hundreds of chicken dinners."

On being given instruction about parachute jumping by Hawks, Rogers wanted to know why the rip-cord ring was located over the left side of the breast, and was told that a man, when falling from a height, unconsciously reached with his right hand toward his heart. He answered:

"If I reach where my heart seems to be when I go overboard, I'll strangle myself."

Held Stick with Lindy.

He had flown with all the great air men of the country—even with Lindbergh. That occurred in the fall of 1927, in a flight from Mexico City to Los Angeles. On this occasion he reached the height of his air ambitions—for Lindbergh permitted him to hold the control stick long enough to make him feel that he was initiated into the craft.

But glimpses of Rogers when close to earth are equally important in estimating his character. Let us catch a view of him on one of his frequent visits to Claremore, Okla., the old home town in which he retained citizenship. He would arrive unannounced, by train before he got the airplane habit, and would call everyone in sight at the station by his first name. Then he would start down the main street, stopping at familiar shops to shout a greeting through the door:

"Hey, George! You've got company in town."

Laughed KKK Out of Town.

In the early 1920s the Ku Klux Klan was getting a strong hold in eastern Oklahoma. Claremore had its "den" of klansmen, but Will Rogers, on a single visit, ridiculed the organization out of town.

"All I've got to say to you kluckers," he announced, "is that when your wives find out what's happening to their sheets, you're going to be in a lot worse fix than the fellers you're after."

So while the fiery crosses were blazing on the hills around Tulsa, Sapulpa and Okmulgee, Claremore was at peace, its heart, like that of its greatest son, neighborly toward all men.

Will Rogers' family life might serve as a theme for a sermon on the older virtues of the American home, but in this biography it can be passed by with a blessing, for it had no history except happiness. He worked among the most seductive sirens of Broadway and the young enchantresses of Hollywood for a lifetime without a trace of wavering in his allegiance to the missis and the kids.

THE END.

"Will Rogers, His Life Story," by Charles Collins, which has been appearing in these columns, will be reprinted in booklet form with illustrations. Copies will be available in a few days at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, and by mail. Price per copy, 15 cents; by mail, 18 cents.

HUBERT WORK'S SON KILLS SELF IN HOLLYWOOD

Note to Wife Tells of Tangled Affairs.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 23—[Special.]—The body of Robert Van Horn Work, 37, son of former Secretary of the Interior Hubert Work, was found today in a Hollywood hotel room. A bullet wound was in his head and a suicide note lay nearby.

Work was an employé of a storage company. He came here several years ago from Denver. He was married to the former Lucie Hopkins only last Nov. 28, the day after he was divorced in Denver by Mrs. Irma M. Work.

Detective Captain J. A. Everson said Work registered at the hotel at 4 a. m. today, bringing no baggage. A clerk found his body in bed when he investigated why the guest had not arisen. Capt. Everson sent a police radio car to notify Mrs. Work at her home in the western district of Los Angeles.

Work attended the University of Colorado. His family home is in Pueblo, Colo.

SAM THE GREENER DENIES SHOOTING OF JUNK DEALER

Sammy [the Greener] Jacobson, 37 years old, a bartender, known to police as a west side gambler and former bootlegger, surrendered to Supervising Captain John Stege of the Marquette police yesterday for questioning in regard to the shooting of Max Blittsein, 46 years old, 1230 South Homan avenue, a junk dealer. Blittsein was wounded seriously in a fight Thursday night in a tavern operated by Jacobson's brother, Morris, at 3148 West Roosevelt road.

Marion Mendelsohn, 32 years old, who said she was Blittsein's housekeeper, identified Jacobson as the person who fired the shot, police said. Capt. Stege and Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan, who questioned Jacobson, said he admitted taking part in the fight, but denied knowledge of any shot having been fired.

Jacobson afterward was taken to the County hospital for treatment of a chest wound, apparently a bite received in the tavern fight. Stege said Jacobson would be questioned again today.

MRS. ROOSEVELT SAYS ALASKA DEATHS WON'T KEEP HER FROM AIR

Chautauqua, N. Y., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said today the deaths of Wiley Post and Will Rogers in an Alaskan plane crash last week would not cause her to give up traveling by air.

"Planes will be involved in accidents as well as automobiles and other land conveyances," she said in an interview. "If I gave up traveling by air I also would give up traveling by land."

ORDER MIND TEST OF WOMAN OWING CAB DRIVERS $37

Judge Thomas Green of the Women's court yesterday ordered an examination at the Psychopathic hospital for Mrs. Cecilia MacGregor Byrne, 37 years old, 4810 Chester avenue, Philadelphia, Pa., after she had been brought before him on charges of failure to pay two taxi bills totaling $37. A search was instituted for her Thursday night after she got out of a cab in front of the Congress hotel, owing a $25 bill and leaving her son, Robert, 14 years old, in the cab. When she failed to return, the driver took the boy to his home, gave him food, and then notified authorities. While Mrs. Byrne was being sought, J. M. Patterson, 4520 Emerald avenue, cab driver, appeared before police to ask that she be held for nonpayment of a $12 bill. The charges were continued until Sept. 13. She said that her husband, John, is an engineer for the Atwater Kent Radio corporation.

MRS. CECILIA BYRNE.

Dr. David B. Rotman, court psychiatrist, told Judge Green that the woman had been detained at the Chicago State hospital on July 17 until a brother from Detroit called for her. The boy was turned over to juvenile authorities.

ZENGE MAY TAKE MENTAL INQUIRY INTO U. S. COURT

Failing to obtain a court order barring state alienists from joining defense mental experts in an examination of Mandeville W. Zenze, accused mutilation murderer, Defense Attorney Joseph E. Green said yesterday that he may appeal to the federal court for the release of Zenge on the grounds that he is being denied an opportunity to prepare his defense.

The threat of a federal appeal was made by Attorney Green after Acting Chief Justice Donald S. McKinlay of the Criminal court overruled Green's motion for an order which would have permitted a private examination of Zenge by Dr. Harold Hulbert, defense alienist. Attorney Green argued that the presence of Dr. Harold R. Hoffman, alienist for the Criminal court behavior clinic, would be be prejudicial to the defense.

On Monday, Attorney Green said, he will ask for a writ of habeas corpus in the state courts and, failing in this, will take similar action in the federal court on the grounds that Zenge, charged with the emasculation murder of Prof. Walter Bauer, Kirksville, Mo., chemistry instructor, is a resident of Missouri and has been denied by the state of Illinois his constitutional right to an adequate defense and a fair trial.

HARLAN GRAND JURY ASKS U. S. INQUIRY OF TROOPS AT PRIMARY

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 23.—(AP)—War department investigation of federal facilities used in the primary day occupation of Harlan county by state troops was called for by the Harlan county grand jury in its written report to Judge James M. Gilbert before recessing today until Sept. 4.

The report criticized Gov. Ruby Laffoon, declaring he had "made himself a party to a movement designed for only one purpose and that to coerce and interfere with and intimidate the voters of Harlan county."

The jury, which indicted Adjt. Gen. H. H. Denhardt, leader of the occupation, ended its inquiry by adding four more of his officers to the third odd already under indictment.

The jury reported it examined some 500 witnesses. They did not, however, include Gen. Denhardt, who was summoned to tell what he knew of a plot to "steal" the election. He failed to come here to testify and since his indictment his whereabouts has been a mystery.

The report said the troops used federal trucks, federal arms and federal ammunition.

CROSSON, PILOT OF ROGERS-POST AIR HERSE, HERE

Joe Crosson, pilot of the airplane in which the bodies of Wiley Post and Will Rogers were returned from Alaska, and Jimmy Mattern, globe circling companion of Post, arrived in Chicago late yesterday from Oklahoma City where they attended the funeral services for the famed flyer.

Crosson declined to comment on the Rogers-Post crash except to say his plane was first to reach the scene. "It's too late to rehash it now," he said.

Crosson made the trip to Chicago to visit for a few hours with Donald Edward Young, 6 year old son of F. Edward Young, a flying companion of Crosson's who was killed in a plane crash in Alaska in 1933. The Young boy accompanied by his uncle, James Young, with whom he lives at Menominee, Wis., met Crosson at the Municipal airport. Crosson will leave today for Los Angeles on a ship of the Transcontinental Western Airways. He spent part of last night in conference with air lines officials.

West Side Groups Sponsor Fete to Open on Labor Day

The first day will be devoted to children, with free ice cream and candy as big attractions. Beauty queens will be selected and the girl winning the final contest will preside over a Mardi Gras, to be held in Garfield park Thursday night, Sept. 5, and over the Venetian carnival in the same park the next night.

BODY OF ROGERS TO REMAIN IN WEST A MONTH

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 23.—(AP)—The body of Will Rogers is expected to remain here at least a month before the return to his native Oklahoma for interment.

No word as to the removal came today from Mrs. Rogers, in seclusion at the ranch home near Santo Monica. The late actor-humorist's attorney, Oscar Lawler, said it was too soon after the funeral to expect the family to be making arrangements for taking the body to Oklahoma, as has been planned, eventually.

The body reposes in a mausoleum receiving vault at Forest Lawn Memorial park, Glendale, about which an estimated 100,000 persons jammed while it lay in state before funeral services yesterday.

Arrangements were made to keep the body at the mausoleum at least 30 days, Forest Lawn officials said.

Various projects for a lasting memorial to Rogers are being considered by groups of his friends and admirers. Nothing definite is expected to be done until formal approval of his family is obtained.

3 DIE IN HOLDUP; SO COSTA RICA BARS GANG FILMS

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Aug. 23.—A censorship of theaters here has resulted from the recent holdup of a local dairy which resulted in the death of the proprietor and two gangsters.

The movie censorship board decided not to permit the showing of gangster pictures or "wild west" films portraying holdup technique.

Alberto Gonzales Lahmann, coowner of the dairy, was slain while resisting robbers a week ago in what was described as Costa Rica's first gang holdup. The robbers, barricaded in the dairy office, died in a barrage from the guns of fifty policemen.

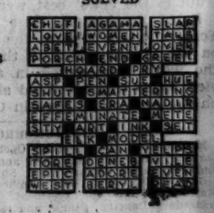
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



SCHNACKENBERG FLAYS HORNER, NASH MACHINE

Brands Governor Agent of Burocrats.

Ashley, Ill., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago, sponsor of the ill-fated honest election bills in the recent legislature, today accused Gov. Henry Horner and the Pat Nash Democratic machine of seeking to put the sovereignty of Illinois under the thumb of New Deal burocrats at Washington.

In an address here on Republican day at the Washington county fair, Mr. Schnackenberg, who is one of the Republican leaders in the house at Springfield and who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the governorship, said:

"What Henry Horner as governor with a Democratic majority backing him up in the legislature has done for the people and to the people we Republicans hope to inform the electors. With all of the elective state officers, save only one Supreme court justice, of the Democratic faith and with unquestioned control of the legislature, the Democrats in Illinois have been drunk with power.

Calls Objectives Vicious.

"They seem imbued with the idea that the government exists for the officeholders. The Democrats' objectives have been vicious. They have thwarted every effort to protect the sanctity of the ballot box in Chicago and other parts of Illinois, where wholesale frauds on election days threaten the overthrow of the popular election system in our state. They have put a staggering load of taxes on the people.

"Under their leadership the sovereign state of Illinois has groveled before domineering burocrats at Washington.

"It is safe to say 300,000 fraudulent votes are cast in Illinois at every statewide election. The Democratic party opened a guerilla warfare on the honest election bills. One of their house spokesmen publicly declared their leader, Patrick Nash, was opposed to the bills. The Democrats resorted to the old strategy of burying the bills in an obscure subcommittee. After the Republicans, by a filibuster, tied up house business for three weeks, the Democrats were compelled to call the roll on the honest election bills. The Democratic party killed these bills, and in effect served notice on the people that they as a party stood for crooked elections.

Hits Relief Bill.

"For two and a half years Gov. Horner has in effect defended the extravagances and wastes of the administration of unemployment relief in Illinois. He finally joined with Federal Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins in demanding that the legislature increase the sales tax from 2 to 3 cents, and with his Democratic votes pushed this bill through. Bills for the reorganization of relief were ignored by him. On June 1, the report of his own citizens' committee was placed on Horner's desk. The governor suppressed and withheld the report from the legislature until July 10, which was after the legislature had adjourned and at the governor's request had extended the present extravagant relief administration.

"The governor has tricked some one. We challenge him to explain why he witheld the report of his own committee, which contained important suggestions.

NRA Bill Assailed.

"When Gen. Hugh Johnson was going up and down the land with the Blue Eagle, Gov. Horner caused to be introduced in the state legislature a state NRA bill. It is difficult to see how any student of the American form of government or any one who believes in the sovereignty of states could have supported such a measure. It provided that all laws, rules, and pronouncements at Washington under NRA should ipso facto become the law of the state of Illinois.

"Gov. Horner has been a judge. We challenge him to publicly state whether he now believes or believed at the time of the passage of the state NRA bill in 1934 that it was constitutional.

Tells Pension Law History.

"One recent example of Gov. Horner's tendencies is recalled. The general assembly recently enacted an old age pension law and appropriated 5 million dollars to institute this method of relief to old and indigent persons. The governor, however, publicly announces the system will not be put into effect until a special session is called and new legislation passed to meet the requirements of some officials in Washington. In other words, the relief that old people were to get in Illinois by legislative act is to be withheld by Horner until somebody in Washington decides how, when, and if these old folks are to get pensions.

"Under such an administration, we contend, Illinois is no longer a sovereign state."

CHANGE OF VENUE AGAIN SOUGHT IN LAW FIRM SUITS

Savage to Call Judge as Witness.

Attorney Joseph P. Savage filed a second petition before Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski yesterday asking a change of venue for two pending suits involving an accounting of assets of the disbanded law firm of Crowe, Gorman and Savage. As grounds for the change, Savage declared that he intended to call Judge Klarkowski as a material witness in the case.

Both Former State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe and Mrs. Marguerite Gorman, widow and executrix of the estate of George E. Gorman, the third partner, have filed suits similar to Savage's. His first venue petition was refused by Judge Klarkowski.

Cites Two Counts Under Law.

In the second petition, Savage declared that he is well within the law in asking that the accounting suit be taken from Klarkowski and cited two counts under the law to back his contentions. The first dealt with the right to obtain a change of venue when the testimony of the judge is to be heard and the second guarantees a transfer because of the prejudice of the judge.

To satisfy the first legal reason, Savage stated that "the judge of the court before whom the case is now pending, is a material witness to be used upon the trial and has knowledge and possession of material testimony upon the issues."

Another Reason for Transfer.

A second reason why Klarkowski should not sit in judgment was given by Savage as the fact that the late George Gorman was a master in chancery by appointment of Klarkowski and after his death his son, Gerald R. Gorman, received the same appointment.

Klarkowski, the petition stated, "has knowledge of and will be requested to testify as to the distribution and disbursement of large sums of money belonging to the partnership of Crowe, Gorman and Savage."

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Charles A. WISCONSIN OLD AGE PENSION BILL GIVEN O. K. BY ASSEMBLY

Madison, Wis., Aug. 23.—(AP)—The Wisconsin assembly passed a social security bill late today and then revised a senate income tax measure so as to double normal personal income taxes to raise an estimated extra $10,000,000 in two years to support old age and other pensions and elementary schools.

The pension bill will go to the senate for the first time. The tax bill in its original from has had the announced support of the senate, and the assembly revision definitly assigned the disagreement on its form to possible solution in an inter-house converence.

The social security bill, which provides that the state shall administer old age pensions after April 1, 1936, but begins at once to use state and federal funds to carry the entire cost, includes provision for state supervised aid to mothers, and county employment of public nurses. The counties would continue until April 1, 1936, to supervise the mother's and blind pensions. The passage vote was 62 to 8.

The bill provides that the state commissioner of public welfare shall furnish old age pensions sufficient for "a reasonable subsistence compatible with decency and health" for all eligible persons over 65. The age will drop to 60 when federal rules permit.

So far the escape of the 150 monkeys has cost Mr. Buck and his partner, T. A. Loveland, a few season passes, given to those who have brought some of the fugitives back alive.

Though four of the monkeys have been electrocuted, their escape has paid the farm handsome dividends. The turnstiles clicked steadily yesterday and today as hundreds of persons who had read about the animals' escape paid a quarter each to be at the center of activity.

Yesterday they saw Mr. Loveland and his employés capture about twenty monkeys which had perched on a high flagpole and smaller poles around the farm.

According to official bulletins from the farm, there were 100 monkeys still at large today; five were dead, and forty-five were back on their island.

Today Mr. Loveland announced a $50 reward for the capture [alive] of "Al Capone," their leader. Al is the largest and most ferocious of the monkeys and he has a long scar on his face which gave him his nickname.

EARLE FAVORS CHANGE IN U. S. CONSTITUTION

Holds Supreme Court Ruling "Too Narrow."

BY THORNTON L. SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—George H. Earle, governor of Pennsylvania, the first Young Democrat elected chief executive of any state, speaking in the place of President Roosevelt at the Young Democratic club's convention tonight, called for amendment of the constitution of the United States to meet the needs of the New Deal.

The constitution's recent interpretation by the Supreme court, he said, has been too narrow to meet the needs of the nation. With increasing interdependence, he asserted, of the various parts of the nation, "this narrow construction of the powers of the federal government over business will be an ever increasing obstacle to business."

President Speaks Tonight.

Gov. Earle's speech was the highlight of the convention here, which will close tomorrow with a radio speech by President Roosevelt. He filled the spot on the program the President was to have taken until he announced that the press of business in the last days of this session of congress prevented him leaving Washington. His son, James, secretary of the Young Democrats, also was to have attended, but telegraphed yesterday he could not make it.

The reception committee, expecting Franklin Roosevelt Jr., tonight found that John, another son, came in his place. John arrived dramatically on the convention floor interrupting Gov. Earle's speech while the full convention left the floor for the platform and shook his hand.

"It's rather a lucky break that I can be here," he said. "Father intended to be here but couldn't and then Jimmie was unable to, so I decided at last that one of us ought to be here to participate. I am very glad to be here."

"If this be treason, make the most of it," declared Gov. Earle, paraphrasing Patrick Henry, in his discussion of the restriction imposed by the constitution on the plans of the federal administration.

The NRA, he declared, although held unconstitutional by the Supreme court, will continue to serve. It will establish, he said, for all time the principle of social responsibility over business and industry. Piece by piece, the speaker reviewed the efforts of the last several years in Washington, and he reported that he found them all good.

Points to Narrowness.

Returning to the subject of the constitution he said: "This national conception of the public good demands policies delineated on a national basis. As always, we must look to our constitution to show what we can do and how we can do it.

"Certain provisions of the constitution—especially the interstate commerce clause—lately have been interpreted by the Supreme court in a manner too narrow to meet the needs of the nation. As communication and interdependence of various parts of the nation develop still further this narrow construction of the powers of the federal government over business will become an ever increasing obstacle to progress.

"What are we going to do about it? The constitution itself supplies the answer: If we cannot find a way within the constitution, then that document must be amended in the form prescribed therein. I have too much respect for its framers to believe they ever intended the words they wrote to become predominant over national need.

Lived in Changing Times.

"They were men who themselves lived in changing times, men who were not afraid to accept new responsibilities, to strike new paths. Did they intend the constitution to become the instrument of injustice, of oppression, of national futility in the face of disintegration? I do not believe it.

"We've changed the constitution with 21 amendments and regretted only one of them. Now, if it appears the nation cannot be rescued without another amendment, then amend we must. If this be treason, make the most of it."

It is for us, he added, the Young Democrats, the representatives of liberal government, to take part in this great work and to advance this new design for American living—the development of American markets for American industry. "In the words of the President," he said, "we are on our way."

Delegate Flares Up.

Resentment smoldering in the hearts of some of the delegates against President Roosevelt for what was called trading with the radicals bade fair to be smothered in the convention.

The welcoming speeches by United States Senator F. Ryan Duffy and Charles E. Broughton, national committeemen, both eulogized the President, and under the careful management of the older heads both in the party and in the youth organization, dissension is being kept under the surface.

It broke out, however, in a caucus of the Wisconsin delegation at which Harlan Kelly, delegate from Sheboygan produced a resolution he had made ready criticising the Roosevelt administration for the favoritism it has shown the La Follettes in Wisconsin. Kelly talked on his resolution for a while, but his speech was choked off when other delegates professed to recognize La Follette men in the caucus room and Assemblyman Maurice Fitzsimmons of Fond du Lac walked out.

"We have to endure the insults of the La Follettes and the Progressives in the assembly and I resent the presence in this meeting of a Progressive," Fitzsimmons said.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—James Henry Hatfield, 97, and Frances A. Kunce, 73, his housekeeper, were married here today.

Mrs. Hatfield has been twice widowed. Hatfield's first wife died five years ago.

When Hatfield gets his $100 monthly civil war pension check Sept. 3 the couple will go to Kansas to live on a farm which the bridegroom owns. He supplements his pension income by selling patent medicine.

SENATOR CAREY HITS ROOSEVELT AS DICTATOR

Tells Young G. O. P. President Ignores Constitution

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—In blunt, western style, Senator Robert D. Carey, known as the "cowboy governor," today denounced President Roosevelt as a dictator who ignored the constitution, and warned Postmaster General James A. Farley to abandon his fight to defeat Senator Borah for reëlection lest he force him to become the Republican nominee for President.

Incidentally, he defied Chairman Farley to carry out his threat, made here several weeks ago, that the Democratic party "would get Carey" next year, when the senior Republican senator from Wyoming seeks reelection.

This attack on the national administration and reference to Mr. Farley as a "man who never held a higher than boxing commissioner job before he became postmaster general," was heartily applauded by the 800 delegates to the Young Republican conference of eleven western and coast states, opening the first day's session.

Militant Fighting Force.

The purpose of this meeting is to thoroughly organize the young Republicans of the west into a militant fighting force for 1936. Most of the delegates were under 30 years of age while more experienced politicians, former national committeemen and state chairmen sat on the sidelines to encourage the youngsters in a move to get 4,000,000 youths into active politics, to "rout the New Deal" next year.

Senator Carey, including his one hour arraignment of the Roosevelt administration, said:

"The Democratic party has the strongest political organization ever established in the United States, an organization that holds its members in line by threats and intimidations that, if they do not do the bidding of the President or his satellites, they will be denied patronage or funds.

"The head of this organization is James A. Farley, who never held a public office higher than the boxing commissioner of New York until the President appointed him postmaster general. While he has held the postmaster generalship the only affirmative things that he has done in that office are:

"First to cancel the air mail contracts and force the army to fly the mail by which ten fine American officers lost their lives.

Referring to his declarations while on a western trip some weeks ago that he was determined to defeat Senators Carey and Borah, both Republicans seeking reëlection next year, Senator Carey said:

Sees Insidious Campaign.

"The President's statement with reference to changing the constitution, certainly was a feeler to find out the sentiment of the people," he added. "While the response was not as gratifying as he hoped for, we can expect an insidious campaign to be carried on to bring about the amending of the constitution. An excuse for every failure of the New Deal will be that the constitution prevented them from carrying out its recovery program.

"The demands of the administration may go so far as to deprive the United States Supreme court of the power to pass on laws of congress," he added. "If it goes that far and succeeds, the bulwark of our liberties will be lost and we will have a dictator supreme."

Senator Carey asserted that the administration's "soak the rich" taxes showed the trend to cater to the radical and communistic element.

GETTING IN AND KEEPING OUT OF WAR.

Automatic embargoes might be regarded as guaranties of neutrality. Nothing of the kind can be pretended for the discretionary embargo. It is a way of making war. Mr. Roosevelt opposed the automatic method and wanted the discretionary. He wanted to be in a position to take one side against the other. With such power he could join Great Britain and the league of nations in a common stand against Italy and in favor of Ethiopia. He could at any time in any controversy put the United States on one side or the other of conflict. Chance would then decide whether this form of war would be followed by actual fighting. When one belligerent is denied supplies granted to another the government which makes such a decision has made a declaration of war and may expect to take the consequences.

Such a grant of authority is obviously one of the most dangerous that could be put in the hands of an executive. Wars of a sort can be made by a government without the explicit consent of congress and they may force congress to declare later. The economic weapon could be used at the will of the executive and the country would be compelled to stand the consequences.

No one would expect the present congress, head-standing, to work out neutrality formulas which would be well considered. One grave danger to which a neutral nation is exposed is its commerce with other neutral nations. In the world war Great Britain proved that a belligerent controling the sea will not permit such neutral trade when the ultimate beneficiary is its enemy. In the present case, trade with Italy having been prohibited, supplies from the United States might begin to flow into neutral ports from which they could be carried over neutral territory into Italy. If this were defeating the purpose of the embargo, efforts would be made to stop it.

The purpose of the neutrality embargoes—as they are intended to keep this country from becoming involved as it did in 1917—is to prevent attacks upon American ships and citizens. Such attacks lead to complications with the offending belligerent. They grow worse instead of better and, as we discovered in '17, we are at war. An embargo which would remove all this danger would simply close ports of the United States to its own shipping. Nothing could be carried to any country near the war zone by American ships because the ships would be exposed to attack and seizure, or destruction, and presently the navy would be out on the trade routes and the conscript officers would be busy again.

The rich rewards of bootlegging would stimulate every profit seeker in the country and every method that ingenuity could invent would be used in running stuff out.

Congress and the pacifists have been playing with very dangerous weapons, calling them instruments of peace.

THE LAST OF THE DOMINEERING MAMMAS.

William Hohenzollern has been on the dole for 17 years and his card in the Potentates and Rulers' International union has lapsed. There seems to have been some moral deterioration, too. Maybe he wouldn't take a job if it was offered to him. He's forgotten how to work. His hands used to be horny from scepter-swinging, but today they are as soft as a baby's.

Princess Hermine [Mrs. Hohenzollern] shows no parallel deterioration. There are plenty of calluses on her hands, as her daughter, Princess Caroline, will testify. Caroline fell in love with her mother's secretary, a certain Herr Wunderlich. They became engaged, or at least they thought they did. Mamma turned the matter over in her mind and the more she thought the more sure she became that Mr. Wunderlich, a commoner of modest fortune, was no match for her Caroline.

When Caroline disagreed, her mamma seems to have suggested that a mind wasn't the only thing she could turn over. There was also Caroline. Caroline surrendered. A formal announcement, signed by the daughter, says there never was an engagement and there isn't going to be one.

Mamma Hohenzollern is the last of the line of domineering mothers. She is the last who assumes the right to look over her daughter's suitors and decide for the girl which are eligible and which are not. Romantic novels have created the widespread belief that maternal interferences are always wrong. As a matter of fact, there is considerable reason to believe that the mammas of an earlier day guessed right at least as often as they guessed wrong.

There is a lot of biology in the business of choosing a mate. It tends to blind the eyes to defects apparent to persons not suffering from the same emotional excitement. At any rate, Mamma Hohenzollern saw what she regarded as her duty and she did it. She ought to be preserved in the Field museum along with other vanished species. There is a room there entitled "Systematic Mammals." That is where Mrs. Hohenzollern belongs.

THE MASSACRE.

During the present year an average of 45 persons have been maimed or hurt every day in automobile accidents within the city of Chicago. An average of two persons have lost their lives daily.

Local officials are doing what they can to stop the massacre. They are to be commended for their efforts to suppress drunken, reckless and careless driving. But theirs is mainly a hopeless task, because the complete abolishment of deaths and injuries on our present trafic system would demand a complete revision of human nature—an impossible accomplishment. Elevated highways, on the other hand, by separating the points of contact which cause accidents, would make physically impossible 98 per cent of the present mishaps.

Meanwhile plans go forward for spending the four billion dollar work relief and campaign fund. Our parks, we are told, are to be filled with strolling players. Instruction is offered to whoever will have it in eurythmic dancing, basket weaving, and a score of other frivolities. But proposals that part of the fund be devoted to the purpose of starting Chicago's vitally needed system of elevated highways meet a cold shoulder. Apparently the motto of the WPA is: "Millions for boondoggling, but not one cent to save human life."

THE BLUE RIBBON.

With proper ceremonials the Rex of the Italian line has been awarded the blue ribbon, the more or less mythical emblem which goes to the fastest merchant ship afloat. The Normandie has already broken most of the Rex's records and in due course will receive the emblem, but by that time the Queen Mary may be in service to add a touch of irony to the celebration. It is not certain but probable that the Queen Mary will be the faster ship. Luxury liners almost always lose money and have to be supported by subsidies, but a luxury liner which is not bigger or faster—especially faster—than anything else afloat hasn't a chance. The owners of the Queen Mary ought to know that better than any one else.

Their Mauretania and now their Olympic have headed for the boneyard. The Leviathan is tied up. The Bremen and Europa, the Rex and the Normandie have made the operation of other ships in their class impossible. There was a time when the English had no important rivals in the luxury class. Such competition as there was took place between rival British lines. The Germans were the first to challenge. By the outbreak of the war the Germans seem to have had the larger ships though the British Lusitania and Mauretania were faster. The peace took all of the big German ships and parceled them among the victors. English supremacy did not last long, for Germany almost at once returned to the race.

The Mauretania succumbed to the Bremen and Europa. Now they have been shaded by the Rex in the Mediterranean service and the Normandie in the North Atlantic. At the moment the British have nothing comparable to offer, but they will be back in the running next year.

The moral is that the world is not organized to encourage sitting back and gloating. The man, the business, or the nation which thinks it is tops from now on is headed for trouble first and the boneyard next. Those who think they are good will do well to remember that they are going to be called upon to prove it. The customers are looking for something bigger and faster.

JOHN'S BACK ON OLD TERRA FIRMA.

Mr. McCutcheon has landed in Germany and all is well, if not with Germany at least with John. We're glad he's down, in the sense he is, and is not out. He took to flying when the plane was just two steps beyond Darius Green. As an ever young adventurer he never could have resisted the air voyage by plane and Zep down the west coast and up the east coast of South America, across to Africa, and into Germany. His excuse was that he wanted to look at a zoo in Germany and this was the only way to get there.

There is much evidence of a widespread interest in his stories. Written on the wing, they have made brief but delightful chapters in the travel diary of a flying philosopher. THE TRIBUNE front page has been glad to have them, but we're also glad that the rest of the trip is to be by train and boat. John must be home by Sept. 5. That is a real must program. He is to be toastmaster at a dinner of his national Greek letter fraternity. Wot a man.

Editorial of the Day

BEGINNING OF THE END.
[Boston Herald.]

The First congressional district of Rhode Island is a typical combination of industrial and agricultural communities, with the former much more populous. It is dominated by textile workers, and one section of it, the city of Woonsocket, on the northern border, was the scene of wild rioting during the textile strike.

These mill workers have had a full opportunity to see and feel the effects of the processing taxes which the AAA exacts. They have had time to ponder the cold advice of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace that they turn their hands to the making of pre-fabricated houses. They have watched with tightened belts for the fulfilment of administration promises. The waste and aimlessness of the New Deal have become apparent to them. The almost unbelievable vote shows their convictions as to the whole performance.

Congressman Condon, Democrat, obtained his majority of 21,000 last year with little effort. A reduction of the majority by a quarter or a half would have been a serious setback for the New Deal, an omen of disasters to follow elsewhere. The complete rout of the Democrats and the triumph of Mr. Risk are therefore a major development.

It is made more impressive by the fact that the Democratic candidate, Antonio Prince, is a French Canadian, a member of the dominating racial element in the state and a resident of Woonsocket, one of the oldest and strongest centers of French Canadians. The Republicans went to the little village of Saylesville for their representative. The voters obviously laid aside all racial and religious consideration and voted on the basis of their own, their state's and the national welfare as affected by the New Deal. Nothing but intense hostility to it can explain the remarkable victory of Mr. Risk.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE-LINE: Old Ogden park, at the foot of Ohio street, extending from Indiana to Ontario street, was inclosed, with the sand on the lake side piled up as high as the fence. This park was the beginning of baseball on the north side. It was the only ball ground outside of the corner lots that was worth while.

By the way, I believe that the seats erected in that park, to accommodate about 50 people, were the first seats ever placed in a Chicago ball park. That was about 1868.

I remember the famous Forest Citys of Rockford playing there; also the Haymakers of Troy, N. Y.; Mutuals of New York City, and Athletics of Philadelphia. Those were professional teams from the east which visited Chicago before Tom Foley, for long years afterward a billiard room keeper in the loop, organized in 1869 the Chicago club which was named the White Stockings.

The home plate was close to the fence on the south side of Ogden park. I saw one of the Wright brothers, I forget whether Harry or George, drive the ball over the fence at the north end and over some two story buildings on the north side of Ontario street. I believe this hit was the record for many years. T. F. Gallagher.

Tom Foley's ball and cue palace, during its greatest vogue, was located at 87 South Clark street, between Randolph and Washington. Foley, who was a self-made man with only three months of schooling, was known as the "Billiard King" long before other rooms gained popularity. His room on Clark was fitted at a cost of $35,000 and at the time was considered the grandest place of its kind in the world. He was elected alderman of the First ward in 1873, and it was his boast that he "looked after one-fifth of the taxes of the entire city." Foley retained his interest in baseball and billiards to his death, and was a charter member of the Old Timers' Baseball association. F. R.

In your column recently I saw mention of Baby Bliss, famous high weight bicycle racer of the '90s. In those days Bliss weighed 508 pounds. I was a trick rider and at Atlanta, Ill., in 1897, I raced Bliss one-eighth mile as a novelty feature of a local celebration. I rode on the rear wheel. It was a nip and tuck affair, but with Baby Bliss handicapped by his avoirdupois I defeated him. At dinners Bliss would eat his own food and then partake of anything near him that other diners did not watch. S. B. Fisher.

Perfectly and stiffly. What?

GIRAFFE UNDER A BRIDGE.

Wake-Line: An old circus man told me of his experience while transporting giraffes. Three of these long necked animals had been purchased for a zoo. From the steamer dock they were loaded on a motor lorry for the final stage of their journey.

All went well until they encountered a bridge over the roadway. It was impossible to unload them and walk them under and the giraffes refused to "duck." Finally a small windlass was secured and fastened to one end of the lorry. The halter shanks of the animals were tied around the windlass. As the crank turned, the animals' heads were lowered. All was well.

MRS. SOCRATES.

Dear Harvey: I have some advice for the boys. Get married, young man, get married! For, as Socrates is reported to have said, "Marriage is good. If a man gets a fine wife, that is good. If he gets a bad one, he becomes a philosopher, and that is good also." Which makes me realize the debt humanity owes to Mrs. Socrates. What a vixen SHE must have been! Jean Corcoran, 16 years.

HEALING TROUBLED MINDS.

PLATO says, "As you ought not to attempt to cure the eyes without the head, or the head without the body, so neither ought you to attempt to cure the body without the mind."

In our effort to identify organic disease—disease that is characterized by cell change in some of the structures of the body—we often overlook the temperament, the disposition, the fears, and the perplexities of patients. It is well known that any or all of these factors may be translated into symptoms that are mistaken frequently for organic disease.

In a recent article Arthur H. Jackson relates the case of a patient who came to his physician complaining of intense nervousness and hoarseness. He was highly agitated, could eat and sleep but little, and spoke in a hoarse whisper. He related that when called upon to defend himself in court he suddenly lost his voice. Although he had been decorated during the world war for bravery under fire, he was unable to face the possibility of losing his case and his reputation. The man was powerfully built, athletic, and mentally alert. He felt confident that he could vindicate himself, and his attorney assured him that he had nothing to worry about. Instead of attacking the throat and vocal chords, the physician wisely treated the individual himself and helped him regain confidence. Under this management he recovered his voice and calmly went through the trial.

The average person has learned to adapt himself to difficult situations through the use of reason and common sense. There may come a time, however, when the burden of necessary adjustments becomes heavier than the individual can bear, with the result that he develops a psychoneurosis.

For the treatment of this condition nothing but a careful analysis of the basic causative factors will show the way out. The physician must be a good listener and the patient must be persuaded to tell his life history from childhood onward, all about his physical ailments, his joys, hopes, and fears. He must be prevailed upon to describe his emotional experiences, and it may require several interviews before all phases of his mental and emotional life have been uncovered.

A definite plan of living must then be worked out for the sufferer with a proper balance of work, recreation, exercise, and rest. Regularity is of the utmost importance. The physician must then plan reëducation based upon his power to influence the patient's thinking. As a rule this is not difficult with a sensible person, although the restoration of the victim to a plane on which he can handle his own problems will require time and perseverance.

Every busy physician sees in his office a fairly high percentage of maladjusted individuals. In some the psychosis is mild. They constitute a definite class, however, and many of them need personal, individual study. With patience the medical man can usually get to the bottom of the emotional difficulties. He can appeal to the intelligence of these patients and can help them understand their difficulties instead of dismissing them with, "There is nothing physically wrong; you are perfectly well."

After all, the physician must be a healer, whether it be of gall-bladder disease, anemia, a broken bone, or a hurt mind. He cannot function as a mere "disease-finder" who loses interest the moment the diagnosis is made; one who has no time for the bothered, worried soul who needs encouragement and help. There are few finer things in life than to aid in reclaiming from a depressing existence a person who is worth while.

DROWSY DRIVER.

B. K. writes: While driving on a warm day, with the sun beating down on a monotonous highway, there is a tendency for the driver to fall asleep at the wheel. This has occurred on the same kind of road in the evening, also. What is the cause, and what can be done to overcome it? Are stimulants, such as coffee, good? Does one have to take a short nap? Can you recommend any medicine?

REPLY.

Coffee, because of its caffeine content, is the best known substance to keep the mind alert. It would be well, also, to secure more rest at night. If drowsiness is excessive, have a careful examination made of the urine.

DRUGS AND BIRTH.

J. G. writes: Are there any hypnotic drugs that can be used with safety in cases of confinement?

REPLY.

Obstetricians in good standing are now using various drugs, such as nembutol, barbeth-oil, sodium amytal, etc. Some disadvantages attend their use, as certain patients react with a marked delirium that sometimes necessitates forceful restraint. Apparently the progress of delivery is not greatly interfered with. The action of the drug may last for several hours, and when the patient awakens there is no memory of events during the period of its full effect. Many of these drugs should be administered only with a full knowledge of the patient's history and under ideal hospital conditions.

ASTHMA AND DIET.

I. T. writes: I was relieved of symptoms of asthma and hay fever through a period of fasting which occupied 21 days. During this period I took only water, orange juice, grape juice, and some clear soup.

REPLY.

Asthma due to a food allergy is relieved whenever the offending food is discarded. In your case the irritating food substance was omitted from the diet during the starvation period.

A simpler, safer, and less trying method would be to keep a daily food diary, omitting one food at a time. This plan usually discloses the culprit.

BUILDING STRUCTURALLY SAFE.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—[Friend of the People.]—Next door to our home is an unfinished hotel structure; it is not only a sore spot for one to behold but a great menace to life and health. It is a hangout for young hoodlums and stray animals; is used as a general dumping ground for refuse of the neighborhood and offensive odors emanate therefrom. Our children play in our yard which adjoins and we are in constant fear of their welfare. We have appealed to our ward leaders to board up this structure and thus far nothing has been done.
A. H. C.

This is an unfinished fireproof apartment building, four stories high. The building is structurally safe and this department caused the owners to board it up some time ago. This boarding has since been removed by vandals. The owners have again been notified to board up the building and the police department has been instructed to have the squad make frequent visits and arrest all unauthorized persons found on the premises.
RICHARD E. SCHMIDT,
Commissioner of Buildings.

COMPENSATION INSURANCE.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—An individual takes a contract to paint a high building. This individual does all the hazardous work himself. 1. In case of accident would the owner of the building be responsible or does the [2] workman, in assuming the status of a contract, clear the owner of all liability? 3. Let us further assume that the workman would sign a waiver of his claim in case of accident, could his heirs come back on the owner of the building? W. G. K.

1. The relationship between the owner and the contractor would be casual and hence not covered by the compensation act.
2. If by this plural form you imply that the contractor would employ workmen, it seems probable that these workmen would come under the compensation act.
3. The waiver would not be effective as to the compensation act. The best protection would be compensation insurance.

TITLE TO AUTOMOBILE.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In February, 1931, I answered an ad and bought a car from a dealer. I paid the notes to a finance company. I kept this car until last fall when I turned it in on another car. The state had given me clear title, etc. I just received a letter from the latter auto agency telling me the car I traded in was stolen in 1930 and that I was responsible for the difference in money paid and the allowance made on the car. This does not seem at all logical to me. Can you advise me in this matter?
A. J. S.

If it is true that the car was stolen, then presumably you did not have a good title and you would be liable on an implied warranty that your title was good.

PRISON MADE GOODS.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—We notice an item in THE TRIBUNE to the effect that twenty-one states with a population in excess of 75,000,000 have enacted laws prohibiting the sale in the open market of prison made goods. Please advise whether or not Illinois is included in these twenty-one states. K. H. C.

Section 83 B of the chapter on penitentiaries is in part as follows: "After Jan. 19, 1934, it shall be unlawful to sell or offer for sale within the state of Illinois any goods, wares, or merchandise manufactured or mined by convicts or prisoners of other states, except convicts or prisoners on parole or probation, nor shall such goods, wares, or merchandise, manufactured or mined by convicts or prisoners of other states, except convicts or prisoners on parole or probation, be purchased or accepted in exchange by any institution in the state of Illinois, owned or managed and controled by the state, or of any institution owned or managed and controled by any political division of the state."

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.

In many cities white eggs sell for a higher price than brown and spotted eggs because the purchasers believe that a white egg is more nutritious. In some localities the opposite is believed, and brown eggs are considered more healthful. However, food experts have failed to find any difference whatever in the food values of different colored eggs.

JUST BACK FROM TENNESSEE.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—Browsing about in the Tennessee hills last week, asking foolish questions, but not too many questions in the same place, I am informed that the object of:

TVA is to produce cheap fertilizer.
Fertilizer is to produce more crops.
AAA is to prevent more crops.
NRA is to prevent cheap labor.

Wondering why most all of the fertilizer rock plants were idle, I'm told that the price of $2.90 per ton fixed by TVA is less than production costs.

Climbing up into the hills, I visit the mines where this cheap rock originates. I learn that after paying royalty, hauling, and removal of overburden the actual result is 65 cents per day for labor.

Just inquiring of a big black boy how he was doing: "O. K., boss; 65 cents is better than relief, and if business gits good and the overburden less I can maybe make a dollar."

ROILED AT LAST.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—Just to keep the records straight: Fred Barker was not killed by federal agents in Miami, Fla., as reported by your Washington correspondent in today's story of the threat received by J. Edgar Hoover from Alvin Karpis, fugitive gunman. In fact, the little town where Barker was shot down with his mother this winter, Oklawaha, Fla., is almost 300 miles from Miami. If your capital newsman couldn't recall the odd name of this little town he could at least have said Florida was the scene of the killing.

Tennis fans who have been reading the (AP) stories on the various tournaments in the east would also like to know which city is the home town of Frankie Parker. On Monday he is a resident of Spring Lake, N. J.; on Tuesday a native of Milwaukee. Let's get the tennis writers agreed on one city, which, I believe, is Milwaukee.

THE OLYMPIC GAMES.

Downers Grove, Ill., Aug. 21.—Nazi leaders are frequently quoted as wanting the Olympics to be held in Germany in order that the influx of foreign currency will improve Germany's position in foreign exchange and thus permit the Nazis to increase armaments and further destroy all international friendships. U. S. EMPLOYES ARE TAXED.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—I would like to set reader R. V. M. and every one else straight on this question of taxes. All United States government employés are subject to the same income tax laws, regulations, and exemptions as any other citizen of these United States, and they do pay income tax. When I say pay I mean with a capital P.
U. S. GOVERNMENT EMPLOYE.

AND WHERE THEY TAKE YOUR MONEY.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—The present administration brings to mind quite forcibly what my civics teacher in high school used to say: "A political platform is like a street car platform. It is something to get in on, but not to stand on afterward." D. C. T.

HISTORY OF A MARRIAGE.

My husband is 53; I am 43; our sons are 26 and 25, and our daughters are 24 and 22 years. We have been married for 27 years. When we were married my husband made the high wage of $12 per week working as a teamster. We had a small, light flat and my man came home for dinner at noon and at different times he would bring home one of the boys under the impression there was always enough for one more. Finally, it being so handy and the boys all wanting to have dinner with Jim, the boys suggested me taking in noonday boarders. Well, I started with three and before long my small space became too crowded and the boys, using the boss' trucks (which were wagons then), moved us to a larger flat and we bought more chairs and a larger table.

Not practicing race suicide, it was compulsory to close the boarding house for twenty-four weeks in the first five years of our married life. There was no paid help, although I cooked for and served twelve men for eight years. The boys did their part and twice when the family and the pie and bread making about overcame me I announced the fact that after the following week the boys would have to look elsewhere for a place to have their dinner. Then I tried having help, but on the days when the babies were fussy the help failed to appear, so the boys decided to take turns coming early to help on the last minute duties.

We bought that building and when the children were old enough to help we bought a restaurant and I did the cooking and baking as always. Then we bought a large, beautiful place and I persuaded Jim to become manager. My oldest kitchen gadgets were tossed out and everything of the finest installed, but still I cooked. Then extra help was hired. The family all worked in the restaurant and the boom days helped to buy the fine home here—the home at the lake—send the children to college, buy a fine car, and one and one-half years ago I retired from the kitchen. Jim and I took a long trip to the west coast and visited old friends, and everywhere Jim says, "Marry a young girl and what a marvelous girl he had and what she did for him."

But now he does not come home any night until 3 or 4 in the morning. His old friends of the teamster days have told me the sweetie is 27 years old. He has gotten rid of $10,000. There was a bill for $1,250 for a mink coat that I never owned, and my Jim comes home and tells me how big my feet are (I used to wear size 4; now I wear 6). He doesn't like the color of my hair—it is faded. My dancing does not suit his fancy.

And just what is left for me? Only the bitterest of ashes. The children have worked shoulder to shoulder from small children until now. They ask me where is my pride when every one knows the condition.

Twice a week the sweetie has the family car all day and night.

Six months ago I weighed 160 pounds. Today I weigh 126. And I believe from the lump in my throat I will choke to death. In all of this time I have never upbraided my Jim, but after he returned from a three weeks' vacation to which I did not even know he had gone until he sent some friend over to tell me he would be away a few days I told Jim there were stories going around that he had found some one else and I would give him a divorce or proceed to start getting one. He pleaded with me for the children not to. He does not work at all these days. ANN.

SATURDAY NEWS OF NEW BOOKS

WPA CASH URGED TO AID CHICAGO'S NEEDY LAWYERS

Hundreds Deserving of Help, Say Colleagues.

Proposals for giving needy Chicago attorneys employment under the federal Works Progress administration's program were outlined last night when twenty lawyers discussed the economic state of their profession in the office of Attorney Hart E. Baker, at 1 North La Salle street. Members of the group agreed that hundreds of the 9,000 attorneys in the city were in need and as deserving of governmental aid as other groups now dipping into the federal till.

Mr. Baker, who was an assistant prosecutor under State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne, said the increasing number of lawyers, coupled with the lessened demand for legal services because of the depression, had brought about a dismal situation in the profession.

No Curb on New Lawyers.

"We would not curtail admissions to the bar in any way," said Baker. "Any man fitted for the law should practice, and, anyhow, destitution is not confined to any age group. There are many useful projects upon which men can use legal ability."

Attorney A. F. Rueben, with offices at 127 North Dearborn street, proposed, first of all, that lawyers make a survey of their own profession to find those on relief or in need.

"Then one group of needy lawyers," continued Rueben, "could certainly be useful in a codification of the municipal code. When ordinances are passed they are simply laid away somewhere, and in case an attorney wishes to refer to one he often finds it necessary to run around two or three days to find it."

Urge Study of Tax Laws.

Baker proposed that another group might wade through the maze of revenue and tax laws of the state and county to evolve a "modern, up to date system" for presentation to the legislature. He said the criminal code needed a "thorough housecleaning" and that laws of other states might be studied.

The group decided to call a large meeting of attorneys within a week or ten days. A committee was selected to call on Ralph H. Burke, deputy WPA administrator for Illinois, to ascertain requirements needy attorneys would have to meet to qualify for employment and the type of projects that would fit into the government program.

$526,000 FEDERAL FUNDS ALLOTTED TO ILLINOIS JOBS

Dispatches from Washington announced yesterday that President Roosevelt had allotted $526,860 in direct grants from the four billion dollar works progress fund for 11 Illinois projects. The grants are conditioned on contributions totaling $645,360 from the local communities sponsoring the works.

The only Cook county project in the group was for street surfacing and improvements in Evanston. The suburb had asked Uncle Sam for $190,800 and agred to furnish $233,200. Downstate projects were for road work, school buildings, and sewage plants.

Six Illinois projects calling for federal funds of $217,188 were approved by Ralph H. Burke, deputy state WPA administrator, and sent to Washington for approval. One of the projects, sponsored by the city of Chicago, would require $41,688 of federal money to finance an analysis of retail prices of 450 commodity items and services. The work would be done by the University of Chicago.

Oscar E. Carlstrom, former Illinois attorney general, took a swing at the New Deal before the Executive club at the Sherman hotel yesterday, holding that it encourages a psychology that "Santa Claus can continue indefinitly."

"So far has this been carried," he said, "that it is not uncommon to hear the expression, 'Why don't you go on relief? You are foolish to work when you don't have to.' Professional social workers, highly paid, have canvassed actively for 'clients' as they call relief cases.

"This course, persisted in, can have but one end—bankruptcy of government and bankruptcy of the moral fiber of the citizen involved. No one raises the slightest objection to the cost of providing aid and succor to those who are unemployable through unfortunate lack of physical or mental capacity, nor yet to those in need.

"But our present relief system has, for political, selfish and other indefensible causes, gone far beyond these laudable objectives."

H. L. Davis Wins Harper Prize with Tale.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Mary, Queen of Scotland and the Isles," by Stefan Zweig. [Viking.] To be published next Monday.

"The Life and Times of Catherine de Medici," by Francis Watson. [Appleton-Century.] Published yesterday.

THE Harper prize novel, "Honey in the Horn," chosen by a distinguished jury consisting of Sinclair Lewis, Dorothy Canfield, and Louis Bromfield, was officially published yesterday, although for three weeks all of those whose ears are pricked for such items of news have known that it was the first novel of its author, H. L. Davis, that it plunked $7,500 into his pocket with little more warning than Sutter had when he dug up a nugget in California, and that it is pay dirt for everybody . . . author and readers both.

"Honey in the Horn" is a natural. It is unlike any other book of our day, just as Maristan Chapman's "The Happy Mountain" and Elizabeth Madox Roberts' "The Time of Man" were unlike any other books of our day . . . and for the same reason, because all of them record not only a period and the people in that period unlike others, but record them in the local lingo and from the local psychology. Oregon in the prerailroad days is the period which Mr. Davis has chosen as his background and he has told its story with gusto and color and humor.

Takes His Hero All Over the State.

Mr. Davis has chosen a young boy running away from a tool-like part in a jail break for hero, and he thus has an excuse to take his hero all over the state of Oregon, a tour which is made with such thoroughness that the author's note at the beginning of the book has a tinge of irony when he says: "I had originally hoped to include in the book a representative of every calling that existed in the state of Oregon during the homesteading period—1906-'08. I had to give up that idea, owing to lack of space, lack of time, and consideration for readers. Within the limits set me, I have done my best." He didn't give up much of it . . . in 380 finely printed pages and in Clay's wanderings from one place and one group to another, he pretty well cleaned up the landscape and the assorted manual means of grubbing, shooting, spearing, and hooking a livelihood and the collected schemings of horse racers, toll bridge keepers, and potential city planners. "Honey in the Horn" is a literary long drink and a heady one. Those who like it at all will pass it around with the pride of one of Mr. Davis' heroes in his four gallon jug of just as local brew.

Predicts Popularity for Zweig's "Mary."

On Monday will arrive the awaited life of "Mary, Queen of Scotland and the Isles," as Stefan Zweig amplifies the familiar title. It is by the author of "Marie Antoinette," which was the most popular biography of 1933.

The same intricacy of detail which characterized "Marie Antoinette" fills the pages of "Mary, Queen of Scotland," but it is a different brand of detail. Herr Zweig has in the Scottish Mary a violently controversial subject. A good part of the source material about her is contradictory. In the case of the French Mary—Marie—facts can be accepted by the biographer. He can, and in the case of Herr Zweig did, spend his time and his sentences recording the details of the background, the spirit of the people which produced and surrounded his heroine.

Mystery in Facts and in Psychology.

The Scottish Mary is not only a mystery of fact, she is a mystery of psychology. Herr Zweig argues her case both as to data and as to her actions, subconscious as well as conscious. He accepts the casket letters as authentic, and argues their authenticity at length and very convincingly. He tells what is known of her actions, and at the same length and with almost as much success analyzes her states of mind. She was, according to Herr Zweig, a ravishingly beautiful young creature, with the most thorough culture of the civilized courts of Europe when she married the young dauphin and reigned for her brief moment as queen of France as well as queen of Scotland [which she became at the age of 6 days]. After her young husband's death she was the most brilliant pawn in the European marriage market, and then foolishly fell in love with Darnley, who proved to be a weakling, a braggart, a tool of her enemies, and became abhorrent to her physically as well as intellectually.

When Rizzio was murdered before her eyes, with what she knew to be her husband's connivance, Herr Zweig tells us that Mary, in that one night, swore vengeance and became—as she had never been before—an adept of cruelty. Her physical and spiritual thralldom to Bothwell made it possible for her to lure her husband to his murder. That thralldom the author treats in detail.

Puts Emphasis on Two Years.

The lifetime that Mary spent in England being shifted from one castle to another as a virtual prisoner Herr Zweig discusses at less length. He explains that the "peculiar compression of the happenings of her career into, as it were, one explosive surge of feeling dictates the form and rhythm of her biography," and he says that the reader "must, therefore, not feel a sense of disproportion because, in the chronological assignment of space in this book, the twenty-three opening years of Mary's life and the nineteen years of her imprisonment occupy fewer pages than do the two years of her tragical passions."

Herr Zweig, in less detail, but as piercingly, analyzes the character of Queen Elizabeth, ever vacillating, tragically influenced by the physical fact that she was not like other women.

"Mary, Queen of Scotland and the Isles" is a regimenting of all of the actual evidence about the most legendary of modern queens and a modern argument from that evidence as to her real character. And such earnest biographing is always fascinating to readers.

Catherine de Medici by Francis Watson.

Mary's French mother-in-law, Catherine de' Medici, is the subject of a much less detailed, much less argumentative, and likewise much less fascinating biography published yesterday. In it Francis Watson writes of her as the epitome of her period, "intellectually myopic."

In her lifetime, he says, "she had scarcely a single friend, and since her death she has had fewer still. Yet her personality remains as fascinating as the glittering and merciless age that died with her."

She will gain no friends from this chronicle, and, while her personality emerges from Mr. Wilson's pages glittering and merciless, one cannot truthfully call it fascinating.

Fascinating Story of "George the Fourth."

If not his hero, certainly the story the author tells about him in "George the Fourth" CAN be called fascinating. Roger Fulford has written one of those smart, but not smart alecky, rollicking, but not riotous, lives which are a delight to the English reading public [who received it as a choice of the English Book society] and a plum to the American reading public, who dearly love to read of royalty and its foibles.

Mr. Fulford has what is called "a pretty wit." He turns a phrase with as much skill as a coy and lovely southern belle turned an ankle, in the days when that was the most skilful way of landing in the young man's arms. Mr. Fulford's life of George the Fourth is nicely naughty [very nicely so, considering his subject] and delightfully amusing, even if it is a serious and modern revaluation of a flamboyant and extravagant figure.

Thrills of Winter Sports Described in First Novel

The first novel of a young American author, Deck Morgan, is written about winter sports and the daring men who take part in them. It's appropriately called "Winter Carnival"—[Messner].

Against a background of snow covered mountains, ski jumps, icy and tortuous bobsled runs, and hocky rinks the various characters move. They are not, somehow, so real as the sports in which they are engrossed. The pictures of the place itself [it sounds like Lake Placid] and the thrilling accounts of the bobsled races and ski jumps and hocky contests are by far the best pieces of writing in the book. They have the ring of authenticity about them.

Homesteading; Another Queen

H. L. DAVIS. STEFAN ZWEIG.

H. L. Davis, with a colorful, bouncing tale of the Oregon homesteading period, "Honey in the Horn," won the Harper prize novel contest. Stefan Zweig, author of the immensely popular "Marie Antoinette," writes the biography of another ill fated queen in "Mary, Queen of Scotland and the Isles." Both books are reviewed today.

From the Editor's Note Book

It wasn't hot enough to fry an egg on the sidewalk, although hot enough to scramble one's thoughts, when Will Durant sat behind a table in Kroch's book store plying a fountain pen faster than the paymaster who has to sign a couple of thousand checks at a time. And appropriate sentiments rather than a mere autograph went into the stream of "The Story of Civilization" that flowed under that flowing pen. If this volume sells 14,000 copies, Mr. Durant says that he will not put either his pen or his voice to any other use than work on the next volume of "The Story of Civilization."

He will retire, he says, to the sources of his material and devote the next five years to the next volume as he devoted the last five to this one. No more articles for magazines, no more lecturing; nothing but the intensive joy of research and writing. "The Story of Philosophy" has sold to date some hundreds of thousands of copies. Since it was published in 1926 Will Durant's shock of black hair has turned white, oddly enough making him look years younger than he did haloed in black . . . a matter of no literary importance, but comforting to a lady who is grizzling around the temples herself.

Mystery Fans Hear English Crime Writers

Host at Luncheon Makes Guests Pale.

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—Every month or so, Messrs. Foyle, big second hand booksellers in Charing Cross road, London, have a "literary luncheon," to which, besides members of the general public, some eminent writers are bidden. The eminent writers deliver appropriate speeches.

This practice of speakers at luncheons is quite familiar in America, but in England it is exceptional. The result is that the luncheons of Messrs. Foyle fill a place of their own in London life; there is nothing else quite like them. At the latest of the lunches an innovation was introduced; for it was a "Crime club" luncheon, organized at Messrs. Foyles' request by the publishing firm of William Collins, whose venture the "Crime club" is.

The head of the firm of Collins, I should mention, is Sir Godfrey Collins, at present secretary for Scotland in the national government.

At this luncheon there were present large numbers of well known mystery story writers; but in the chair, illumined by a green spot light, was the strangest figure of all—no less than the wax effigy, borrowed from Tussauds for the occasion, of Charles Peace. The figure made the stoutest of the guests pale; but fortunately the speakers were proof against terror.

Freeman Wills Crofts opened the ball; David Hume showed himself an expert in the argot of crime, and the Rev. John Ferguson, whose book, "Murder on the Marsh" [John Lane], is the nearest thing to Sherlock Holmes with which I am acquainted, said grace. At the September meeting of the Foyle Luncheon club the chief guest will be Rudyard Kipling.

"Beany-Eye" is the odd title of David Garnett's next book. It will be published in the fall by Messrs. Chatto & Windus and, like all Mr. Garnett's books, will be quite outside the ordinary range of the modern novelist. For one thing it is ostensibly the tale of a tramp (or hobo) told in the first person singular, but it is something more than that, for those who should know tell us that "Beany-Eye" contains a good deal of Mr. Garnett's own autobiography.

This should make it of particular interest not only for those who have already appreciated Mr. Garnett's highly original talent but for that larger audience which is eager to read what men have to say of themselves and their personal adventures in this strange world.

Such readers will find a book called "God Is My Adventure," by Rom Landau [Nicholson & Watson], absorbingly readable. This book is autobiographical journalism. It describes the author's search for faith and his contacts with various modern leaders of faith, from Count Keyserling to Frank Buchman, Ouspensky, and Krishnamurti.

*To be published in New York Sept. 19.

Words, Pictures Give Stirring Story of U. S. Coast Guard

A stirring and graphic account of the United States coast guard is painted by John J. Floherty in "Guardsmen of the Coast" [Doubleday-Doran]. The author-photographer has done a splendid job in picturing this important branch of the national defense force which, except during prohibition days when rum runners kept it busy, usually lags behind the army and navy in capturing public attention. His stunning photographs of Uncle Sam's coast coppers patroling their world-wide beat, ranging from the Arctic to the tropics, make a volume which should prove of value to any one interested in his country's marine achievements.

Charming Story of Taos Written by Mabel Luhan

It was Voltaire whose sage advice was that one should cultivate one's own garden, and nowhere is that advice sager than concerning writing. The everyday things about one, one's own intimate daily reactions, are rich material for gifted pens. Such material used with charm and intensity is the material of "Winter in Taos" [Harcourt Brace], by Mabel Dodge Luhan, who chronicles in it the whole cycle of the year in the lovely land in which she lives.

MYSTERY OF THE WEEK

BY MORTIMER QUICK

A fellow townsman has written an interesting book. From his vast experience Judge Marcus Kavanagh has taken a series of criminal cases and made them into a volume called "You Be the Judge" [Argus books], which proves that real crime and punishment is as sensational and sometimes as romantic as any detective story devised by the inventive mind of the seasoned writer of thrillers. Most of them are rather touching stories, too, and inspire new faith in the kindliness and penetration of criminal law as administered by such men as Judge Kavanagh and most of his colleagues.

Even the hard boiled prosecutor is given a break and proves himself a better man than his reported exploits have led us to believe. It is upon a certain sort of policeman that the judge bears most heavily and he is kindest of all to the criminals who pass before him, a sad procession of bad, but unfortunate men. There is nothing sentimental about these brief stories, justice is administered with conviction, but the author proves himself to be the possessor of a hard head and a very soft heart.

The material is so well handled that I found it difficult to put down the book before I had finished the last of the twenty-six cases. At the end of each you are asked to stop and consider what you would do if you sat in the judge's seat and to check your decisions. Judge Kavanagh's rulings are given at the back of the book. Perhaps after this preliminary flight he will expand others of his experiences into longer and more circumstantial tales. They would be good.

For a one word description of "The League of Frightened Men," [Farrar & Rhinehart], by Rex Stout, I am torn between two adjectives, cockeyed and screwy. For truly, Nero Wolfe, Mr. Stout's fat, philosophic, and entirely fabulous crime investigator is about as queer as they make 'em and at the same time catches your fancy. You may remember him if you read "Fer-de-Lance," indeed you would find it hard to forget him so strange are his habits and so astute is his glancing mind.

His cases are all pretty loopy, too, to judge from those recorded. He solves them in the intervals of tending his orchids and while drinking floods of beer. His assistant and recorder is young Archie Goodwin, quite a wisecracker in his own right and also Mr. Wolfe's best friend and severest critics.

This story has to do with a large group of Harvard graduates, class of '10 or '11 or thereabouts, who fear death at the hands of one of their less favored classmen. Everybody does the strangest things to avoid calamity and those who survive are finally put at ease by the strangest dénouement. I'd read it, if I were you, only if you don't like it, don't blame me and if it does please you give me the credit.

Reveals 'Scarlet Pimpernel' as Real, Charming Person

Although most readers [and perhaps movie fans] may think that "The Scarlet Pimpernel" was a figment of the clever Baroness Orczy's imagination, the gentleman who bore that title was a real person, Sir Percey Blakeney, and his charming and glamorous life is factually recorded in "The Life and Exploits of the Scarlet Pimpernel" [Washburn], by John Blakeney, who bears the same name but whose relationship to the hero is not officially stated. The Baroness Orczy has written a foreword to the book.

Reprint Travel Story of Ethiopia Written in 1928

An unusually timely reprint of a well written and popular travel book of 1928, brought up to date with 1935 comments by the author, is "The Last of Free Africa," by Gordon MacCreagh [Appleton-Century]. It tells of months spent in Ethiopia [then called Abyssinia] and makes clear considerable of the confusion surrounding the present rumpus with Italy.

An experiment to show you how often you miss books you promise yourself to read

THE FORTY DAYS OF MUSA DAGH

BY FRANZ WERFEL

A starving Armenian peasant in the days when the Turks were trying to wipe out the race wholesale; not very heroic in looks,—but it was a little group of men like this fighting for the preservation of their race, who in this novel warm one's blood to fever heat by their last-ditch courage.

EIGHT months ago the five judges of the Book-of-the-Month Club selected The Forty Days of Musa Dagh as the book-of-the-month. Over 50,000 of our more than 100,000 members elected to take it. In addition, within a few weeks, it became a national best-seller. The praise it received from critics all over the country was extraordinary. Without doubt you read about this book, heard it praised on all sides, and in all probability you said to yourself, "That is a book I surely want to read." But did you ever read it?

Time and time again (is it not true?) you miss notable new books, like this one, which you are extremely anxious to read. Have you, for instance, as yet read Life With Father, by Clarence Day; or Paths of Glory, by Humphrey Cobb; or Road to War, by Walter Millis; or National Velvet, by Enid Bagnold—to mention only a few of recent books-of-the-month that have been widely praised by critics, and which you probably promised yourself to read. And over the past few years there have undoubtedly been scores of books, which you were very anxious to read at the time, but which you would confess sadly you simply never "got around to."

This perpetual failure to "get around to" the new books you most want to read would never happen to you if you belonged to the Book-of-the-Month Club. That is what we want to prove to you, and at the same time to demonstrate the many material advantages of joining—for instance, the very valuable "book-dividends" distributed, free, among members, close to $1,000,000 worth every year.

By special arrangement with the publishers of The Forty Days of Musa Dagh, we have obtained the rights to give away up to 10,000 copies of the book in this experiment. And what we here propose is this: mail the inquiry below, and a copy of this great novel will immediately be put aside in your name, and held until we hear whether or not you care to join. In the meantime, a booklet will at once be sent to you outlining how the Club operates.

Study this booklet at your leisure; have the members of your family do likewise; you may be surprised, for instance, to learn that belonging to the Club does not mean you have to pay any fixed sum each year; nor does it mean that you are obliged to take one book every month, twelve a year (you may take as few as four); nor are you obliged, willy-nilly, to take the specific book-of-the-month selected by the judges. You have complete freedom of choice at all times.

If you are interested, it is advisable not to delay in mailing the inquiry coupon, in view of the limitation of copies placed on us by the publisher in this experiment.

FRANZ WERFEL

A FEW TYPICAL COMMENTS OF THE CRITICS:

SLAYER DENIES 'CONFESSION' OF KILLING 27 MEN

Youth Jailed in Kennett Case Retracts Story.

Auburn, Cal., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Earl [Bud] Kimball, itinerant prospector held in the Placer county jail on a double murder charge, today denied the story he told yesterday of having killed a total of 27 men.

It was said he still held to his alleged confession that he killed James G. Kennett Sr., retired Chicago business man, who was in the mountains for his health, and a 17 year old youth believed to have been T. Mangan, a Colfax, Cal., CCC worker. But he said he was "spoofing" the police about the 25 other persons he said he had killed.

Search Is Called Off.

On the strength of Kimball's denial, Sheriff Elmer Gum called off his previously announced plan of having a posse search for the burial places of the victims. He said he would quiz the 21 year old slayer further before sending men into the mountains to search abandoned mining shafts.

Kennett's body was found yesterday when an abandoned, water filled gold mine shaft was drained. The body of the youth believed to be Mangan was found earlier, floating in the water of a nearby shaft. Robbery apparently had been the motive for the two slayings.

Changes His Story.

The other confessed murders which Kimball denied today were those of J. J. [Radium] Johnson, a prospector; Realing or Grilling, a mine camp caretaker; three others concerning whose deaths he gave meager details and a score more victims for whose slayings he claimed responsibility but refused to discuss.

FORMER OFFICER OF CHICAGO BANK SUICIDE IN WEST

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—William L. McKee, 60, former vice president of a Chicago bank, committed suicide today by shooting himself in the heart as he sat on a bench in Pershing park. He had been on relief for some time.

For 13 years he was vice president of the Fort Dearborn National Bank of Chicago and when that institution was taken over by the Continental and Commercial National bank in 1922 he became an assistant cashier of the latter bank.

Notes he left gave a graphic picture of him growing old and earning less and less until he was finally on relief. He made $750 a month salary as vice president of the Chicago bank, then $450 a month as assistant vice president of a Los Angeles bank, $300 as general manager of a mining company, $110 as an apartment house manager, and in 1934 and 1935 he was unemployed and on relief.

BENGAL IS SWEPT BY FLOODS; 10,000 — MADE HOMELESS

CALCUTTA, India, Aug. 23.—(AP)—More than 10,000 persons were made homeless today as a result of extensive floods covering about 200 square miles in the Burdwan district of Bengal. There was small loss of life. The government is taking elaborate precautions to prevent an outbreak of epidemics.

Many Japs Missing in Flood.

TOKIO, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Floods similar to the disastrous series of last summer today struck the northern provinces of Aomori and Akita following torrential rains.

Ten were reported drowned and many are missing. Two hundred buildings were destroyed and more than 8,600 houses partially inundated. Railways were disrupted and thousands of acres of rice crops ruined.

NAME PUBLISHING CONCERN IN SUIT ASKING $100,000

A suit asking award of $100,000 damages was filed in the Circuit court yesterday against the Myers Publishing company, publishers of several north and northwest community papers, by H. Honig, owner of the Chief Cleaners, 2508 Devon avenue. The bill, drawn by Attorney Lloyd D. Elliott, cites an article printed in Aug. 21 issues of the North Town News and West Rogers Park News, which carried the assertion that garments cleaned by Honig's firm for 49 cents "are not kept in the cleaning fluid as long as those cleaned at 75 cents."

Fired, Two Workers Wreak $1,000 Damages on Plant

Two disgruntled ex-employés of the School Manufacturing company, 213 Schiller street, were captured by Hudson avenue police at the plant yesterday after they had broken in and done about $1,000 worth of damage. The two identified themselves as George Smith, 21 years old, 5136 Bishop street, and Anthony Musso, 23 years old, 1159 Sedgwick street. Harry Coldiron, office manager, said the two had been discharged for playing cards during working hours.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Meeting Postponed

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Long a favorite on the airways and with dancers, Hal Kemp is demonstrating at the Palace theater that he is a good show man, too. With the aid of Maxine Grey, Skinnay Ennis, Saxy Dowell, and Bob Allen, his talented group of vocalists, Kemp has them standing in line. Hal has been in New York for a year performing on the NBC networks, but few Chicagoans seem to have heard him much since he left W-G-N, he reported. A medley of numbers he introduced here two years ago won him the best round of applause yesterday.

"W-G-N is the greatest station in the country for orchestras," Hal declared. "I would rather have it as a radio outlet than all your so-called coast to coast hookups."

After playing several weeks of one nighters the Kemp men will return to New York for their second season at the Hotel Pennsylvania. They also have a commercial program on the fire. Maybe they will be paired with Xavier Cugat, the tango maestro, in a program to be sponsored by that Atlanta soft drink maker.

Helen Hayes revealed yesterday that she had turned down an offer of $85,000 for a single picture in order to concentrate on radio this season. And she added that she would curtail her theatrical activities until her radio serial, which is to be launched Tuesday, Oct. 1, on NBC, was well under way.

"I have nothing against Hollywood," Miss Hayes explained. "There simply is not room enough in my life to be active in the theater, on the screen, and over the radio at the same time and do justice to all of them."

The offer of $85,000 was to appear in the Hollywood version of "The Old Maid," this year's Pulitzer prize play.

Grandstand Thrills, W-G-N's dramatic show recreating sports highlights of the week, from 7:30 to 8 Monday evenings, is to be fed to WLW of the Mutual network, beginning Sept. 2.

Willis Cooper, who writes the macabre "Lights Out" show at NBC, will be a special guest of the Belfry Players when they present one of his "Lights Out" plays in the Belfry theater at Williams Bay, Wis., Monday evening. This theater really is an old church, built by Mormons about 1850. It still contains the original pews, oil lamps, and furnishings and is a point of historical interest in the Lake Geneva district.

Vivian Fridell, who plays the lead in the W-G-N-MBS show, "Backstage Wife," makes frequent appearances as a singer and monologist. Today she is to be the attraction at a charity program presented by the Wicker Park Lutheran church.

George Burns and Gracie Allen are winding up their present CBS series on Sept. 25. But they'll be back the following week with a new sponsor. The change is said to be a welcome one for George and Gracie because they are getting a boost in pay. They are reported receiving $2,750 per program now, which is something better than peanuts! But then Eddie Cantor and his crew are said to draw $10,000.

BOY, 8, FALLS 5 STORIES, BUT IS ONLY DAZED

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Johnny Cavannaugh, 8 years old, of 537 Bergen street, Brooklyn, flew through the air and landed five floors below with the greatest of ease this afternoon, but his feat broke up a game of hide and seek for his playmates and puzzled doctors and police so much that they took him to the hospital anyway.

The accident happened during a fast and furious game on the roofs of Johnny's home and two adjacent buildings. Johnny in his excitement tried to jump a four foot airshaft opening instead of going around and he missed. He fell five floors and landed in what must have been extra soft dirt. He picked himself up, frightened and dazed, sat down in a corner and waited till the ambulance came.

Recover Body of Man Drowned in Fox Lake

The body of Albert Runski, 33 years old, 1924 Cuyler avenue, who was drowned Thursday in Fox Lake, was recovered by authorities there yesterday. Runski had gone to the lake for an outing with his brother, Frank, and a cousin, Kenneth Huebner, 12 years old. He had taken a rowboat far out in the lake and was swimming around it when, apparently, he was seized with a cramp and sank.

DIVORCED WIFE SHARES IN WILL OF J. E. SLOCUM

The will of James Edward Slocum, 5139 Dorchester avenue, real estate operator, was admitted to probate yesterday by Edward Luczak, assistant to the probate judge.

The will, disposing of an estate estimated at $130,000, leaves securities of unannounced value in escrow with the Northern Trust company for Slocum's divorced wife, Laura S. K. Slocum, 1720 Taft avenue, Hollywood, Cal. The rest of the estate was placed in trust. Provisions of the trust include monthly payments of $50 for life to Martha J. Boice, Winnetka, an aunt, and to Mrs. R. Belle Teller, Los Angeles, and the rest of the income to Mrs. Johanna B. Jenny, 60 years old, lifelong friend and housekeeper for Mr. Slocum. Mrs. Jenny also was left his house and furnishings. At the death of the beneficiaries the trust will be divided among charitable and educational institutions. Slocum died May 31 at the age of 70.

PLANE TRIP GIVES POLICE CLEW TO COCHRANE KILLER

The search for the slayer of David K. Cochrane Jr., youthful Chicago attorney shot to death early Tuesday while interceding in a fight outside the tavern owned by Mrs. Elsie Anderson at 721 East 75th street, led to East St. Louis yesterday.

There Sergt. Thomas McLaughlin of the state's attorney's police, who made the trip by plane, found and questioned Fred Buck, 28 years old, 8320 Justine street, a milkman, whom Mrs. Anderson had said might be able to shed some light on the slaying. Buck, on vacation, was visiting with his uncle, Herman Buck, who owns a farm a few miles from East St. Louis.

After questioning Buck Sergt. McLaughlin said he was satisfied that the milkman had no guilty knowledge in the case. On information Buck furnished, however, search was begun in Chicago early today for two men, one of whom formerly was a habitue of Mrs. Anderson's tavern. Sergt. McLaughlin took a midnight train for Chicago.

Cochrane, a recent graduate of the University of Chicago, was killed when he went to the aid of a small man who was being beaten by a larger bully. The big man, enraged, drew a pistol and fired a .38 caliber bullet into Cochrane's head, killing him instantly.

Four of five witnesses held since the murder were released last evening after being questioned all day. The only one held was Joseph Zakar, 7400 Exchange avenue, for whom Cochrane interceded in the brawl which led to the killing.

COURT UPHOLDS CHARITY BEQUEST OF N. Y. SPINSTER

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—The deathbed desire of Miss Martha M. Hall, 5th avenue spinster, that her $4,000,000 fortune should go principally to charity, was upheld today in court.

Her will, which left no legacy to her brother, Henry J. S. Hall, was ruled valid by Surrogate James A. Delehanty.

Through the court decision, James Jay Morgan, drug magnate, ex-broker, and former chairman of the Better City Government league, is to proceed to spend the money "for the advancement of human welfare."

Mr. Morgan is executor of Miss Hall's will and an old personal friend.

Mysterious Gas Pipe Gun Death Declared Suicide

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide yesterday in the death of Miles Cramer, 38 years old, 4243 North Keeler avenue, who was found dead several days ago in his home. Investigation showed that Cramer, an amateur inventor, killed himself by loading a gas pipe with a cartridge and placing the pipe over a gas plate until the heat discharged the improvised weapon.

PROF. OGBURN IS NAMED ARBITER IN MILK DISPUTE

Prof. William F. Ogburn, University of Chicago sociologist, yesterday was selected as the third member of the board which will arbitrate disputes between the Chicago Milk Wagon Drivers' union, local 753, and their employers, the Associated Milk Dealers. The drivers had threatened to strike unless their $40 weekly wage was increased.

Arbitration will begin on Sept. 3. The union spokesman will be James G. Kennedy, vice president. Attorney Loy N. McIntosh will represent the dealers. These two chose Prof. Ogburn as the third member.

In negotiations which led first to the union's vote to strike and later to arbitrate, the drivers claimed they had taken two $5 per week cuts since the depression with the understanding that these would be restored when milk prices went up.

The Pure Milk association's advisory committee voted to return to the old base and surplus plan of payment for milk, which was discarded in December, 1934, at the close of an all day session yesterday at the Auditorium. Under this system farmers receive one price for 90 per cent of their base milk and another price for the remaining 10 per cent sold on a surplus basis. Chicago dealers have been paying farmers for their milk on the basis of its uses, falling into four classes.

GROUP HOSPITAL INSURANCE UP TO COMMITTEE HERE

A committee of the Chicago Hospital association met in the Hotel Sherman yesterday to begin a study of group hospitalization with the object of reporting to the association some plan feasible to Chicago hospitals. J. Dewey Lutes, superintendent of the Ravenswood hospital, heads the committee.

He said that Chicago hospitals may launch such a project after the first of the year. Group hospitalization, Lutes asserted, might easily be operative in large business houses or industrial plants on the basis of insuring hospitalization at any time for participants who would pay a set sum each month.

Other members of the committee are Asa Bacon, superintendent of the Presbyterian hospital; Dr. A. C. Bachmeir, director of Billings hospital; Maurice Dubin, superintendent of Mount Sinai hospital, and the Rev. John W. Barrett, diocene director of the Catholic hospitals of this area.

PLUME OF SMOKE CLEW TO 4 LOST IN ALASKA WILDS

JUNEAU, Alaska, Aug. 23.—(AP)—A plume of smoke, reported seen curling upward from the uninhabited 40 mile country, renewed hope today in the aerial search for four persons and a plane missing since Monday.

Gov. John W. Troy was notified of the smoke in a message from Murray Hall, aeronautics inspector in charge of six pilots searching along the Alaska-Yukon territory border.

The lost plane, piloted by Arthur F. Hines, left Dawson, Y. T., last Monday for Fairbanks, Alaska, with three passengers, Mr. and Mrs. John Lonz and Alton Nordale, all of Fairbanks. It was last seen about Monday noon over Chicken, Alaska, 100 miles west of Dawson.

Pilot S. Christenson, one of the six aerial searchers, sighted the smoke plume. The missing plane carried a supply of rations, firearms, and tools sufficient for its occupants to eke out an existence for several days in case of an emergency landing.

In the project is O. D. Woodward, who in thirty years produced more than 1,000 plays, six years ago started "Dracula" on the west coast for a thirty-five week run.

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—John N. Willys, automobile manufacturer and former ambassador to Poland, is seriously ill at his home in Riverdale, it was learned tonight from members of the family. He is 61 years old.

Although semi-paralyzed, it was said that Willys is fully conscious. Mrs. Willys is in virtually constant attendance and the former envoy's only daughter, Mrs. José Delanda, also visits him frequently.

Willys was stricken early in May and had been recuperating until recently when he suffered a relapse.

Keosauqua, Ia., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Leighton Abernathy, 26, held here as the leader of a southern Iowa and northern Missouri robbery gang, escaped today. Abernathy broke from a deputy sheriff while being taken to the county attorney's office for questioning, ran out of the courthouse, jumped into an automobile, which apparently was driven by a waiting accomplice, and fled. The bandit suspect was arrested at Newton, Ia., three weeks ago.

ONLY $477 LEFT IN TREASURY OF FIREMEN'S RELIEF

Rockford Secretary Short $11,000.

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Fire Chief Thomas D. Blake today said Ernest A. Gustafson, veteran secretary of the Rockford Fire department, had confessed a shortage of $11,000 in the Firemen's Relief association accounts.

The money represents years of saving and investment on the part of every member of the fire department, as well as receipts from biennial dances and gifts to the department. The fund is used for sick benefits and similar purposes.

Gustafson submitted his resignation to Chief Blake several days ago. Today he turned over books and cash on hand amounting to $477 to Fireman Ray Juhlin, president of the Firemen's Relief association.

He is reported to have told Juhlin "you might as well know that all the association money is gone."

Chief Blake said he was told the money was lost in the stock market. The secretary, he said, denied taking $2,100 in cash from the fire department safe three years ago.

Resorts Call Record Throngs to Late Outings

BY JUDITH CASS.

BY this time next week many Chicago families will have scattered to resorts and country places for a long and gay Labor day week-end. Stay at homes undoubtedly will spend the most of their time at the country clubs or motor out of town for Sunday or Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison Waud and Mrs. Waud's brother and sister-in-law, the Harold B. Smiths, are looking forward to the holiday because it means a trip to Charlevoix where they will have three days' sailing and swimming as the guests of the Harold C. Smiths in their summer home. Mr. and Mrs. William M. Collins Jr. will accompany the former Anne Smith and Mr. Waud and the young Smiths.

The Francis R. Dickinsons will have their Charlevoix house full of young guests over Labor day week-end, for both of their daughters, Alice May and Dorothy, are entertaining friends. Right now Miss Barbara Fortune is with the Dickinsons, but she is going on to Wequetonsing to be the guest of her aunt, Miss Joanna Fortune, for Labor day. Others at the Dickinson home now are Ross J. Beatty Jr. and Robert Spiel.

As soon as the Dickinsons return from Charlevoix on or about Sept. 15, plans will be made for the marriage of Dorothy to William A. Little some time in November, Mr. Little's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alden H. Little, are going to spend Labor day at the Roaring Brook inn, which is near Harbor Point, Mich.

At her house in Wequetonsing Miss Fortune will also have her nephew, Peter Fortune, for Labor day. Another nephew, Tommy Fortune, is with her now.

The Richard M. Lamports are staying with Mrs. Lamport's parents, the LeRoy Kramers, in Harbor Point until after the first of next week and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr., the former Rosamund Baker, are stopping at a little inn near Harbor Point.

Incidentally the annual cabaret party is to be held at the Little Harbor club at the point tonight and one of the largest groups of guests will be that of Mrs. Edwin P. Dewes. Mrs. Dewes is entertaining with her two daughters, Dorothy and Elizabeth, who is to be one of the season's debutantes.

Miss Virginia Waller is expected from the west in time for a Harbor Point Labor day, but the young Henry L. McIntyres, who are there now, will have left for the east by next week-end. They are going down to Cape Cod for the wedding of Arthur Calsee, who was an usher at the wedding of Mr. McIntyre and the former Winifred Wheeler. Mr. McIntyre now is to serve Mr. Calsee in the same capacity.

Desbarats is sure to be teeming with guests at every island home over Labor day. Miss Jane Morton usually has friends up for the long holiday, and Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Proxmire's hospitable camp never is without guests.

Pike Lake, Wis., is another popular rendezvous for the week-end, and the younger members of the Ashcraft clan already have made plans to be there. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Ashcraft III. and Mr. Ashcraft's two sisters, Miss Virginia Ashcraft and Mrs. Raymond O. Mitchell, and Mr. Mitchell will drive north for the short vacation. Miss Betty Brawley also will join the Ashcrafts, as well as two young men from New York. Miss Frances Weary, William Drake, and Daniel Callahan will be in another group going up immediately after Labor day.

Milton Morses at Spring Lake.

The Milton M. Morses and their two daughters, Miss Priscilla and Miss Barbara, who will be a debutante this year, have been in Spring Lake, Mich., for the last few weeks, and they will entertain guests over Labor day. Miss Eleanore Thompson will spend the holiday with the Allen B. Ripleys in Lake Geneva. Among other house parties in Lake Geneva

Front Views and Profiles

PARTENKIRCHEN, Bavaria.—The towers and battlements of Neuschwanstein—first of the castles built by Ludwig II.—children of a sick brain, rise, feudal and romantic, above the steep mountain path by which it must be reached. It was up this mountainside that the loyal peasantry rushed that night in June, 1886, to defend their king when word reached them a commission was on its way from Munich to place him under restraint. And it was from this castle he finally departed, to remain in confinement one day at Burg before his body was found, with that of his jailer, in the waters of Starnberger See.

ATYPICAL fairy tale castle, the interior is a disappointment. Although there are the watch towers and dungeons of a medieval stronghold, inside there is no knights' hall, no armor room, no ancient chests, no signs of the chase. Ludwig's imitation of a medieval castle stopped short of the interior. The castle was to be a glorification of the Nibelungen. Ludwig was still under the influence of Wagner when it was begun, although by then Wagner was living in Switzerland with Cosima, having been forced out of Munich by the people, who thought his influence too strong over their young king. The halls and rooms of Neuschwanstein are frescoed with Tannhäuser and Parsifal and Lohengrin legends, for the legend of the swan actually centers about the territory in which the castle is situated. "There is something tawdry and pathetic about the vast, empty throne room with the mosaic apse, the endless corridors frescoed with Teutonic legends, the plushy apartments, the Gothic gloom, the Wagnerism run wild," says Henry Channon in his "The Ludwigs of Bavaria."

There is a piano (not the same one on which Wagner played to the king) in the great Singer-Saal, on the fourth floor of the castle, and rows of concert chairs. Now great crowds climb the mountainside to hear Wagnerian music in concerts that commemorate the friendship between king and composer, once the cause for public censure.

Ludwig's absorption in the Lohengrin theme is expressed in the swans repeated everywhere as the decorative motif. Silver swans are woven into the hangings and upholstery, embossed on the pigskin cushions of the benches that line the corridors; metal swans form the door handles; and swans are the decorative motif of the painted iron chandeliers.

Passing through the little town of Füssen, some ten minutes' run from the castle, I was amused to note that the cream puffs in the bakery window were in the shape of swans also.

We make no attempt to add to the mountains of words written and spoken in lamentation and eulogy, but if you wish to forget the screaming black headlines and the tragedy they told some few days past—if you'd like to see the much loved Will Rogers in the sort of rôle that helped make him known and loved throughout the country, this film will bring him back to you as most of us probably prefer to remember him.

In "Steamboat Round the Bend" he's the same old Will—homely, wrinkled face, shock of wiry hair, keen eyes and gentle drawling voice. The story is laid in the 1880s when steamboats plied the Mississippi. As Doctor John, a patent medicine salesman, he's anxiously awaiting the day when his handsome young nephew, Duke, will finish his work as pilot on one of the commercial boats and join him on his own old ramshackle craft, the Claremore Queen. The good natured villain of the piece is Irvin S. Cobb, owner of the Pride of Paducah, the newest and biggest boat on the river, who taunts Doctor John into making a bet on the river race soon to be held, with his beloved boat as the stake.

When Duke finally arrives, however, he's in no position to assume his duties at the wheel of the Claremore Queen, having murdered a man and having attached unto himself a wild wisp of a girl from the swamps, labeled Fleety Belle. Duke goes to jail and poor old Doc is left with a young lady on his hands plus the problem of preventing his young nephew from "going and getting himself hung."

Eugene Palette and Stepin Fechit help things along by being very funny in their respective modes, and Anne Shirley is sufficiently appealing as Fleety Belle. She works well with young John McGuire, likable young chap, quietly impressive in his rôle as Duke.

Like all Rogers' pictures, without him, it wouldn't be much—but with him it's completely satisfying.

Memorable is the final scene—wherein we find Mr. Rogers—all his troubles finally solved, seated peacefully alone on the after deck of his Claremont Queen, pipe in hand, idly and contentedly dreaming over the misty wake that trails the boat as it glides down the calm, majestic river.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A woman physician who is also a beauty adviser urges women to go bicycling for beauty's sweet sake. It's good for the complexion as well as the silhouette.

A noted woman physician who doesn't go along with many of the profession on the theory that so long as you're healthy you shouldn't yern to be handsome passed through town yesterday and stopped off to see us. Know what her latest beauty rule is? Hop on a bike and pedal places!

She says there's nothing like it for the figger and for the system in general. Says it makes you healthy, handsome, and graceful. Since bicycling brings just about every muscle of the body into play, it's only logical that it should be an effective combination of pleasure with the business of trimming down the bulges of flabby fat that mar the perfection of some of our best silhouettes.

It's marvelous for the circulation, too, and in that respect is a whale of a good beautifier. Complexions bloom when circulation is stimulated. This doctor agrees with us that many a case of sallow, coarse skin or skin that is inordinately dry could be cleared up if the sufferers would approach their problem from the standpoint of circulation improvement.

Then there is the advantage of getting all that fresh air. Doing a whole flock of physical jerks, even the best of them, in your room at home can't compare with getting a good workout in the great outdoors. That's a hundred times better for bringing a glow to your skin and a sparkle to your eyes.

You might consider this as your start toward winter beauty. With the worst of the heat disappearing the weather will be grand for pedaling along the road. But don't argue with automobiles or you won't live to enjoy your good looks.

It shouldn't be necessary for us to remind you that getting hold of a bike is one of the easiest things to do. You can rent them all over the countryside.

Cavallo Leads Band in Good Park Program

BY EDWARD MOORE.

P. A. Cavallo, the director of a first class symphonic band and an expert in the direction of band music, was the leader of the program in Grant park last night. Much of his program was operatic, with excerpts from "Parsifal," "Tosca," and "Andria Chenier," works which he and his band are both technically and temperamentally fitted to project with fine effect.

But Mr. Cavallo is not always a specialist of the opera. For American music he presented "In Hibernia," an overture by George Gault of Chicago, a well written piece founded on several Irish tunes, and also a suite called "The Gay Nineties," which would seem to have included most of the good tunes of that melodious era. Other none too frequently heard works were Paganini's "Perpetual Motion," arranged by Gabriel Tose, and Hubbell's "Poor Butterfly," arranged by Peter A. Cavallo Jr.

Of assisting artists there was one duo pair and one soloist. Giuseppe Cavadore and Hazel Sanborn gave a first class performance of the duets, "Parigi, o cara" from "La Traviata" and the "Sweetheart" song from Romberg's "Maytime."

Jeannette van der Velpin, a coloratura soprano of unusual beauty of voice, sang the waltz song from Gounod's "Mireille," which is not only a charming melody, but which gives the soloist an opportunity to reach the high F, an opportunity of which this artist made the most.

The Woman's Symphony orchestra will play tonight under the direction of Ebba Sundstrom. Agatha Lewis, soprano, and Winfred Stracke, bass, two good singers, will appear in duets. The program:

1. Overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor".....Nicolai
2. Suite—"Nell Gwynn".....German
3. "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes," arranged by.....Soderstrom
4. Selections from "The Magic Flute".....Mozart
   Miss Lewis and Mr. Stracke.
5. Overture to "The Bat".....J. Strauss
6. Overture, "Mardi Gras"....Edward Collins
   [The composer conducting]
7. Ballet Suite, "Sylvia".....Delibes
8. Duet, "Sweetheart" from "Maytime".....Romberg
   Miss Lewis and Mr. Stracke.
9. Huldigungsmarch from "Sigurd Jorsalfar".....Grieg
   "The Star Spangled Banner"

Plans are under consideration for two more operatic programs to be presented at Navy pier, on Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, although the performances of tonight and tomorrow night have been canceled. Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, estimates the loss of the performances last Sunday and Monday to have been $2,000, with receipts of $1,600 and expenses of about $3,600.

Gennaro Papi, musical director of the Chicago opera, has so nearly recovered from his illness that he has been able to leave the Presbyterian hospital and is now recuperating for a period of several weeks in Ravinia, near the park where he used to be a star of that company's conductors.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Bigger and better rôles—leading rôles, in fact—are ahead of Winifred Shaw, the torch singer. Loss of 38 pounds in sixty days did the trick for her. And for the girls who are interested in how she did it, Miss Shaw stuck bravely to a raw vegetable diet, a small broiled tenderloin steak three times a week being the pièce de résistance of her menu. Yesterday Miss Shaw was down to a slim 122 pounds, and it naturally follows that she weighed in the neighborhood of 160 before she attempted to reduce.

In her first several pictures at the Warner studio Miss Shaw did little more than sing. As a reward for winning her weight fight she was assigned to an outstanding rôle in "Broadway Hostess." . . . Winifred said that her diet was not too difficult and that she never wanted for anything to eat.

Romeos take notice. Betty Grable, who is attracting attention these days, is not the marrying type. Miss Grable disclosed yesterday that she had made a sworn promise to her mother she will not make a trip to the altar for six years. This decision was reached on the theory that marriage and career will not mix for a young girl. She is 18 years of age and she and her mother, she avers, came to the conclusion not to take any step which would endanger her future after the hard struggle getting where she is. Her current picture is "To Beat the Band" at RKO and the person with whom she is most frequently seen lately is Vic Satti, the agent.

When they start something in England they finish it in a hurry. Two days ago Mae West received a cabled offer of $30,000 for two weeks of personal appearances in London. Inasmuch as she is soon to start "Klondike Lou" at Paramount she sent regrets. Apparently London expected an immediate answer instead of a date later, for at 5 o'clock the next morning a telephone call direct from Europe came to her apartment requesting an answer. Mae politely declined and turned over and went to sleep for another hour before her morning walk.

Moderator Here

The Rev. Dr. Joseph A. Vance of Detroit, moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, will be the preacher tomorrow at the Fourth Presbyterian church, the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson, has announced. Dr. Vance will speak at the morning service at 11 o'clock and at the night service at 8 o'clock. Dr. Vance's morning subject will be, "The Call to Prayer." As moderator of the general assembly Dr. Vance leads a church of nearly 2,000,000 members. His older brother, Dr. Joseph I. Vance of Nashville, Tenn., was the moderator of the southern Presbyterian church.

New Costume Jewelry Comes in High Color

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Everybody's going in for color, from blazing colored kitchen utensils to costume jewelry. Some new costume jewelry just unpacked has been presented this week to the college shopper, but it's good enough looking to please the most exacting collector of color. It's ideal accent stuff for tweeds and street woolens and the eye catching colors will stop traffic.

The prices are easy on the budget whether yours is a college clothes allowance or a modest stipend at the end of every week. What you will cheer about is the variety of colors. For the first time you can buy bracelets, clips, and pins of that formerly unfindable color, mustard gold. These come in featherweight composition material. There are dark brown bracelets and decorative clips and chest pins, combined with gold metal, that will be just what you want for all light green, beige, and brown clothes.

You've found red before, but this time you'll see fire truck scarlet costume jewelry that will make you gasp. There are some dubonnet reds combined with silver or gold metal. Deep green, knockout accents for gray and all light green tones, are another find.

Some college going jewelry is featured at remarkably low price marks for such good looking loot. There are chokers of simulated pearls for the necks of your pet sweaters, some dusky gold composition decorations for "coke dates" and all this other stuff for tweeds, afternoon, and street clothes.

Last, but not least, are the glittering effects you'll need for parties and teas, the shining clips, bracelets, and earrings and the tiny new doo-dads for your hair of rhinestones and pearl and rhinestone combined.

In the Chinline Lies Success of Autumn Chapeau

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

You're thinking about the fall bonnet right now? But how about the chin? Can you take it off there as well and graciously as you can take it on?

I've been doing a bit of experimental work with a woman who is out of a job for the moment and whose chinline she felt needed some looking after to make her ready for the September job promise. And believe me, my sisters, all that was wrong with the woman's chin was the crooked spine position in which she'd been indulging for years. The flabby roll that graced the underchin area would not have been there at all if it hadn't been for the way she had overstretched her neck muscles which, in turn, sagged all out of place and gave her the elderly look of chin. In order to correct the chin fault the woman was put right away on posture corrective work. "Great Scott," she said the other day "who'd ever have thought of the spine throwing one's chin down that way?"

It does that. Recently I've been seeing something of a woman who is in her mid-sixties. And what a chinline that woman has! But you ought to see the way she carries herself. It is explanation enough of that fine profile she shows.

Most women, when they discover a chin coarsening, begin asking about massage manipulation and creams. Good enough query so far as it goes, but if you want to iron out that under chinline in quick time you can do it with posture corrective work more quickly than any other way I know.

Here's a little test for you chin worried sisters. Get an eyeful of yourself, side view, in a mirror. Take a look "as is" [slightly damaged, as the store check says]. Then pull your head up as it should be and note that chinline refining. The neck will be the same length back and front, which is at it should be.

Then there's that other curse of the rounded shoulder. I refer to the neck thickening at the back, down into the shoulder blades. When you get that lump and another under your chin you have a pair of distressing looking twins. No one ever will call that picture the neck of poise and grace.

Neck muscles are as pliable and elastic as can be. When you pull them too long in front, with the head drooping, you lengthen those front muscles and, eventually, find yourself with an extra chin, without which you could get along far more beautifully.

The Husband Snatcher

SYNOPSIS.

After two years of marriage, Nancy and Dick Heritage are still greatly in love. Though Nancy is hated by Edith Heritage, her mother-in-law, she has come to live with them in their little house in Primrose Dene, near London. There is a gap of four years in Nancy's life which she had not satisfactorily accounted for. Nancy is informed by Mr. Sam Digger, attorney, that she has been bequeathed £5,000 by Miss Agnes Satchell, late governor of a girls' reformatory, where Nancy had been committed for four years. Nancy had been employed by a Mrs. Lane and was accused of theft. Sylvia, Mrs. Lane's daughter, was the real culprit. Sylvia threatened to kill herself if Nancy exposed her. Nancy foolishly took the blame, though she possessed a signed confession from Sylvia. Miss Satchell believed in Nancy's innocence. Nancy learns that her sole remaining relative, an aunt, has been killed in China. Dick and his mother are displeased when they learn that Nancy is expecting a baby. Edith Heritage invites a friend, Mrs. Lane, and her daughter, Sylvia, for tea. Nancy pleads a dentist's appointment. The Lanes arrive just as Dick comes home. They are startled when they see Nancy's photograph, but Sylvia, who is interested in Dick, explains that Nancy had lived with them and they'd had a misunderstanding, but bygones were bygones. Nancy returns home after the Lanes had left. That evening Dick disappears. He returns later intoxicated. A taxi driver calls the next morning to collect fares for two girls and two men. That evening Sylvia calls on Dick at the architect's office where he is employed, asks him to plan a house for her, and boldly invites herself to his home for dinner. Sylvia assures Nancy that her secret of the reformatory is safe. She asks Nancy for the written confession, but Nancy tells her she had torn it up. Sylvia's new home is started and Dick spends most of his time with her. Dick gets a message from Mr. Digger asking Nancy to call at his office. She calls and learns she has inherited another small legacy from her aunt. Mr. Digger suggests that she pass the two legacies off as one. He also offers his help if she is ever in trouble. Nancy returns home unobserved and overhears Sylvia begging Dick to get a divorce.

INSTALMENT XXIV.

WANING LOVE.

There was one thing for which to be thankful, thought Nancy; no one knew she was in the house, no one would come tapping at that door to interrupt her wretched solitude.

She flung off her hat and sat down on the edge of the bed, elbows in knees, hands supporting her head. There were no tears in her eyes—only a desperate, hunted look.

Her gaze fell upon the chest of drawers in which she had begun to collect the outfit for her baby—not the necessaries, but dainty trifles she had been unable to resist with money in her pocket.

Anything contributed by Dick was not fit to be touched by her child. As for Sylvia Lane, she was the same false friend, the same sneak.

Nancy did not know how long she sat there; time cannot be measured in terms of emotion. What roused her finally was the gentle purr of Sylvia's car. Then she sprang to her feet and ran to the window, careful to screen herself from observation. But that precaution was scarcely needed. Neither Dick nor Sylvia had eyes for anything but each other.

Although the engine had been started and Sylvia had taken her seat,

Dick stood there with one foot on the running board, leaning towards her as she was leaning towards him, while they talked earnestly together.

Then Sylvia began to put on her gloves, but before she got the second one on, Dick lifted her bare hand to his lips and kissed it.

Nancy turned away from the window. She approached her dressing table and sat down before it, staring into the mirror. Her hair was dishevelled and had a limp, lifeless look—her pretty hair! She brushed it straight back from her forehead, revelling with a sort of perverse satisfaction in the plain, ungarnished look it gave her.

Hark! Yes, that was the car driving away. Downstairs a door slammed and she heard Dick whistling a Viennese waltz tune.

What should a wife do when she found she was losing her husband's love? There were so many recipes. One of them advised a flirtation with another man, but unfortunately Nancy was too severely handicapped by nature to try that cure.

She studied her features dispassionately, as though the face they composed belonged to a stranger, taking a hand mirror and regarding herself from every possible angle.

Well, of course, the features themselves were flawless; she had been told so often enough, and not merely by the whistling traitor downstairs. But her skin had taken on a peculiar bluish-white look which made it seem as though she had lost vitality and most certainly something must be done about her hair.

Where were those big pearl earrings Dick had given her when they were married? She hadn't worn them for a long time. And the box of cosmetics, which hitherto she had only resorted to for those infrequent gala nights when Dick had taken her out to dine and dance. She had a new dress in her wardrobe of bright Madonna blue that she had bought a few weeks ago and been afraid to wear lest her extravagance be criticized.

She put it on and she put on the pearl earrings and a considerable amount of makeup and she brushed new life into her wilting hair, enhancing its luster with a few drops of brilliantine. As a final touch, she reddened her fingernails.

What was it all for? Merely a pitiful attempt to remind her husband that as far as looks went she could more than hold her own against Sylvia Lane? Scarcely that. The masquerade—if it could be described as such—was more for her mother-in-law than for Dick.

It was within half an hour of dinner time now, and so engrossed had Nancy been at this task of reviving the old glory that she had completely forgotten her neglected household duties. As far as she knew there wasn't a thing in the house to eat.

Appalling thought—for a hungry man cannot satisfy himself merely by feasting on a wife's beauty; and a hungry mother-in-law wouldn't even try.

As Nancy turned the key to let herself out she heard Dick bounding up the stairs. He didn't even call out to see if she was there—being sure in his own mind, of course, that she wasn't—but went straight to the little back bedroom.

Nancy waited until she heard the door close and then flew down to the kitchen. The bare cleanliness which confronted her reminded her of something else she had forgotten. It was Minnie's afternoon and evening out and on such occasions Nancy always got the dinner herself. Minnie, no doubt, had supposed she would bring something in with her, a steak or some cutlets, and there was always a tin of soup which could be opened.

The larder, however, revealed itself as a good imitation of Mother Hubbard's famous cupboard.

Nancy shrugged her shoulders. They would just have to go out to dinner. Perhaps she could endure the sight of Dick across a restaurant table better than in her own dining room. It would be less personal.

It would be her "treat" and this was a night to celebrate. Had she not come into a fortune and discovered at the same time that she had lost her husband? O, quite obviously an occasion to celebrate!

Edith Heritage was not in her room and the room itself looked a trifle bare. There were no fitments on the dressing table, for one thing.

"I say, where on earth have you been all this time?" he demanded. Then he saw her and his expression changed. "Phew!" All dressed up. When did you come in, Nance?"

"Some time ago," Nancy replied.

"Do I?"

He made a move to take her into his arms, but Nancy drew back sharply.

"Don't, please—I'm all over powder and lipstick. Where is your mother?"

"O, didn't you know? She had a telegram this afternoon from Mrs. Lane inviting her to spend a long week-end at Bournemouth, so she went off. We're not to expect her back until Tuesday."

Dick himself looked more handsome than usual to his heartsick young wife. And he was changing into his despised dinner jacket suit.

"Aren't you going to help me with my tie, old girl?"

Reluctantly Nancy came close while he lifted his chin to give her a free hand with the tie. She did not want to touch him, and at the same time every fiber of her being clamored to draw even nearer and invite the embrace of his arms. She gritted her teeth, telling herself that she hated him, and that was partly true, too. Indescribably hateful he was to her at this moment.

"By jove, it completely went out of my mind that you were seeing that fellow, what's-his-name, today! You know—the solicitor johnny."

"I expect you had more important things to think about," Nancy said spitefully.

"What do you mean? What have I done now?"

Her hands were trembling so that she found it difficult to make the bow come right, and they were itching, too, to slap the hypocrite's face. It seemed as though her feelings could be relieved in no other way, but she did not yield to the violent impulse.

"I can't tie this. You'll have to do it yourself. I expect I'm a bit excited or upset or something. When you said perhaps I'd been left a fortune, you were nearer right than you thought. I have been left quite a considerable fortune."

Elsie Janis Tells Why Her Husband Is Infrequent Caller

North Tarrytown, N. Y., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Elsie Janis disclosed today why her husband, Gilbert Wilson, visited her infrequently while she was in Grasslands hospital and why he is spending little time at their home while she is recuperating from severe auto accident injuries.

Wilson has gone on the stage, and Miss Janis is not surprised, she said, for he is such a "tall, handsome, blond chap." He got a part, his first in a major production, without saying he was Elsie Janis' husband. He is rehersing now with "Jubilee" in New York.

"So here I am without my baby," said Miss Janis. "I know that people say things about Elsie Janis and her young husband. But let me tell you that Janis has the swellest young husband in the world and she is very much in love with him."

What kind of vinegar is best for pickling.

How is sauerkraut made?

What causes catsup to spoil?

The first question, which came to us from Mrs. T. I. of Downer's Grove, is best answered by a short description of the various types of vinegars. According to particular use, sometimes one kind is used and sometimes another.

Cider vinegar is the most familiar of the lot. It is an amber colored liquid made from apple juice, and it's known for its excellent flavor, aroma, and its sharp acid taste. Similar vinegars also are made from the juices of such fruits as peaches and grapes. These fruit vinegars usually are amber in color, except that made from white grapes, which is colorless. These colored vinegars are used if the flavor and aroma of the pickles are the most important considerations. When color seems more important they sometimes are passed up for the white vinegars, for they do tend to darken such products as horseradish, white onion, or cauliflower pickles. For such pickles white grape vinegar often is used.

The white vinegars [other than the white grapes or white wine types] are formed as by-products in the manufacture of yeast, and are called malt, distilled, or spirit vinegars. They contain about the same acetic acid content as the fruit juice vinegars, but because they lack their fruity flavor and fragrance they may seem more harsh in taste. In the case that the color of the pickles may be changed, or when price is an important item, these vinegars frequently are used. This vinegar is used most frequently in commercial pickles, because of its low price and more constant acid content.

10 ounces [about 1 cup] cooking salt

Let the cabbages stand at room temperature for two days to wilt. Remove all decayed and dirty leaves, then wash and quarter the heads, discarding the core. Shred the cabbage, cutting about 5 pounds at a time. Weigh out these five pound portions, mix lightly with 2 ounces [or a scant ¼ cup] of salt, taking care not to bruise the cabbage. Pack the mixture into a 4 gallon crock, or paraffined wooden container, pressing down firmly with a large wooden masher, but not pounding lest the kraut become bruised and softened. When the salt has dissolved the brine should nearly fill the container.

Cover the jar with a clean muslin cloth pushed down into the sides and a plate or paraffined board which fits loosely inside the container. On this cover put an adjustable weight heavy enough so that the brine comes up only to the bottom of the covering. A glass jar filled with water is a good weight, as its weight may be easily changed if necessary.

The jar is placed in a warm place where fermentation may begin at once. A temperature of 70 to 75 degrees F. usually is used, in which case the fermentation is completed in from two to four weeks. Fermentation is more rapid at higher temperatures, but spoilage is more likely to take place. The temperature may even be reduced to 65 to 70 degrees, which means a longer fermenting period.

A scum usually forms on the surface of the brine within a few days. It should be removed frequently and the covering cloth washed as often. When the fermentation is completed [bubbles will cease to rise] the kraut should be kept in a cool place, carefully covered, or canned.

The causes of the spoilage of home canned catsup are asked by Miss J. L. of Dubuque, Ia. If less vinegar is used than a standard recipe calls for the result may be spoilage of catsup, just as it may be if the vinegar is added before the last 5 minutes of the cooking. Other causes might be faulty bottling or sealing.

These Pointers Keep Marriage Happy Venture

Questionnaire Lists Traits Partners Should Have.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

How is your marriage working out?

Could you use a little questionnaire on yourself by way of determining whether you're slipping or remaining the same dear girl or man for whom the wedding bells rang out?

There's a neat pamphlet put out by the American Social Hygiene association of New York, with discussion outlines on love, courtship, and marriage, edited by Newell W. Edson, consultant of the association.

Under the heading of "The Fine Art of Living Together," Mr. Edson offers the following ideal characteristics to possess before marriage and to practice afterward. Nearly all may be acquired, Edson hints.

A. Sunniness: Probably the best general asset for a home partnership, our authority volunteers.

B. Self-control: In no human relationship is self-control needed more, we're told.

C. Unselfishness: The backbone of the family spirit, Edson describes this quality.

D. Bringing out the best in beloved and in self. This is altruism carried to the nth degree.

E. "Sticking it out": Is the partnership failing for lack of willingness to see it through? This is what fails many a marriage venture and shoots up the divorce total annually.

F. Fair play: No need to describe its many occasions of exercise. Enough to recognize that it obviously is essential to a partnership. But how many mates practice it? Edson asks.

G. A willingness to give and take: By it comes that testing which makes growth of the partnership possible.

H. A sense of humor, without unkind teasing: Laughter helps one pass many a shoal, Edson reminds.

I. Unstinting service: Without it the partnership never can attain its full possibilities.

There are nine points on which to chalk up a record for or against yourself. You'll have to determine your own rating, whether you chalk up 5, 10, 50, or 100 per cent on the total score.

Marriage must be conceived as a partnership into which one puts all his best. The returns are proportionate to one's contributions. You might score on these last two clauses also and in the last printed clause about returns find the answer as to why you are not as happy as you once hoped to be.

Sally to List Her Guests in Sunday Tribune

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

"Ninety-eight, ninety-nine, one hundred!" Yep, that's the right number, all right! Fifty boys and fifty girls, all of whom are going to have one swell time next Thursday. Each and every one of them will receive a personal letter from me containing an invitation to our Stevens hotel party on Aug. 29.

If you're anxious to know whether your name is included in this list, you'd better scurry for THE TRIBUNE bright and early tomorrow morning, because the names of all our party winners will be printed in my column.

More good news! Mrs. Snyder, the candy lady, phoned yesterday and told me that she wanted to treat all you kids and she is going to send over individual boxes of kisses for you. Isn't that something?

I had a pretty hard job picking the winners, because so many of the letters were good, but at any rate I know that each youngster who will receive an invitation will appreciate it.

As usual some of you wrote good letters, but didn't follow the few simple little rules we have, and lost your chance. Some of you didn't remember to tell me your addresses, others forgot to tell their ages. Keep your fingers crossed and watch for the list of winners tomorrow.

14 Points for Parents Listed by Child Expert

Head of Guidance Bureau Outlines Home Ethics.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Woodrow Wilson's fourteen points made history.

Here are fourteen other points that also deserve to be well known. They were compiled by Dr. Leon W. Goldrich, director of the bureau of child guidance of the New York board of education. These have particular value because this list is not a theoretical one but based on the result of his experience in dealing with behavior children and behavior parents:

"1. Watch and guide your children. Do not drive them.

"4. Be just and consistent at all times.

"5. Win and retain the respect, cooperation, and love of your children.

"6. Love deeply and intelligently and so give that sunshine and warmth that all children need for their best growth and development.

"7. Respect the unique personality and individuality of each child in the home; i. e., study his abilities, direct his healthy normal acts, find out his limitations, and do not make demands beyond his capacities to understand and to perform.

"8. Develop the child's initiative and train him to assume more and more social responsibilities by giving him frequent opportunities to plan and to carry out his plans and to join creative social and recreational groups, civic junior leagues, and so forth.

"9. Surround the child with the good, the true, and the beautiful in life.

"10. Prepare the child for rational independence through gradual psychological weaning. This does not mean any loss of love, but rather an increasing, unselfish, and more beautiful love for the good of the child.

"11. Teach the child to assume his fair share of the duties, obligations, and responsibilities of a democratic home.

"12. Help the child at all times to develop a well balanced and well rounded nature and help him to integrate his personality.

"13. Avoid destructive conflicts and quarrels in the home; learn to give and take, and to build up a harmonious and peaceful spirit in the home, where each member of the family may share the blessings of a happy union.

"14. Develop and strengthen the character and the will of the child through proper moral, ethical, and religious examples and teachings."

If all parents followed these fourteen points, what history that would make, and what a wonderful start in life children would have.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

A CLOSE DOUBLE THAT WAS TOO CLOSE.

There was just a muted hum of conversation in the smoke-filled air. Here and there snatches of words could be distinguished — clubs — diamonds—if you'd only led my suit; but on the whole the Elite Bridge club was very quiet. Suddenly, cutting like a knife through the stillness, came the clarion cry, "DOUBLE!" It turned out that this was South, clambering on top of the table in order to inform East that it was South's firm belief that East could not make two clubs. South was not alone in this belief. East was with him.

The bidding:

WEST	NORTH	EAST	SOUTH
Pass	Pass	1 Cl.	Dbl.

Pass	Pass	Pass

East's bid was, of course, an out-and-out psychic. West paused a moment before he laid down his hand.

"You ought to wrap this up," he said benignly.

East gave him a wan smile. South opened the queen of clubs and gave his partner a significant look when it held the trick. He continued with the ace and king of clubs and then shifted to the king of spades.

The ace took on the board. East reëntered his hand with the king of diamonds and risked everything on a finesse of the nine spot of hearts. When that card forced the ace, East felt much better. Incidentally, North does much better to hold off the ace of hearts. That is not a play to be forgotten, my friends. Let the declarer use up an entry and take a finesse a second time.

In this case, however, North took the ace of hearts and played back a spade. South won and continued the suit. East trumped, drew South's last trump, and gleefully finessed the jack of hearts. Three hearts, one spade, two clubs and two diamonds are exactly eight tricks.

Even if East misguesses the hearts, he can only go down one trick. Without a club lead, however, East has a pretty stormy time of it.

over the next week-end will be the Kellogg Fairbanks. Kellogg Jr.'s fiancée, Miss June Cornell, will not be here, however, for she is not arriving from New York until just a few days before her wedding to young Mr. Fairbanks, which will take place Sept. 28 in Lake Geneva.

There will be a round of entertaining in Lake Forest next week-end, part of it for Alexander Tarsaidze of New York, who will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Starosselsky [Alice Rodiger Boswell]. Mr. Tarsaidze, who will arrive next Saturday, is now manager of the firm his cousin, the late Prince Matchabelli, started. The Starosselskys will give a dinner Saturday night for their guest.

That rustic resort, Long Lake lodge at Phelps, Wis., which has attracted a number of Chicagoans for the last few weeks of August, undoubtedly will prove a popular spot over Labor day, too. Among recent arrivals there are the two interesting daughters of Mrs. Ida L. Hammond of Evanston, Mrs. Cloyd Head, known to the literary world as Eunice Tietjens, and her sister, Miss Louise Hammond of Nanking, China.

Party for Buds Next Monday.

A party that will keep many members of the debutante crowd in town over Labor day is the luncheon that Miss Lois Truesdale is to give that Monday for her debutante sister, Marjorie, and Miss Mary Louise Laird at the Indian Hill club. Lois is now in the east visiting friends in Boston and New York, and will be back in a week, in time to play hostess to her debutante guests. Her younger sister, Marjorie, who is being presented to society by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Truesdale, at a tea on Sept. 14 at their Winnetka residence, is spending the summer at home.

On Sept. 3 Miss Laird is to be fêted again with a luncheon that Mrs. Edgar Stevens is to give for her at her Kenilworth residence. The daughter of the Robert S. Lairds of Winnetka will be presented at a tea at Indian Hill club on Sept. 7.

Miss Laird is to be a hostess herself this afternoon for she is having a pantry shower for Miss Betty Edmonds who is to become the bride of William A. Frazer Jr. next Friday evening at Christ church in Winnetka. On Monday Miss Katharine Korrady will entertain at a tea at her home in Winnetka for Miss Edmonds.

Another bride-to-be will be entertained at a number of parties this week-end. She is Miss Margaret DeLay of Winnetka, and at 4:30 o'clock, Sept. 7, she will be married to Pickens Johnson of Evanston and Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mason of Glencoe will entertain for Miss DeLay and Mr. Johnson at a dinner party this evening, and this noon Miss Marjorie Windes of Winnetka will have a luncheon for Miss DeLay. Tomorrow evening Miss Jane Harding will have a beach party for both the bride and bridegroom. Dr. and Mrs. L. Harrison Mettler are going to give the bridal dinner the night before the wedding at their Sheridan road home in Hubbard Woods.

Elaine Van Dyke Becomes Bride.

Word has been received here of the marriage last Tuesday of Miss Elaine Van Dyke, daughter of the late and widely known Dr. Henry Van Dyke, and Dennis D. Hunt at Bend, Ore. The news is of interest to Chicago because the bride's sister is Mrs. Murray Peabody Brush of Hinsdale. Mr. and Mrs. Brush now are on a vacation in the east. They are expected at home tomorrow or Monday.

As a pleasant aftermath to the several debutante receptions planned for Sept. 15 on the north shore Mrs. Rawleigh Warner is entertaining at a dinner for Miss Ruth Tilden that evening at the Glen View club. Most of Mrs. Warner's guests will be the buds and their beaux.

Miss Tilden is bowing to society late in the afternoon of the 15th at a tea at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Averill Tilden, 735 Ardsley road, Winnetka.

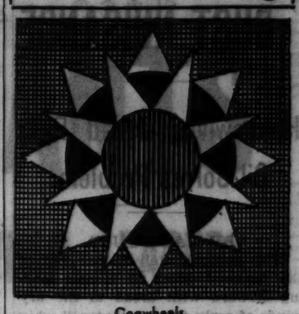
Alfred Ettlingers on Mountain Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ettlinger of Chicago and Cary, who are vacationing in the Canadian Rockies, left Banff on Wednesday for a seven day pack trip along the Spray river to Marvel lakes, and Wonder pass, to Mount Assiniboine, the Matterhorn of the Canadian Rockies. There they will camp and fish, returning to Banff Springs hotel by way of Citadel and Simpson passes.

Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze and her daughter Medora are at Neenah, Wis., attending the Inland Lakes regatta. With them as guests are Mr. and Mrs. John H. McGibbons of Chicago and Mrs. R. R. Ryan of Albuquerque, N. M.

Miss Theresa R. Fitzpatrick and her niece, Miss Audrey Cameron of Evanston, have returned from Mackinac Island and a three weeks' cruise on the Great Lakes. Miss Fitzpatrick and her niece now are at their home in Barrington.

"Cogwheel" Quilt Unites Applique Work and Piecing



Cogwheels.

BY NANCY CABOT.

There are at least half a dozen cogwheel quilt patterns, this newest of which is a combination of pieced and applique block. All blocks of the same name manage to preserve the motif of cogwheels. This particular pattern is highly reminiscent of a more elaborate quilt — sometimes called "Rising Sun." Again it is known as the "Sunburst" block, depending upon the locality.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

Housewives Dread Fall; Oil Solves Problem.

BY HAL FOUST.

With approximately 85 per cent of the farmers' wives of Illinois looking forward with dread to the dry winds of early autumn that will whip dust from nearby dirt or gravel roads into their homes, G. H. Fletcher, Will county highway superintendent, yesterday suggested methods to alleviate this rural nuisance.

"The counties of Illinois are without funds to allay the dust on the thousands of miles of secondary roads in Illinois," said Mr. Fletcher, "but for a small cost and a little work each farmer can protect his own home by treating the road immediately in front of his residence.

Oil Needed for 200 Feet.

"If the farmers will save oil that is drained during the year from their tractors and automobiles they'll have about enough to treat a couple of hundred feet of road. Or they can buy enough crude oil for the job for $12.

"Before spreading the oil, any farmer with a rake and a shovel can fill chuck holes. After the sprinkling sand should be tossed into any small pools of oil that remain. This protects cars from being splattered. Fifty cents worth of sand will do the job, if the farmer will do his own hauling.

"Technically, but not practically, a farmer needs a permit from the county to do this work. As a matter of fact, any highway superintendent in Illinois is glad to advise the farmers on how to protect their homes against dust."

Complaint Is Investigated.

Mr. Fletcher gave this advice after investigating a complaint that had been received by the "Voice of Traffic" of THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE against a private oiling operation on a side road two miles south and east of Plainfield, Ill.

According to the complaint, automobiles were being spattered with excess oil on which no sand coat had been applied. The offending farmer also was accused of placing broken glass in the grass in front of his house so that any motorist damaging the lawn in dodging the oil would be punished with a puncture.

An investigation revealed that there are four summer homes facing Renwick road on Isle la Cache creek, scene of the project. On the mail box were the names C. C. Breyer, A. B. Hallenstein, F. A. Grooss and W. U. Wylie.

Project Is Coöperative.

"Residence here would be unbearable because of the dust if we didn't oil the road," said Miss Lydia Breyer, who said she was treasurer of the cooperative oiling project. "We pay $35 a year to a Joliet contractor to care for the 500 feet in front of our houses.

"When the oil is fresh, I don't blame motorists for running over our grass. But we certainly didn't put any glass on the highway. However, we picked up broken bottles that had been left by roadside picnickers."

Mr. Fletcher said he would advise the contractor how to apply the oil so that automobiles would not be splattered.

FARMERS' BUYING POWER IS GAINING, WALLACE WRITES

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace declared today that the disparity between the prices of agricultural and other commodities has been narrowed and that the national economic emergency has been relieved by increased farm purchasing power.

In an article written for Editor and Publisher, newspaper trade weekly, Wallace said that in 1934 farmers had left for living expenses after payment of operating costs 3 billion 260 millions.

"In other words," he said, "the income available to spend on automobiles and tractors, newspapers and radios, clothing and furniture, and so on down the list, had more than doubled between 1932 and 1934."

Wallace estimated that this year will bring an increase in farm income of approximately two billion dollars, or about 40 per cent above the 1334 level.

With most of the unwieldy, price depressing surpluses disposed of, said Wallace, "the time for drastic reduction is over, and the time for controled expansion, for continuing adjustment is here.

"Agriculture is more and more interested in the question of industrial production and prices because it has progressed about as far as it can in raising price by reducing supply," said Secretary Wallace. "The measure of our recovery in 1935, as I see it, will be determined principally by the price and production policies of industry."

POOLE, PORTRAIT PAINTER, SEEKS DIVORCE IN RENO

Abram Poole, one of the most noted of American portrait painters, formerly a resident of Chicago, filed suit for divorce in Reno yesterday from his wife, Mercedes de Acosta, poetess, it was learned here. The bill charges cruelty.

A few hours later a cross-bill containing similar charges was filed in behalf of Mrs. Poole. She is in France and it will be several weeks before her deposition can be taken and returned to Reno.

Mrs. Poole is a sister of Mrs. Henry S. Breckenridge, wife of the assistant secretary of war in President Wilson's cabinet. Poole is a graduate of Princeton university, a world war veteran, and winner of the Grand Prix at painting exhibits in Munich and Rome.

Lawyers reported a property settlement has been made out of court.

FINDS ROMANCE

Miss Patricia Born of Chicago as she returned to San Francisco after world tour. When she started in February she said she was in search of romance and adventure. When she returned she admitted finding the romance in the person of J. L. C. Goodbody, English banker in Bombay. They will be married in Chicago in October.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Bob Becker

Welcome Dinner Bell.

Aug. 23, 1935.

HARVESTING an oat crop from early in the morning until sundown is a lot of work for anybody, but this old routine of "thrashing" on the farm has its compensations when the dinner bell rings at noon. That's what the workers on the Yorkville farm thought today when they left their teams and their places on the threshing machinery and filed into the house for dinner. When they sat down at the tables simply loaded with good things to eat they saw big platters of fried chicken—browned to a turn. The ladies had prepared one of those typical chicken dinners with all the trimmings for the threshing crew, and how the boys did put it away.

Yesterday, the first full day of threshing oats here on the farm, the workers sort of practiced up on a roast beef dinner served at 12 o'clock. When all had gotten cleaned up and found a place at the tables they faced, in addition to roast beef, the following: mashed potatoes, plenty of brown gravy, cabbage salad, sliced tomatoes, home-baked beans, bread and butter, jam, and two kinds of dessert, home baked apple pie or cake.

The weather has been ideal for work in the fields and around the threshing outfit.

The Canada geese which call the big pond on the Wheaton farm their home picked the recent cool days to do a little practice flying this week. There are about seven of the young birds which have not had their wings clipped, so they can take to the air when they please. The other day they set up a terrific clamor and then began to fly. It was a sort of practice or exercise flight around the place as if the snappy weather had put ideas about autumn and migration into their heads.

All of the ducks and geese here on the farm are going to have some interesting visitors from now on because migrating ducks and geese always drop in for a visit.

One of the most amusing sights around Half Moon pond has been the antics of the wild teal. They seem fascinated by the white Muscovys and swim around with them as if they were proud to associate with such large and handsome birds. The teal are so small and the Muscovys so big that there is quite a contrast between them.

The ring-necked pheasants hatched here in the "game bird factory" are so tame they all but come up to feed out of your hand. I looked at them yesterday and the way they beg for food reminds you of barn yard chickens. These pheasants are allowed to run around in the tall weeds and grass and feed on insects during the day. This is kind of hard on the poor old bantam that is mothering them because she is kept in her coop. Her patience is rewarded late in the afternoon when the ringnecks [now about 5 inches high] come back to spend the night with her.

CUBS CLIMB WITHIN TWO GAMES OF GIANTS

HEWITT GRABS PASSES FOR 2 TOUCHDOWNS

Awakened Manders Also Scores.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Waukesha, Wis., Aug. 23. — The Whites, composed of veterans, defeated the Orange team, 21 to 0, tonight as the Chicago Bears turned their night practice for the All-Star game next Thursday into a regulation contest. A crowd of 3,000 saw the game, in which two of the Whites' touchdowns were scored on spectacular forward pass plays after ineffective blocking and raggedness had precluded a sustained attack.

Bill Hewitt, left end, was on the receiving end of the two scoring passes. He took a short one from Bernie Masterson early in the third period and ran 30 yards for the first score of the game. Midway in the fourth period he grabbed a short pass in the end zone from George Corbett.

The second touchdown was contributed by Jack Manders, the awakened full back, who was the outstanding player in the game. Manders broke off tackle and raced 35 yards to the goal line, bowling over two defensive men in open field with powerful nudges of his shoulder. In addition to this impressive piece of ball carrying, Manders set the stage for the third touchdown with a 40 yard run through center, which placed the ball on the Orange 11 yard line.

Oranges' Offense Limited.

The Oranges' offense was limited to six short passes, some smashing, but not consistently productive plunges by Reds Pollock, the freshman half back, and two spectacular runs by Sammy Curro, the Milwaukee sandlot product.

Curro returned the first punt of the game 49 yards to the Whites' 25 yard line. In the second period he took a short pass from Pollock and ran 30 yards to the Whites' 30 yard line. He was the receiver on five of the Oranges' six successful passes and placed the Whites in a hole in the first period with a 60 yard punt that rolled out of bounds on the eleven yard line.

Franklin Is Hurt.

One more casualty was added to the long list of injured when Ben Franklin, who was shifted to full back on the Orange team, was carried from the field with a severely injured ankle. Cursory examination established his injury as a pulled muscle. He was unable to walk into the dressing room an hour later and Coach George Halas intimated he would be lost for the All-Star game.

Bronko Nagurski, the regular full back, Gene Ronzani, right half, Bill Karr, right end, and Fred Crawford, one of Karr's relief men, all of whom are injured, did not put on suits tonight.

Aside from the play of Manders, Hewitt, and Curro there was nothing about the game that indicated the Bears are ready for a test as severe as the All-Stars are expected to give them. Blocking in the line was almost a negative quantity. There was still some difficulty over individual assignments despite long hours of signal drills and lectures.

Halas left for Chicago immediately after the game and called off tomorrow's drill. He intimated that when he returned there would be a resumption of the two sessions a day program.

PITT STAR SEES TEAM SPIRIT AS DECIDING FACTOR

And College All-Americans Have Plenty of It, Says Shotwell.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

George Shotwell, former University of Pittsburgh center, believes that team spirit will be the deciding factor in the game between the College All-Star football team and the Chicago Bears next Thursday night at Soldiers' field.

GEORGE SHOTWELL

Shotwell, who drew more than 117,000 votes in the nation-wide All-American poll, discussed the situation last night as he sat among his teammates in their headquarters on the Northwestern university campus. His leisurely, precise way of speaking, and his careful choice of words would surprise any visitor who expected to meet a typical college boy athlete. His manner is more that of a lawyer than a football player.

"I thought most of the fellows would regard this as a vacation," he said, "and expected little in the way of college spirit But every one has gone to work with a will that would do credit to any college squad. The boys seem even more eager to prove themselves in the eyes of their teammates than in the eyes of the coaches. The coaching staf can go only so far in keying up a team. The players have to provide something over and above anything that the coaches can instill."

Bears May Be Mechanically Better.

He went on to admit a possibility that the Bears may be mechanically better than the college boys inasmuch as they have been working together for years and have had plenty of time to iron out kinks in their plays.

"However," he said, "if they have not the spark that our fellows have, they'll never beat us."

In his position as center, Shotwell must be ready to pull out and get to the point of attack. He anticipates plenty of trouble from the terrific drives of Bronko Nagurski and the other members of the Bears' back field. But he's going to be ready for it.

Helped Pitt Beat Notre Dame 3 Times.

He pointed out one of the Bears' most successful plays against pro teams was one which called for Nagurski to start for the center of the line and either pass or plunge, depending on the distribution of the defending players just before he

BY FRENCH LANE.

After the running of the $5,000 added Lincoln handicap at Lincoln Fields this afternoon race goers will know whether or not Myrtlewood is destined to be a great race horse.

Already she has demonstrated that she's as fast as horses grow these days. She did this at Arlington Park when she ran six furlongs in 1:09 2-5 for a world's record.

She also has offered proof that she can win stake races. She captured the Peabody Memorial handicap at a mile at Lincoln Fields just a week ago. Today in the Lincoln she will either take her place among the truly great distance runners of the year or will be relegated back to the sprinter division. The eighth running of the Lincoln this afternoon is at a mile and a sixteenth. She will be giving away scale weight to every horse in the race when she attempts to pack 114 pounds over the testing journey.

The regulars at Lincoln Fields believe that Myrtlewood will deliver the goods and they started wagering that way last night. The result was that she was made the overnight favorite at 5 to 2. There were two equal second choices in the betting. Tearout and Ted Clark. The odds against them were 5 to 1. Clang, another world's record holder, was the third choice at 6 to 1.

Tearout was a fast finishing third to Myrtlewood in the Peabody handicap a week ago. Many believed he might have caught the flying daughter of Blue Larkspur-Frizeur had the Peabody been a mile and a sixteenth instead of at a mile. Ted Clark mustered his support by a winning effort he showed over a muddy track at Lincoln Fields earlier in the week. He defeated a field of Lincoln handicap eligibles in that overnight handicap much as his jocky pleased.

Myrtlewood in Splendid Condition.

Myrtlewood has come up to the race in splendid condition and if she fails it simply will demonstrate that she doesn't want to go that far. She surely has the speed to carry her clear of any crowding or interference that a slower beginner might encounter in so large a field.

Fifteen were named overnight for the race and the long shot players were centering their activity on Late Date at 15 to 1, Prince Torch at 20 to 1 and the fleet Top Dog, also at 20 to 1.

Horse.	Weight.	Jocky.	Probable odds.
On Rush	107	R. Holman	20 to 1
Gay Monarch	110	A. Robertson	15 to 1
Spanish Babe	98	H. Dudley	30 to 1
Navanod	102	H. Tinker	25 to 1
Clang	109	J. Leyland	6 to 1
Tearoint	105	W. Hanka	5 to 1
Ted Clark	115	No boy	5 to 1
Top Dog	104	J. King	20 to 1
Banish Fear	103	F. A. Smith	25 to 1
Sweeping Light	114	L. Haas	8 to 1
Myrtlewood	114	J. McCoy	5 to 2
Elf Lock	101	T. King	30 to 1
Dusky Devil	108	J. Martin	25 to 1
Prince Torch	113	No boy	25 to 1

Jim Braddock to Tour England and Ireland

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 23.—(AP)—James J. Braddock, world's heavyweight boxing champion, will tour England and Ireland in a series of exhibitions at the conclusion of his present tour in this country, his manager, Joe Gould, said today. Gould said he and Braddock planned to see the Max Baer-Joe Louis fight and leave shortly afterward if the arrangements are completed.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BOB ZUPPKE isn't playing golf at Muskegon these days. . . . His doctor tells him he can't take hold of a club until next February. . . . A box of matches recently exploded in his left hand, burning the palm severely. . . .The burn still has to be dressed twice a day. . . . The accident won't prevent him from seeing the game between the All-Americans and the Bears Thursday night, however, and he will be able to take charge of first practice at Illinois Sept. 10. . . . Among the most interested spectators at Soldiers' field Thursday night will be Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Hutson, parents of Don Hutson of Alabama, who received more votes in the national players' poll than any man in the field. . . . Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold, whose defeat of Kay Stammers saved the Wightman cup for the United States, will not play in the women's national tournament. . . . She prefers a coffee cup with hubby at home to the championship cup. . . . Harry Cooper of Glen Oak plans to visit his birthplace in England next year. . . . Jim Wilson, Park Ridge Country club professional, never has bought a store shirt since coming to America. . . . He always has them made, each with a spare collar and a pair of cuffs. . . .

Dr. Spears of Wisconsin and Slip Madigan of St. Mary's still were chattering away at 3 o'clock the other morning about the defense they had devised to sweep Bill Hewitt, left end of the Bears, out of Soldiers' field, and how they had arranged to cut Art Buss, Bears' left tackle, in two. . . . Frank Thomas, head coach of the All-Stars, rubbing the sleep from his eyes, remarked: "Well, that simplifies everything. We already have wrecked one side of the Bear line." . . . Billy Thom, Indiana university wrestling coach, has acquired a 24 acre farm near Bloomington, Ind., where he has started to raise Kentucky bred saddle horses. . . . A gaudy bathing suit contest at a recent picnic of Marquette lettermen was called off when all decided to swim in their birthday clothes. . . . There wasn't a tattooed man in the crowd. . . . Neither Frankie Frisch, manager of the Cardinals, nor Bill Terry of the Giants considers the Cubs a serious threat in the National league race. . . . They regard it as a matter between themselves.

The late Tex Rickard, when he signed the second Tunney-Dempsey bout for Soldiers' field, predicted it would gross two and a half million. . . . The accuracy of his forecast was borne out by the 104,943 who paid $2,658,660 to see the battle. . . . The biggest betting days at American race tracks this season were Derby day at Louisville, with $1,031,072; Preakness day at Pimlico, with $884,221, and Classic day at Arlington, with $707,672. . . . Dr. Spears will take a day off from his coaching duties with the All-Stars to address a high school coaches summer session at Wisconsin Rapids Monday. . . .

Ten years ago today—Helen Wills won the national tennis championship for the third straight time. . . . Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, had a hard time winning a 10 round bout from Sailor Freedman at East Chicago. . . . Ted Blankenship hung up his tenth straight victory as the White Sox beat Philadelphia, 3 to 1.

AMERICAN GIRL STARTS CHANNEL SWIM TO FRANCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Miss Eva Morrison, 25 year old Boston long distance swimmer, slipped into the water at South Foreland at 9:35 o'clock tonight in an effort to swim the channel from England to France. Miss Morrison, librarian at the Boston City hospital, is being accompanied by Capt. George Morris, international bridge player, who intends to swim with her during the night.

Crowds in motorboats and rowboats cheered as she swam strongly toward South Goodwin lightship preceded by a boat piloted by Capt. Harry Pearson.

This is Miss Morrison's first attempt to swim the channel and it is the American girl's ambition to be the first woman to swim from England to France—a much more difficult feat than from France to England—which has been accomplished successfully on 20 occasions.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Back in the Old Homestead! It took the White Sox ten long innings, after four long, happy months, to do it, but they lost their third straight to the Washington Senators yesterday, 4 to 3, and thereby took up their abode in the second division of the American league, the habitat to which they have been so constant since 1920.

There were other familiar aspects, but the climax will give you the best idea: The winning run went across the plate when Les Tietje walked a batsman on four pitches with two out and the bases full in the tenth inning.

Back Home Again.

Wide opened the portals to the Old Manse, with its kerosene lamps and its greasy ingrain carpets, its rickety sofa and stringy portieres and ragged lace curtains. And from the cellar arose that old familiar dank odor.

Manager Jimmy Dykes, who had fancied that his team's residence would continue on the heights until he began to get suspicious shortly after Aug. 1, had an eminent part in the return of the prodigals. But, then, don't chortle, fellows, if Jim has become a bit punchdrunk. He's a great little gent and has done the best he could.

For instance, he thought up a plan whereby he could save all his good pitchers for the impending Yankee series. He thought he could win from the seventh placers without pitching. The plan has gone awry three times in three days, 'tis true, but it would have been a great idea if it had worked.

Sox Take 3-0 Lead.

In fact Jim was deceived for some time yesterday into thinking that his scheme was a good one. His outfit went into the seventh inning leading, 3 to 0, by a virtue of Al Simmons' No. 13 homer and other brisk happenings.

For five innings Carl Fischer had held the Senators to two hits. This lulled our poor Jim into thinking that all was well. Two sharp hits in the sixth didn't disturb him in the least, nor did the first four hits in the seventh. The fifth hit in the seventh tied the score. Then it was that they began dusting off the front stoop of the Old Manse for the Sox gala return.

And before we go out to cry in our beer let's tell you about the actual entrance into the Old Homestead, the record of the Washington tenth:

WHIP LEADERS, 7-4; GALAN AND HACK SET PACE

Divide Half of 16 Chicago Hits.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 23.—The pacemaking Giants folded up today because they couldn't withstand a relentless assault turned loose by the pursuing Cubs. Sixteen Chicago hits echoed around the historic Polo grounds and the New Yorkers, who hung on doggedly for five innings, finally surrendered, 7 to 4, before Larry French's southpaw pitching. It was French's 12th victory and the ninth for the Cubs in sixteen games with the leaders, who apparently are warming up to repeat their memorable nose dive of a year ago.

Now the setting is almost complete for a change in the complexion of the National league race which grows dizzier by the moment. The third place Cubs by their two straight triumphs here are only two games removed from first place. But between them and the Giants stand the onrushing Cardinals, whose twin victory today put them one game from the top and increased to one full game the margin between themselves and the Chicago entry.

Hack, Galan Lead Hitters.

The fierce Cub attack in which Stanley Hack and Augie Galan sparkled with four hits apiece, carried away none other than Clyde Castleman, ranking pitcher of the league in victories and losses. He was nicked for three runs in five innings, but the Giants kept pace by doing the same to French. But in the sixth the Cubs crowded through with two runs on hits by Hack, Herman, and Klein, and that was the finish of Castleman, making his season's record 11 victories and 4 defeats. After that the Cubs continued to pile up hits, but they availed nothing except in the eighth when two were scored off Allyn Stout.

The Cubs had to carry on through the last half of the battle without the services of Gabby Hartnett. The veteran, who wouldn't dare challenge a turtle to a race, foolishly attempted to score from third on a fly ball in the fifth inning. In making his futile slide, Hartnett's left foot, weak as the result of an injury on July 31 at Pittsburgh, caught on the plate. Gabby flopped around like a wounded duck, but was soon assisted to the dugout. After an examination, the eminent Doc Ananias Lotshaw declared the ailing foot would be back to normal after a rest of a couple of days.

Two Runs for Cubs.

A single by Galan was the best the Cubs could do against Castleman in the first inning, but in the second they drilled three hits into the open spaces, two scoring. This started with a pass to Cavarretta after Demaree had been thrown out. A dinky fly by Hack dropped safely behind third. Jurges slapped the first pitch for a single through shorts, Cavarretta scoring. French, after failing to bunt, forced Jurges at second. Galan singled for the second time, Hack counting. Herman closed the inning with a fly to Ott.

French turned out a perfect first inning and would have had another in the second if Cavarretta's fielding hadn't messed up the setting for a few moments. Ott led off with a tall fly close to the line back of first base and the young man let the ball pop out of his hands. Ott took second on the blunder. French refused to be upset. He fanned Koenig, Leiber was sunk on a fly to Klein, and three strikes fixed Mancuso for the third out.

Error Furnishes an Opening.

A schoolboy error by Bartell at short caused Castleman some annoyance in the third, but he closed the gap before the Cubs could sneak through with any runs. The error was on an easy roller by Klein, who

CARDS WIN TWO, 6-1, 11-5; TRAIL GIANTS BY GAME

Heusser Holds Brooklyn to Eight Hits.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 23.—(AP)—The Cardinals climbed to within one game of the league leading Giants today when they scored a double victory over the Dodgers, 6 to 1 and 11 to 5, while the Giants were losing to the Cubs.

The Cards smacked Lefty Watson Clark freely in the opener, piling up fifteen hits while Ed Heusser, pitching his first complete game in the majors, held the Dodgers to eight. Then they went on against Emil Leonard, Bobby Reis, and Tom Baker for sixteen more hits in the second game.

Rally to Win Both.

St. Louis had to come from behind to win both games. Brooklyn led, 1 to 0, up to the fourth inning of the first game. Then doubles by Virgil Davis and Leo Durocher, with a pass to Terry Moore, Heusser's fly and a wild throw by Buzz Boyle gave the Cards three runs and the lead. They added a run to it in the sixth and two more in the ninth when Heusser and Martin hit triples.

Bill Hallahan yielded four runs in the first two innings of the second game. Phil Collins stepped in and blanked the Dodgers with three hits in the last seven innings while the Cards put on a seven run rally that won the game.

The Bombardment Starts.

Starting with Frank Frisch's single and Joe Medwick's triple, the Cards drove Leonard to cover and rapped the former utility fielder, Bobby Reis, for three straight hits to go into the lead before a man was retired. A wild throw to the plate by Linus Frey let the fourth and fifth runs of the inning come in and two more scored on infield outs. Three more tallies off Reis in the eighth completed the slaughter just before Joe Stripp smacked a homer for the final Dodger run. Scores:

PIRATES BEAT BRAVES, 7 TO 5.

Bill Swift, on the mound for the visitors, received credit for his fourteenth victory of the season, although he was relieved in the fifth inning by Guy Bush, who was followed in turn by Waite Hoyt.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES: Rendezvous

SMITTY—THE SAME DIFFERENCE

Senators Drop Sox to Fifth Place, 4 to 3

Simmons Starts with Homer.

The Sox jumped off to a 1 to 0 lead when Simmons repeated his act of the preceding day, socking a first inning homer. The main difference was that yesterday's smash was in the left field stand, whereas the one Thursday was into the right field sector. It was Al's thirteenth homer of the season and his third in five games. It gave him a record of having an extra base hit in each of his last eight games.

The first five batsmen to face Fischer were infield outs. Then there was a bit of anxiety. Powell walked and stopped at third when Strange blooped a double on the foul line back of Dykes. Holbrook was given an intentional pass, filling the bases, after which Hadley fied to Conlan.

Sox Threaten in Second.

The Sox got two runners on with one out in the second inning, but the Senators called an abrupt halt. Hopkins walked with one down and stopped at second on Sewell's single to right. Then Fischer was called out on strikes and Radcliff flied to Manush.

Fischer opened the home fifth with the third hit off Hadley, a single to right. Radcliff failed in two attempts to sacrifice, then singled to right, putting Fischer on third. Simmons bounced to Myer, Fischer scoring and Radcliff stopping at second. Radcliff undertook to steal third and was only a few feet from the bag when Dykes grounded to Myer. When Myer juggled the ball a bit before getting Dykes at first, Radcliff kept right on going and scored with a nice slide. Appling grounded out to Strange.

The Senators moved out of the zeros into a 3 to 3 tie in the seventh. Travis led off with a double, his second and Washington's fifth hit. Powell flied to Radcliff, but Strange singled, scoring Travis. Holbrook beat out an infield single, Strange stopping at second. Kress batted for Hadley and socked the first pitch for a single to center, Strange scoring and Holbrook stopping at second. Bluege ran for Kress.

Kuhel flied to Radcliff and this hoaxed Dykes into letting Fischer suffer on. Miles slammed a single to center, scoring Holbrook with the tying run, Bluege stopping at second. Dykes at this point decided Fischer had lost his effectiveness and called in Tietje. Myer grounded to Dykes.

Sox Lose Chance.

Washington batted for Hopkins to start the home ninth and lined a single to right, a success that so elated Manager Dykes that he plumb forgot to put any one on first to run for Washington. Sewell laid down a perfect bunt just inside the third base line. Russell ran over, grabbed the ball and was about to throw to first when he saw Washington half way between first and second. He tossed almost the diagonal distance from home to second base to force Washington. Tietje lined into a double play.

You've heard about the lamentable tenth.

Church A. A. Track Meet Postponed Until Sept. 14

Because most of the athletes who usually compete in the Church A. A. of Chicago track and field meet are out of the city on vacations this week, the meet scheduled for today at the Lake Shore playground has been postponed until Sept. 14.

Lyons to Pitch for Sox Today Against Senators

Ted Lyons this afternoon will make his fourth try for his thirteenth victory for the White Sox against the Washington Senators. He will be opposed by garrulous Buck Newsom.

Mule Haas and Zeke Bonura, the Sox's leading cripples, yesterday took part in fielding practice for the first time. Previously they had confined their workouts to running hither and thither.

Luke Appling gets robbed of more hits than any two players on the Sox. Manush was absolutely shameless in taking one away from Luke in the third inning. It should have been a triple.

Trap Shooting Title Goes to Florida Man

Vandalia, O., Aug. 23.—(AP)—J. B. Royall of Tallahasse, Fla., 51 year old railway conductor, attended his first Grand American trap shoot today and when the smoke cleared away he had defeated 614 of the nation's best marksmen to win the Grand American handicap.

The southerner, first resident of Florida ever to win the blue ribbon event, broke 98 of 100 targets to tie S. G. Vance of Tillsonburg, Ont., in the regulation shoot, and then broke 47 out of 50 to win in the shoot-off. Vance missed four targets.

Joe Hiestand of Hillsboro, O., national singles and doubles champion, wound up in third place after a shoot-off with Albert Suttle of Petersburg, Va., and Dorsie Arnold of Lebanon, O. Arnold took fourth place and Suttle fifth.

The new champion, who replaces L. G. Dana of Derrick City, Pa., has been shooting over the traps for nine years. Like all previous trapshoot champions he was practically unknown in big league target circles until today.

The women's championship went to Mrs. Bunny Sanders of Keyser, W. Va., who broke 90 out of 100 from the 18 yard mark. Mrs. Sanders, of the world's champion husband and wife team, nosed out Mrs. Lela Hall of East Lynne, Mo., and Mrs. Russell Elliot, Ryetown, Mo., by one target.

C. T. Stevens of Zanesville, O., won the professional championship by breaking 94 out of 100 from the 23 yard line.

TWO CHAMPIONS BEATEN IN PUBLIC PARKS NET MEET

New Orleans, La., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Defending champions fell by the wayside today in two divisions of the thirteenth annual National Municipal Parks tennis tournament as finalists were determined in all except the women's doubles.

Lydia Kayser, Buffalo, N. Y., trounced Mrs. Ruth Prosser of St. Louis, the defending champion, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, to gain the right to battle Elizabeth Deike of Pasadena, Cal., in the finals Sunday. Miss Deike gained the title round with a victory over Helen Germaine, New York, 6-3, 7-5.

The 1934 men's doubles champions, William Schommer, Big Ten singles titleholder, and Charles Britzius of Minneapolis, lost to Billy Hughes and Cecil Metz of Memphis, 6-4, 6-4, 7-5. Hughes and Metz will meet Barnard Welsh and Ralph McElvaney of Washington, D. C., in the finals.

Welsh also won his way into the finals in the singles division by virtue of a victory over William Lurie of New York, 6-3, 6-1, 6-4, and tomorrow will meet Schommer, who sprang a surprise by trouncing Arnold Simons of Louisville, seeded No. 2, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-2, 6-2.

led off. After failing in an attempt to bunt, Hartnett singled to center. Jackson picked up Demaree's bounder and a double play was perpetrated, leaving Klein on third. Then Cavarretta lined into Terry's hands.

The Giants came up with their first hits—two of them—in the third and a run scored to cut the Cubs' lead in half. After two were out, J. Moore emerged from his protracted slump and singled back of third. Jackson bore down on French's first pitch and sailed it far into right center. Klein finally caught up with the ball, but by the time he had returned it to the infield, Moore had scored and Jackson was on third. Terry then rapped a hard grounder between first and second, but Herman gobbled it up and retired the enemy manager on a hurried throw to Cavarretta.

Giants Tie Score.

French also had two out of the way in the fourth before the Giants scored the tying run. Both Ott and Koenig fouled out, whereupon Leiber almed a single into left. Mancuso spanked a fly against the right field wall just too high for Klein to reach despite a surprisingly energetic leap. The ball bounced off the barrier for a double, Leiber scoring. Hack threw out Bartell.

The fifth in which the Giants gave the Cubs a run and were paid off by the removal of Hartnett opened with a pass to Herman. Klein's offering was a pop to Koenig. Hartnett rolled a slow single between Jackson and Bartell and a pass to Demaree loaded the bases. While Cavarretta was at bat Mancuso committed a passed ball on which Herman scored and the two other runners advanced. Then Cavarretta flied to left and Hartnett broke for the plate with the catch. J. Moore made one of his bulletlike throws into Mancuso's hands and Gabby, making the slide that put him out of action, was doubled at the plate.

Even Score Again.

Another pair of hits, this time with one out, permitted the Giants to tie it again in their half of the fifth. Castleman fanned and J. Moore beat out a bounder to Jurges. Jackson slammed his second triple into right center, and Moore scored. Then French fanned Terry, and Ott fouled to Cavarretta.

Hack's third single to open the sixth started the Cubs on their way to two runs that meant a 5 to 3 lead. Jurges flied out and French sacrificed. Then Terry made the wrong guess in his strategy. He ordered Galan passed, and as proof that this sort of maneuver was resented, Herman singled to right and Hack scored. Klein also singled to right, Galan scoring and Herman taking third. Indian Moore came in at this point and ended the uprising on O'Dea's poke to Terry.

Make Two Off Stout.

With Stout doing the pitching in the eighth, the Cubs proceeded to harvest two more runs. Galan opened with a single, Herman flied to J. Moore, whose return throw let Galan go to second, and Klein was purposely passed. O'Dea singled to score Galan and put Klein on third. Klein counted on a wild pitch.

Cubs Will Use Carleton in Third of Giant Series

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 23.—Tex Carleton, who pitched three innings for the Cubs last Wednesday and a couple of innings two days before that, will be Vice President Grimm's pitching choice in the third of the series with the Giants tomorrow. Carleton has a record of 10 victories and 6 defeats, but only one of the victories was registered against a first division team. The Giants' starter will be Leroy Parmelee.

Gabby Hartnett sliding into the plate in the fifth inning as Catcher Mancuso of the Giants tags him out. Hartnett was hurt on the play.
[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Bill Terry, who manages the Giants, wishes he could devise some method by which he could extract the home run ball from the repertoire of Carl Hubbell, the ace southpaw. Hubbell has been frisked for 23 homers so far this year, but has one of the best earned run averages in the league.

New York friends of Dolly Stark, National league umpire, are going to roll a shiny, new automobile onto the Polo grounds tomorrow and give it to him along with a receipted bill of sale for same. The presentation will be made before the game by Ford Frick, president of the league.

Chuck Klein didn't look very hot in his first appearance at the plate. Castleman whipped over three strikes so quickly that Klein had to be told he was out.

Frick Warns Umpires: Don't Talk to Fans

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—As an outgrowth of disturbances both on and off the field during a series between the New York Giants and Reds at Cincinnati a month ago, Ford C. Frick, president of the National league, today announced he has warned all umpires against haranguing or otherwise attempting to control the actions of baseball spectators.

The policy was set forth by Frick in confirming the fact that Umpires John Reardon and John Sears had been "disciplined" for their part in the outbreak at Redland field on July 17, when feeling over a decision adverse to the home team reached such a pitch that pop bottles were hurled from the stands and a melée threatened.

Umpires Are Not Police.

"Umpires Sears and Reardon have been disciplined for their action in going over to the stands during the trouble in Cincinnati," Frick said, "the ruling of this office being that the policing of the stands and crowds is strictly a matter for the home club, and upon failure of the home club to provide proper policing it is within the province of the umpires to forfeit the game. Warning also has been issued to all umpires concerning this matter."

The Cincinnati Enquirer had asked Frick whether the discipline was administered because of "poor work" by the umpires, as charged by officials of the Cincinnati club after the league president fined Charley Dressen, manager of the Reds, $50 for a row with Reardon.

No Complaint on Work.

To this Frick replied: "Neither Sears nor Reardon was disciplined for poor work during the Cincinnati-New York series. The term "poor work" would indicate bad decisions, errors and mistakes in judgment on the field. There was no such question raised."

Previously the league president declined to reconsider his discipline of Dressen. An appeal on the manager's behalf was made by the Cincinnati club, whose officials charged the umpires were more to blame than Dressen for the demonstration by fans. Reardon, it seemed, attempted to quiet the spectators by a personal speech but did not succeed.

Rowe Pitches, Bats Tigers to 6-0 Victory

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Schoolboy Rowe, driven from the hill on Tuesday, came back today and shut out the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 0. He allowed Boston but four hits, and accounted for half of Detroit's run total by getting a double in the second inning with two men on bases and smashing out a home run in the fifth.

It was Rowe's third pitching assignment in six days. He shut out the New York Yankees on Sunday, but was hammered off the mound in an attempt to repeat against the Yankees on Tuesday.

All of Boston's hits came in the first three innings, and except for a base on balls in the sixth, Rowe set the Sox down in order during the remainder of the game. It was Rowe's 15th victory of the season. Score:

ALL-STARS WORK ON DEFENSE FOR GAME WITH BEARS

Only Four More Drills Before Battle.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-Americans have only four more practice sessions scheduled before they visit Soldiers' field next Thursday night to test the power of collegiate football against the Chicago Bears, the greatest professional eleven in the country. The order for one practice a day was observed yesterday when the boys visited Dyche stadium in the afternoon. They will practice this morning, rest tomorrow, and wind up with rehersals the first three days of next week.

Defense is the primary concern although time will be taken each day to review the All-Stars' battle plans. The coaches would like to continue double practices in view of the fact the players could profit by extra time together, but they also realize that it is imperative that the boys go into the game against the Bears well rested. Many are suffering from bruises, assorted bumps, and twisted knees, but with the possible exception of Frank Sobrero, Santa Clara half back who is nursing a shoulder injury, all will be able to wage the fight with the pros.

Will Cause Bears Trouble.

The coaches are noncommittal in regard to the result of the game. For that matter did you ever see any coach who was entirely satisfied? Unless our guess misses by the proverbial mile, the All-Star offense will cause the Bears a lot of trouble.

The coaches really are more worried about the Bears' attack. To assauge that fear they are working overtime mapping out defensive formations. Just how these will work out in the battle no one can forecast. A slip may mean a touchdown. In the matter of mechanical defense there is no worry. These All-Americans long ago learned how to tackle and a sharp, clean tackle is the same in any league. But the Bears' laterals and forwards, coupled with the drives of Bronko Nagurski and Jack Manders, and the runs of Beattie Feathers, are sprung from intricate formations which may prove confusing.

Bear Admirers Not So Sure.

Last year the smart men about town had no hesitancy naming the Bears the pre-game winner and offering to wager they would win by 14 points. While there is a large number who believe the Bears will win Thursday night discussion over the number of points they might make is missing. Coach George Halas has said the pros want points and a lot of them. Who doesn't? So do the All-Americans. But it is apparent that both teams have spent more time preparing offenses and these should score unless fumbles wipe out opportunities.

Both teams might have scored last year. Each threatened twice, the Bears reaching the 10 yard line but failing because a first down fumble and an intercepted pass on first down. Bill Smith, of the All-Americans, almost scored with a place kick. The net result, however, was a scoreless tie.

Good Seats Remain.

The only way you can actually find out what will happen Thursday night is to see for yourself. Visit THE TRIBUNE'S Public Service offices at 1 South Dearborn street or in the lobby of Tribune Tower and make your choice of the $1.65 and $1.10 seats. There are good locations and you'll be surprised how you'll be able to follow the players under the 100,000 watt lights which are being installed at Soldiers' field.

One of the last problems confronting the coaches is selection of a starting quarter back and the schooling of all of them in the strategy to be employed. The quarter backs are Miller Munjas, Joe Salatino, Jack Beynon, and Irving Kupcinet.

SHUTE SHOOTS 72 TO GO INTO LEAD IN HERSHEY GOLF

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Denny Shute, professional from the Westward Ho Country club of Chicago, cracked par for the second consecutive round to grab the lead of the Hershey open golf tournament at the halfway mark tonight.

He added a 35—37—72 to yesterday's 70 over the Hershey Country club course, and his 142 total for 36 holes gave him a one stroke margin over Jimmy Hines, Garden City, N. Y. Hines and Terl Johnson, Decatur, Ill., posted the lowest cards of the second day's play, each shooting 71, two under par.

JOHNNY DAWSON LEADS GLEN OAK GOLF ROUNDUP

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Johnny Dawson of Glen Oak, winner of the event last year, whooped it up again yesterday to take the half way lead over 200 other golfers in the twentieth Round-Up, annual invitational tournament of the Glen Oak Country club.

Dawson was far in front of the pack as it headed into today's finishing 18 holes, for he held a five shot lead over a quartet of 77 shooters, who included Johnny Lehman of Olympia Felds, John Hackett and John Morrell, also of Glen Oak, and Gus Novotny, a member of Edgewood Valley's C. D. C. A. championship team. Dawson was around the first nine in 37, but coming home bettered par by two strokes for a 72, one under prescribed figures.

Among those taking part in the Round-Up were two New Orleans visitors, Fred Haas Jr., recent winner of the Western Junior title for the second straight year, and Paul Leslie, Southern Intercollegiate champion. Fred finished with a 79 while Paul took an 85. Cliff McKelvey of Decatur, who will captain a downstate team against a district group at Olympia Fields tomorrow, reached the half way post with an 83.

Hall Defeats Walsh, 2 Up, in Golf Upset

Bob Hall of Wing Park scored an upset in the quarter-final round of play for the Illinois state junior golf championship at Cog-Hill yesterday when he eliminated the medalist, Bob Walsh of Joliet, 2 up, in the senior division. Other headliners advanced with Jac Chamberlain, defending champion pacing the junior section.

Hall jumped into an early lead and at the turn had a 3 up advantage. Walsh three putted two greens on the first nine and had trap trouble on the sixth. The home stretch also proved troublesome to the medalist, although he cut the lead held by Walsh down to one on the sixteenth green, when he registered a par 3. Three putts by Walsh on the final hole gave Hall the decision.

Chamberlain Has Trouble.

Chamberlain had two close battles, winning his morning eighteen from Bob Bertch, 3 and 1, and then coming back in the afternoon to eke out a 1 up victory over George Kuester, Northwestern golf course caddy champion. Kuester three putted the 17th to give Chamberlain a 1 up lead, and they halved the 18th with a pair of 5s. The match was all square at the end of nine holes, each registering a 38, three strokes over par.

Three putts on the nineteenth green cost Chester Bland his match with George Johnson. Each finished the 18 with an 80. On the extra hole Johnson scored a par 5 while Bland had a 6.

Morrell Faces Test.

John Morrell, the favorite in the junior division, will face his hardest test in the semi-finals today when he meets Chamberlain. Bernard Jacobs will meet John Dixon in the other junior match. The senior section will bring together Bob Hall and Parker Thomas, with Ralph Carlson opposing George Johnson. Yesterday's results:

Pittsburgh Crawfords to Meet Giants Today

The Pittsburgh Crawfords baseball team will open a series against the Chicago American Giants at Cole's park this afternoon. A double-header is scheduled for tomorrow and a ladies' day game Monday, after which the two teams travel to Milwaukee where they meet Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Winnipeg Cricket Team Loses Farewell Game

The Winnipeg Junior Cricket club closed its Chicago invasion yesterday by losing to a team from the Illinois Cricket association, 169 to 56, at Winnetka. Neate and Williams led the Illinois team with 75 and 42 runs, respectively. Banting scored 15 for the Canadian team.

Shields, Parker Eliminate Last Foreign Threat

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Frank Shields and Frank Parker rid the men's national doubles tournament of its last foreign threat today at Longwood. Their nicely mixed attack of force and skill defeated the European stars, Roderick Menzel of Szechoslovakia and Enrique Maier of Spain, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 9-7, in a quarter-finals match.

Shields gave the enemy only seven points during his 11 service games. Parker was almost as brilliant on the delivery end and more so at the net. Menzel and Maier played great tennis, the best since they organized a doubles team, but the only time they clicked was during the second set, when Parker suffered a brief letdown.

Wilmer Hines of Columbia, S. C., and Henry Culley of Santa Barbara, Cal., entered the semi-finals by trouncing Berkley Bell of New York and Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., 6-3, 7-4, 5-7, 6-4.

While the men were battling for places in the semi-final round the survivors in the women's championship team play were striving for the finals. Two pairs of English Wightman cup players engaged United States Wightman cup rivals, and when the international volleying ceased the natives were in command.

The defending champions, Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline overcame Nancy Lyle and Evelyn Dearman, 8-6, 6-4, while Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, Conn., and Carolyn Babcock, Los Angeles, eliminated the Wimbledon champions, Freda James and Kay Stammers, 6-3, 8-6.

Shields and Parker will face off against the United States Davis cup youngsters, Don Budge, Oakland, Cal., and Gene Mako, Los Angeles, tomorrow, and Hines and Culley will oppose Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn. The men's title play, due to yesterday's heavy rain, has been put over until Monday.

FRED W. COOLEY, FORMER BOXER, TAKES OWN LIFE

Fred W. Cooley, 53 years old, light heavyweight boxer 25 years ago and once an opponent of Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, killed himself in his home yesterday at 2510 West Monroe street. His wife found him dead on the floor of their bedroom, a bullet hole in his temple and a .38 caliber revolver clutched in his hand. In his diary Warren avenue police found a notation: "I'm tired of it all. I'm going to take one last shot. If I miss, I've failed again." The widow told police he recently had lost a considerable sum of money in the stock market.

Pitt Star Sees Team Spirit as Major Factor

reached the line of scrimmage. Under the college pass rule that will be in effect Thursday night, however, Nagurski will have to plunge once he commits himself to a dash toward center. And Shotwell says he's going to be ready for that plunge.

If Nagurski ever gets through the line, Shotwell believes that it will take the full strength of the secondary to stop them.

Shotwell comes to the All-Star squad with a record of three years on the Pittsburgh eleven. And those three years were among the most successful in that institution's history.

He said that he has had no difficulty getting used to the Notre Dame system employed by the All-Stars because he studied that style of play closely during his career at Pitt. Shotwell went up against Notre Dame three times and helped his team score three consecutive victories over the Irish—an unprecedented feat. Although Shotwell never has seen Notre Dame cross a goal line which he has been defending, he has a lot of respect for the South Bend team. He said that whenever Notre Dame and Pittsburgh met it was certain that there would be two exhausted teams at the finish.

The game with the Bears probably will be the end of Shotwell's career in football. He is now working for the Goodyear Rubber company at Akron, O., and has no intention of taking up work as a coach or as a pro football player.

Removes Last Obstacle to Louis Fight.

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Max Baer's hands received the official approval of the state boxing commission today. X-rays showed signs of fractures several years old, but now healed, so that Baer's hands are stronger than ever, Brig.-Gen. John J. Phelan, chairman of the commission, announced after examining plates made yesterday.

"There were signs of old dislocations, but no indication of an injury recent enough to be attributed to Baer's match with Jim Braddock," Phelan said.

The commission formally notified Promoter Mike Jacobs that it was approving the general condition of Baer as well as the condition of his hands, which were supposed to have been badly damaged when he lost the title to Braddock.

Last Obstacle Removed.

Promoter Jacobs has ambitious plans which promise the greatest attendance that has ever assembled at any boxing contest in this city.

"I am going to have seating accommodations for close to 100,000 for Sept. 24," Jacobs said. "What is more, according to my present plans, every seat not only will be comfortable, but will provide an unobstructed view of the ring.

"The layout in Chicago for the Louis-King Levinsky fight was said to be the best thing of its kind thus far for the fight fan, but the arrangements my engineers have worked out for the Baer-Louis bout will beat this all hollow. The new layout is going to prove an expensive proposition, but it will be worth the additional cost, and I can afford it, as I am getting around $75,000 for the radio and picture rights.

"After my long association with Tex Rickard and my experience in judging the drawing power of an important fight, I am certain that I will need accommodations for at least 100,000 spectators, and I'll be ready to take care of them."

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Discovery runs again here tomorrow. The Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt handicap champion came back to his stable here in perfect condition after his defeat last Wednesday in the Narragansett Special under 139 pounds. He will go to the post tomorrow in the Whitney, a mile and a quarter test which is a memorial to William Collins Whitney and his two sons, Harry Payne, and Payne Whitney.

Sixteen Colts in Stakes.

This is a weight for age stake, and while the famous son of Display will have to take up the top impost, this will be only scale weight of 126 pounds. Coupled with Discovery will be the mare Hindu Queen, and the entry is expected to rule one of the shortest favorites of the Saratoga season. Three others, Esposa, Firethorn and Somebody are entered against the racer which had a winning streak of eight important victories broken in the Rhode Island meet.

As a companion piece to the Whitney the Grand Union Hotel stakes will be run, bringing together 16 of the best 2 year olds at the track.

Price makers can not agree on a pre-race favorite, not to speak of agreeing on the winner. Half a dozen opinions were ventured this afternoon among well informed figure men as to which horse would go to the post the public choice.

Bowtome Well Liked.

There was considerable support for the E. R. Bradley colt Bowtome, which has done well at the meeting and which gets in tomorrow with 117. Others liked Mariel, which must pack top weight of 128 pounds. Delphinium and Postage Due are other stake winners eligible, both of which must take up penalties in the form of extra weight.

The western contingent strongly supports The Fighter, a juvenile, which is hailed as one able to upset the entire 2 year old situation.

First Beating of CareerHung on Colt Adolf

One of the few unbeaten 2 year olds in the country, a colt called Adolf, owned by J. H. Gaines of Kentucky, took it on the chin in the Calumet purse at Lincoln Fields yesterday. After three victories in a row at Latonia he finished third in the Calumet. Mrs. E. B. Carpenter's Empty Bottle won the race with Dixiana stable's Erin Torch second.

Empty Bottle made a furious pace all the way and until midway in the stretch was in front by four lengths. Erin Torch made up some ground in the last half furlong, but was beaten by two lengths. Empty Bottle paid $8.80.

J. D. Mikel, the trainer and owner who is operating at Lincoln Fields under an injunction issued in Superior court, saddled Flabbergast, the winner of the mile and a sixteenth seventh race. Flabbergast races in the silks of G. Ewin, a banker in Carlock, Ill., which is the home town of Mikel. Flabbergast paid $24.60. It was the first winner Mikel has saddled since he was ruled off the turf by the Lincoln Fields board of stewards. The temporary injunction permitting him to race horses here became effective on Thursday.

The question of whether Mikel is to be paid the purse won by Flabbergast has been taken under advisement by the Lincoln Fields stewards. There is a possibility the money may be placed in escrow until Mikel's legal battle for reinstatement has been adjudicated.

Ten year old My Dandy tried to win another race at Lincoln Fields yesterday, but capturing two in a row is too much of a job for the veteran campaigner these days. Two younger rivals, Born Happy and Bubblesome, outfooted him. My Dandy finished third. Born Happy was sold a few days ago by Col. E. R. Bradley to B. Hernandez of New Orleans.

Few long shots have won in easier fashion than Frost Bite did in the first race yesterday. She raced a half dozen lengths in front all the way and wound up by beating Fire Star, the favorite, by eight lengths. Frost Bite was at 21 to 1 in the betting.

Jocky A. Jolley, who isn't much of a rider anyway, was suspended five day by the stewards for rough riding on No Saint in the third race. No Saint was second, beaten narrowly by the favorite, Bert Reid.

BERT REID, forced to lose much ground and under pressure after three-eighths, overcame light interference while working his way to front and outgamed NO SAINT in a stubborn dual the final three-sixteenths. Latter, away fast and lightly restrained until reaching stretch where he bore out, failed to hold the winner but held on with the closing fury he showed. GOOD CHEER, slow to get going, slipped through on inside on the stretch turn and continued to save ground thereafter.

BORN HAPPY, moved to inside straight in opening quarter, drew away fast under urging on the turn and continuing with good speed while bearing out in stretch, held BUBBLESOME safe to win with something left. Latter, quick to recover after being forced back approaching the turn, raced wide on stretch turn and weakened near end but outstayed MY DANDY. EMPTY BOTTLE, going in his best form and away fast drew, gut into a good lead easily before reaching the turn, increased his advantage when racing wide on stretch turn and won with speed in reserve. ERIN TORCH shipped through on inside on the turn, following winner out entering stretch and closed well under strong handling when straight. ADOLF, under urging throughout, held on fairly well.

BANDALORE, favored by racing room in early stages and showing fine speed from the start, took command gradually approaching stretch and continuing strongly won without need of strong urging. PANTOUFLE, away slowly, caused considerable crowding on the outside by her sweep through on inside on far turn, stood a mild drive gamely while unable to menace winner, showed a fine effort. SIR RIDGWAY, fractious at post, dropped back approaching the turn, lost much ground on stretch turn and closed well.

BANK CONTROL BILL IS SIGNED BY ROOSEVELT

New Dealers Foresee 'Managed Money.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

M. S. ECCLES. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

As the bill was signed both New Dealers and bankers termed it "an important advance" and as a measure which "merits confidence on the part of the banks." New Dealers were frank in admitting that, despite revisions forced in the senate, the bill gives them all the control over credit and money they desired.

Roosevelt, asked at his press conference what he hoped for the future of the law, replied that he hoped it would live up to its title, which describes it as "a bill to provide for the sound, effective, and uninterrupted operation of the banking system."

Eccles Says He Is Satisfied.

Gov. Marriner S. Eccles, chief proponent of the controversial credit control sections of the law, declared himself satisfied, pointing out that the law creates "a centralized authority over and fixed responsibility for monetary management."

"Considering the objectives and purposes of the legislation as originally proposed and as finally enacted, I am very well satisfied with the outcome," Eccles said. "By providing for a centralized authority over and fixed responsibility for monetary management, for a broadening of the basis for credit extension by the banking system, and for better organization of the federal reserve system, a large contribution has been made to the solution of one of the most important problems confronting the country today.

Calls Law Important Advance.

"In my judgment the banking bill now signed by the President marks an important advance in the development of the country's banking system and the adaptation of monetary administration to present day conditions and national needs. It was realized at the outset that the measure was far from being the last word in creating a perfect banking system. It was also realized that widespread controversy was unavoidable, as it always has been, whenever proposals have been put forth involving material changes in the banking and monetary system.

"The function of banking and money is perhaps the most important of all in our entire economy. It is at the very foundation of our interdependent industrial society. The subject is complicated and difficult to understand. It always has been and presumably always will be beset by sharply conflicting theories and opinions."

Bankers Term It Acceptable.

The American Bankers' association in New York, meanwhile, was issuing a letter to its members calling on them to have confidence in the new law and terming it "and acceptable measure."

The bill was signed into law in the President's executive office shortly after noon. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Reserve Governor Marriner S. Eccles, Controler of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor, Chairman Leo T. Crowley of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, Senators Duncan U. Fletcher [Dem., Fla.] and Carter Glass [Dem., Va.], and Representative Henry B. Steagall [Dem., Ala.] witnessed the signing.

FIND RICH BED OF METAL USED TO HARDEN STEEL

Denver, Cal., Aug. 23.—(AP)—A rich molybdenum "strike" in southwestern Wyoming was announced here today by Charles C. Coulter, Denver mining engineer and geologist.

Coulter said a "mountain" of the metal, used to harden steel, was found on Crater mountain, 65 miles southwest of Cody. He asserted ore in the newly discovered property is richer than that of the Climax mine near Leadville, Colo., which produces between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 worth of the metal yearly. This is about 75 per cent of the world's output.

Coulter said a sample of ore from the Wyoming mine assayed 3.09 per cent molybdenum. Ore from the climax mine assays about 1 per cent. William F. [Buffalo Bill] Cody and other pioneers prospected the Cody region for gold more than a quarter century ago and then abandoned their claims. Coulter said Cody and his associates threw away tons of molybdenum bearing rock.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Salaries, stock holdings, and profit and loss data which 11 corporations had filed "confidentially" with the Securities and Exchange commission were made public today.

This is the first time the commission has forced publication of information which some 300 registering corporations wished kept "confidential." No explanation of the action was made by the commission except the formal statement that disclosure was "in the public interest."

A long string of similar actions may be expected from the SEC under the precedent set today. Many large corporations, notably the Standard Oil companies, have declined to reveal the salaries of their officers.

Jewel Tea Objection Ignored.

The Jewel Tea company, Barrington, Ill., despite its continued objections, was obliged to allow the salaries paid its officers and directors to be made public.

M. H. Karker, president, was disclosed as having received total remuneration of $37,860 during 1934; of this amount $42,000 was his salary, $45,720 was paid him under the company's profit sharing plan, and $140 was director's fee. F. M. Kasch, vice president, received $22,105, of which $10,615 was salary, $11,430 was a share of the profits, and $60 was director's fee. C. W. Kaylor, vice president, received $19,010, of which $7,500 was salary, $11,430 was from the profit sharing plan, and $80 was director's fee. John M. Hancock, chairman, received $11,940 and Robert D. Updegraff, director, $6,100 in salary and director's fees.

Sundstrand Salaries Told.

The Sundstrand Machine Tool company, Rockford, Ill., withdrew its original objection and permitted publication of its salaries. Hugo L. Olson, president and general manager, received $11,745; Gust H. Ekstrom, works manager, received $4,915; George A. Lindblade, secretary and treasurer, received $3,380, and Gilmore Landstrom, director, received $2,940.

Bloomingdale, chairman, and $50,000 to Hiram C. Bloomingdale, vice president. In addition Schaap and Hatry were to receive 2.5 per cent of net earnings, plus 2.5 per cent on net earnings over $1,000,000.

COURT REFUSES TO RETURN CASH PAID UNDER CODE

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Aaron J. Levy today dismissed a suit brought to recover money collected and disbursed by the NRA millinery code authority in a decision described as the first of its kind to be rendered in the United States since the United States Supreme court declared NRA unconstitutional.

"It seems to me," said Justice Levy in announcing his decision, "the plaintifs have no cause for action against the incorporated authority for moneys collected to be paid out under a mistake of law.". He referred to the Schechter chicken case which, carried to the United States Supreme court, resulted in the death of NRA.

Maxwell E. Lopin, attorney for the millinery code authority, said this decision will set at rest any fears entertained by other code authorities who feel they might have to restore money collected and used by the authorities before the Schechter case.

Plaintifs were B. Seiden and William F. Chiniquy of Chicago. The defendants were Max Meyer, director of the millinery authority, and members of the authority board. Seiden and Chiniquy were described as subscribers to the code.

HAITI REPORTED PLANNING LOAN OF 33 MILLIONS

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The government sponsored newspaper, the Haiti Journal, announced today government plans to float a 500,000,000 franc loan, about $33,000,000, for public works.

Interest on the loan would be 6 per cent and it would be amortized in forty years. Funds would be used for roads, bridges, port improvements, irrigation, and construction of an electric power plant. The legislature will meet in extraordinary session Monday to consider the plan. The source of revenue to meet the loan was not announced.

New Dealers Wish to Probe Bank Accounts

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—An investigation of private bank deposits to discover whether the rich get richer and the poor get poorer during depressions is being planned by the New Dealers, inquiry disclosed today.

Two thousand white collar relief clients may be turned loose on the records of 500 banks to discover the size of bank balances in 1928 and 1932 under plans being weighed by the relief administration, the reserve board, and banking associations.

Denials that the names of persons with large bank deposits will be disclosed to the public or even to government authorities were immediately forthcoming from officials. Bank accounts will be marked by the banks with identifying letters or numbers.

Where Does Wealth Go?

The purpose of the investigation is to discover whether wealth concentrates in the hands of rich persons before or during depressions, sponsers of the project admitted. They denied the study had any connection with New Deal wealth taxation and penalizing plans, although the aims are in line with such plans.

Economists lack information on the movement of money and its velocity during periods of depression, advocates of the investigation argue, and the undertaking is to supply this derth of data. The projects was planned by the reserve board's economic division, headed by E. A. Goldenweiser.

Whether the plan goes through depends on the reception accorded it by the American Bankers' association and the Reserve City Bankers' association. Representatives of these two associations have been asked to state whether the bank will coöperate.

Eccles Awaits Bankers' Approval.

Gov. Marriner S. Eccles, it is understood, will not approve the project or even suggest it to the reserve board unless the banking representatives agree to it. Gov. Eccles is leaving tomorrow for at least a month's vacation and the matter will hang fire for that period.

Obtaining of money from the work relief fund by the reserve board would be necessary to pay for the investigation and employ the white collar bank workers now on relief. The plan had its inception in a request from Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins asking if the reserve board could think of any way to employ white collar relief clients. Dr. Goldenweiser suggested this method.

Report Shipping Concerns Taking Out War Insurance

OSLO, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Many shipowners have taken out war insurance, it was disclosed today in marine circles. The Norwegian Insurance Companies association appointed a committee to draw up war insurance conditions covering both ships and goods.

AMERICAN SMELTING WILL PAY $36,383,300 OF 5% MORTGAGE BONDS

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—The American Smelting and Refining company will redeem all of its outstanding 5 per cent first mortgage bonds aggregating $36,383,300. To provide the necessary funds for this purpose a new issue of first mortgage and first lien 4 per cent bonds totaling $25,000,000 will be sold privately to a group of five insurance companies, the company announced. The bonds mature Oct. 1, 1950, but will be subject to redemption under terms which are deemed favorable to the company.

Approximately $5,000,000 will be procured from several banks on serial notes which will be payable over a period of five years and the remainder of the funds for the retirement of the outstanding bonds will be taken from the treasury of the company.

Under this plan payments through the sinking fund will be deferred until Aug. 15, 1941, and the cash savings in addition to the saving through the reduction of the interest rate will provide for the payments to be made to the banks on the serial notes.

Though the date of the redemption of the old bonds will be Oct. 1, 1935, bondholders who wish to may present their bonds for payment at any time after the date of the notice of redemption and upon doing so will receive principal with interest accrued to Oct. 1, 1935. Notice of redemption at par will be given Aug. 30.

Five Firms Get Contract to Make Shoes for Army

Boston, Mass., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Five companies were successful bidders on a contract for 562,500 pairs of shoes, costing $1,412,170, Col. George Luberoff, commanding officer of the Boston quartermaster depot of the United States army, announced today. Among them was the Chippewa Shoe Manufacturing company, Chippewa Falls, Wis., for 200,000 pairs at $2.56 a pair.

Break in U. S. Bonds Drives 3 Below Par

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—United States government bonds today suffered the widest decline of the year in the heaviest turnover since June 20. Losses ranged from 2-32 to 31-32 of a point. Of the 21 issues traded, 15 showed net declines of ½ point or more, three broke par, and two established new low records since their issuance. Sales of federal loans expanded to $9,139,300, compared with $4,083,000 on Thursday.

The treasury 2⅞s continued to absorb the bulk of trading and dropped to a new low at 99.26, while the Federal Farm mortgage 2¾s of 1947 yielded almost at full point and made a new low mark at 99.16. The Home Owners loan 2¾s was the other issue which broke par and, after sinking to 99.3, crept up to close at 99.10.

Several Causes for Decline.

The decline was attributed in government bond circles to various causes, including the nervousness created by the late rush in congress, the war scare, and lack of government support. The latter is interpreted by some as indicating approval by the treasury officials of the corrective price movement of government obligations. It was contended in some quarters that no important liquidation came from the large holders, particularly banks.

Trading in domestic corporation bonds was again featured by the further advance in local traction issues. Gains of fractions to 3¾ points were recorded in that group with several of the traction bonds reaching new high marks.

Secondary Rails in Demand.

Second grade railroad liens responded to a fair speculative demand, while public utility bonds acted especially well in the face of the disturbing Washington news and the decline in utility stocks. American Water Works and electric issues, however, were pressed down about 2 points. A gain of 6 points in Murray Body 6½s was an individual highlight.

Fresh support entered the market for Italian dollar loans, resulting in fractional to 1½ point rallies in the majority of those issues. Italian public credit 7s A, however, dropped 12 points on a turnover of 5 bonds.

Total sales of all listed bonds amounted to $17,576,300, compared with $12,336,000 yesterday.

SILVER POLICY OF U. S. CURBING CANADIAN TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Montreal, Que., Aug. 23.—Murmurings of protest are being heard in Canada against the silver policy of the United States.

The silver conference held in London in 1933 was believed by Canada to be for the purpose of stabilizing the price of silver. On that basis Canada joined the pact, calling for the purchase annually by the dominion of 1,600,000 ounces of silver.

The terms of the agreement have been faithfully carried out by Canada, and the silver is lying unused and unwanted in the vaults of the Bank of Canada. Meanwhile Canada has lost trade in China because of the rise in the price of silver caused by United States price lifting methods.

VOLUME OF BANK ACCEPTANCES IS LOWER IN JULY

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The volume of bankers' dollar acceptances continued to decline during July, and at the end of the month the amount outstanding was down to $320,890,746, the American acceptance council reported today. This figure compared with $343,285,933 outstanding at the end of June and $515,604,714 at the end of July, 1934.

The council pointed out that even in normal times when the acceptance volume totaled $1,000,000,000 or more, July was always the low point of the year in acceptance credit demand.

Directors of Borg-Warner Postpone Dividend Meeting

Freight Trafic Makes First Gain in 10 Weeks Over 1934

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—A larger than seasonal gain was recorded in freight trafic on the nation's railroads last week, the first time in ten weeks that the movement has risen above the level of a year ago, according to figures released today by the Association of American Railroads.

The total of 615,006 cars for the week was 31,263 cars above the 583,743 cars moved in the preceding week. The gain over the corresponding week of last year amounted to 13,218 cars or 2.2 per cent. However, last week's movement was 28,400 cars below two years ago.

Nearly All Classes Gain.

A pickup in all classes of freight except coke caused the rise over the preceding week. Miscellaneous freight, grain and grain products, forest products, ore, and coke contributed to the sharp gain over last year.

Total loadings for the year to Aug. 17 amounted to 19,200,626 cars, compared with 19,606,054 in the corresponding period of last year and 17,736,321 in 1933.

Miscellaneous freight required 238,677 cars, an increase of 9,905 over the preceding week, 15,835 above 1934, and 13,501 above 1933. Less than carlot merchandise took 159,314 cars, an increase of 1,841, for the week but a reduction of 580 below 1934 and 10,050 below 1933. Coal totaled 89,993 cars, an increase of 12,117, for the week but a reduction of 2,981 below 1934 and 38,925 below 1933.

STOCKS STAGE BROAD ADVANCE; UTILITIES WEAK

Power Shares Rally Late in Session.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 23.—Stocks moved higher on a broad front today, although the utility group broke sharply. Utility shares were heavily sold following the agreement by both houses of congress on a compromise holding company bill.

Leading issues of the group broke 1 to 3 points and sales in blocks of 2,000 to 10,000 shares were of frequent occurrence, particularly in the early trading.

Persistence of the general advance enabled the power and light shares to make up some of their early losses during the afternoon. Trading was fairly brisk all day, with total volume amounting to 1,889,050 shares.

War Stocks Advance.

Stocks in line to benefit in the event of war, such as the steels, powders, and chemicals, were again prominent. U. S. Steel rose to a new high for the year, and gains running to nearly 4 points were recorded in the common and preferred issues of Gulf States Steel, Otis, Republic, and Bethlehem. Du Pont featured the chemicals with a rise of $2.50 a share, and Atlas Powder distinguished itself with a jump of more than 3 points.

Two old-time bull favorites were out in front all day. Case spurted more than 2 points in celebration of the fresh rise in wheat, and Johns-Manville, bellwether of the building division, jumped as much.

Mining shares were active. U. S. Smelting rose more than 3 points, while Dome, McIntyre, and Alaska Juneau were conspicuous. Improvement in the carloadings helped the rails to steam ahead.

Selling Heavy at Start.

The selling wave in the utilities struck full force at the very opening, reflecting the market's pessimistic appraisal of how seriously the various companies would be affected by a holding company act along the present setup of the pending bill.

However, as the rest of the list forged ahead, selling in the power and light issues began to dry up, some of the victims recovering as much as one-half of early losses. The preferreds of American Power and Light and Electric Power and Light finished 2 to 4 points below their previous closing prices and losses of a point or so went into the overnight record against Consolidated Gas, Standard Gas, American Telephone, Foreign Power, and North American.

SILVER ADVANCES ⅜ CENT; DOLLAR MOVES HIGHER

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Silver prices moved ⅜ cent higher to 65¾ cents an ounce in New York today, the first gain in more than a month. The upturn followed a rise in London, where the metal was quoted 7-16 penny higher at 29 7-16 pence, equivalent to 66 cents.

The pound declined against the dollar to $4.97⅛, off ¼ cent, after closing in London at $4.96 13-16, compared with the overnight rate of $4.97⅞. French francs declined ½ point to 6.62⅛ cents, lifting the value of the dollar to $1.0018 against francs, compared with $1.0011 yesterday. Based on the old parity of the franc, the dollar was valued at 59.17 cents, compared with 59.13 cents yesterday.

Guilders were the only European currency to rise against the dollar, improving 3 points to close at 67.78 cents. Swiss francs were off 2 points at 32.69 cents, Italian lire 1 point at 8.19 cents, belgas 2 points at 16.87 cents, and German marks 6 points at 40.29 cents. Hongkong dollars rose 132 points, or 1.32 cents, to 49.87 cents, and Shanghai dollars gained 30 points to 37.35 cents.

Bar gold in London advanced 1½ pence to 140 shillings 1½ pence a fine ounce, equivalent to $34.87. An amount valued at £392,000 was purchased at this price.

RFC APPROVED 5 BILLION NOTE ISSUE IN JULY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—(AP)—The Reconstruction Finance corporation reported to congress today it had authorized a $5,000,000,000 issue of notes and $24,364,423 of loans in July.

The $5,000,000,000 issue was to retire $3,725,000,000 in notes already in the hands of the United States treasury. The balance will be sold to the treasury as additional funds are needed.

There were 60 loans approved. These included $10,054,423 to banks and trust companies, of which $9,182,423 was for reorganization or liquidation of closed banks and trust companies. In addition $220,000 was lent to aid in liquidating a closed building and loan association and $14,090,000 to mortgage loan companies.

Pork Storing Signals Glut in Meat Trade

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Dispatches from the east telling that several carloads of fresh pork loins that arrived in New York yesterday had immediately been placed in cold storage threw the meat trade into a tailspin.

This, together with the current decline in prices of hogs and pork, was quickly accepted at the Chicago stockyards as evidence that the consumer resistance to high meat prices had finally broken the uptrend in prices that has been under way for weeks.

Fresh pork loins do not go into cold storage unless packers are convinced that the market is glutted. Normally the pork would go immediately to meat markets for retail distribution.

Pork is scarce, due to the Agricultural Adjustment administration's big pig and sow destruction campaign and last year's drouth, but demand for pork appears to have dropped so low that even the present meager supplies are not being consumed.

* *

The drop in pork consumption, according to packers, has not been the work of publicity seeking agitators who have picketed packing houses. It is due to the mental reactions of the housewives who, after looking at the price of pork on the meat market list, decide they'll eat fish, spinach or eggs.

The thing that tipped the scales this week and started hog prices downward, according to experts at the Chicago stockyards, was the sudden increase in hog receipts due to the cholera scare. This increase in shipments of hogs from farms, although not large, was just enough to glut a market in which consumption was already drying up.

The increase in hog shipments now is expected to mean abnormally small receipts during the autumn, but it is believed that prices will be kept in line by the attitude of the consumer.

Chicago Leaders Discuss Constitution—Privately.

What was probably one of the most interesting discussions on the subject of the United States constitution held in recent weeks occurred on Thursday between a group of leading Republican and Democrats but a full account of it can never be reported because it occurred at a private party given at the Lake Forest estate of Albert D. Lasker, nationally known advertising man and former head of the United States shipping board under President Harding.

Among the guests who enjoyed Mr. Lasker's hospitality, including the use of his private 18-hole golf course —one of the finest in the country— were such men as Gen. Charles G. Dawes, former vice president of the United States, and Silas Strawn, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and close friend of Herbert Hoover, on the Republican side, and former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio, 1920 Democratic candidate for President, and Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the Continental Illinois National bank and former assistant secretary of the treasury, on the Democratic side.

Mr. Strawn is reported to have made a stirring speech in defense of the constitution. Mr. Cox is understood to have responded, defending the Democratic viewpoint that the constitution should be modified.

QUAKER OATS CO. DECLARES EXTRA DIVIDEND OF $1

Directors of the Quaker Oats company yesterday declared an extra dividend of $1 a share on the common stock in addition to the regular quarterly payment of the same amount, both payable Oct. 15 to stockholders of record Oct. 1. The usual quarterly disbursement of $1.50 a share on the 6 per cent preferred stock was also voted, payable Nov. 30 to stock of record Nov. 1.

This is the second extra to be declared on common this year and brings 1935 disbursements to $6 a share, the same as in 1934, when two similar extras were paid. In 1933 an extra of $1 was disbursed, prior to which extras of $3 a share annually were the general practice.

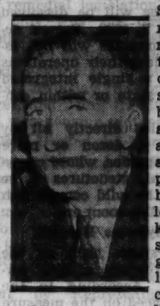
WORLD COTTON PRICES FALL AS AAA CUTS LOAN

Japanese Exchange Forced to Close.

Cotton prices tumbled throughout the world yesterday under the impact of the United States government's announcement Thursday that loans will be on a 9 cent instead of a 12 cent basis. Traders scurried to sell and prices broke as much as 92 points or $6.60 a bale in New Orleans. Other markets slumped less severely and a general rally in later trading canceled part of the losses.



SENATOR BYRNES.

At one time it was estimated that the market value of the 1935 American crop and the 9,000,000 bale carryover from last season was down $70,000,000 from Thursday.

Down $2.10 to $3 Here.

The late rally left Chicago prices 41 to 60 points lower at the end of the day, equal to $2.10 to $3 a bale. Other markets closed off 35 to 60 points. In New York the decline amounted to $1.60 to $2.70 a bale at the close.

The consternation in the markets of the world was at its peak in Osaka, Japan, where the exchange was forced to suspend trading during the morning because of violent price movements. Liverpool, Paris, Barcelona, Milan, Bremen, and Alexandria were affected to lesser degrees.

The excited liquidation was met in Washington with the AAA predicting the first billion dollar cotton crop since 1929. Some observers said the advance reflected hopes of traders that the lower level would tend to restore a "free market" and make for more active trading.

Davis Defends Plan.

"The government policy," he said, "not only promises the best cotton income the south has enjoyed for years, but also means enlarged outlet for cotton exports, which are of immense importance to the cotton industry.

"When cotton farmers understand how easily and simply this plan will work they will be in no hurry whatever to market this year's crop. The assurance of government payments to farmers making up to them the difference, if any, between 12 cents and the average price of cotton on the ten spot markets from Sept. 1 to Jan. 1 will give growers ample time to estimate the true market situation and sell to the greatest advantage to themselves."

Chicago Trade's View.

While southern congressmen were assailing the new program lustily, Chicago trade comment inclined to the view that both domestic and foreign demand would be improved and that the steady expansion of cotton acreage in Brazil and numerous other countries might be curtailed.

Generally speaking, the "middle man" section of the cotton trade approved the new policy. Growers and textile mill owners disapproved. Mills favored the straight 12 cent loan because they have been purchasing supplies at prices based on the theory that it would continue.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, on a speach making junket in Iowa when the announcement was made, expressed pleasure at the policy adopted.

OPPOSITION FLARES.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Senate opposition to the farm administration's 1935 cotton loan subsidy plan flared tonight when Senator Byrnes [Dem., S. C.] introduced an amendment to the third deficiency bill to force a flat 12 cent loan. Consideration of the amendment was postponed until tomorrow after Byrnes had threatened an all-night filibuster.

UTILITIES FACE UNSCRAMBLING CAPITAL SETUPS

Integrated Systems Are Exempted.

Utility holding company executives were looking forward yesterday with dismay to the task of unscrambling their complicated capital structures as the Wheeler-Rayburn public utility bill, containing a "compromise" death sentence clause, moved toward final passage in congress.

The measure, which will probably go to the President today, decrees that all holding companies beyond the second degree will be dissolved by law after Jan. 1, 1938. Second degree holding companies will not escape the axe unless their operations are confined to a single integrated system within a state or within contiguous states.

Those companies directly hit by the bill include a dozen or more superholding companies, whose gerrymandered capital structures were built up during the wild competition for properties in the boom era.

Integrated Systems Exempt.

Integrated systems such as the Public Service Company of New Jersey are exempt. According to the interpretation placed on the measure by Chicago utility men, such companies as the Commonwealth Edison company are also unaffected by the holding company death clause.

The Edison company is both an operating and a holding company. Its direct operations constitute by far the big portion of its business and what other interests it has are in the immediate Chicago territory. The company controls the Western United company, Illinois Northern Utilities company, and owns a 30 per cent interest in the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. The company has been gradually simplifying its capital structure, and its present setup is such as to classify as an integrated system.

Such concerns as the Standard Gas & Electric company, Associated Gas and Electric, Commonwealth and Southern, Electric Bond and Share, which control subholding companies and sub-subholding companies, face the job of clearing away the intermediate concerns between the top unit and the operating property.

J. J. O'Brien Is Silent.

John J. O'Brien, president of the Standard Gas and Electric company, would make no comment yesterday as to the effect of the measure on his concern. The exact meaning of certain terms of the bill are still uncertain, he said, and would have no comment to make until he had studied the revised draft of the bill.

Officials of utility operating companies are more concerned with the section of the bill which gives the federal government power to regulate companies doing an interstate business than with the holding company section. Under title II of the original Wheeler-Rayburn bill such companies were brought under federal jurisdiction.

Under this section the Commonwealth Edison company might be subject to certain federal regulation because part of its power producing facilities, the State-Line Generating plant, is located in Indiana. Edison, however, has taken no part in the campaign against the bill except in so far as it supported the program of the Edison Electric institute.

REORGANIZATION SOUGHT FOR TWO LOOP BUILDINGS

A petition for reorganization under section 77B of the amended bankruptcy laws was filed yesterday in federal court against the Town Center Building corporation and the City Hall Square Building corporation. The 17 story property affected is at 139 North Clark street.

In a bill on behalf of nine creditors, Attorney Leo Waxman estimated the value of the property at approximately $1,000,000, against liabilities of $2,000,000. On the liability side of the ledger were listed $150,000 back taxes, a first mortgage of $1,617,500, and interest at 7 per cent since Aug., 1931. The amount of interest was not computed. The property has been operated by a bondholders committee since 1931.

Finchley Building Corporation, operators of the 15 story building at 23 E. Jackson boulevard, was named in a reorganization petition filed here in Danville, Ill., federal court. The petition was signed by Sara B. Lappard, John O'Brien and Mary E. Canney.

WHEAT PRICES REVERSE TREND; AND MOVE HIGHER

December Future Rises Cent a Bushel.

The expansion in speculative activity was apparent. The selling, credited to milling interests, that the market encountered was easily absorbed.

	Yesterday.	Thursday.	Wk. ago.
Corn	.56⅜	.55⅞	.57⅛
Oats	.28⅝	.28⅛	.28
Rye	.45¾	.45	.44¼

Most World Markets Lower.

The price advance here developed in the face of a decline in most of the other principal world markets. Wheat dropped a fraction of a cent a bushel in Liverpool and more than a cent in Rotterdam. In Winnipeg a slight upturn took place.

While the European political situation remains a potentially important market factor, the absence of significant developments yesterday eliminated it as an immediate price influence. If world demand for wheat should increase suddenly it would certainly bring a quick response in all markets. The winter crops in Argentina and Australia are suffering from protracted drouth. The United States is already drawing supplies from Canada.

Marathon Paper Mills.

Investors' Guide: Please give me an analysis of Marathon Paper Mills 5½ per cent bonds.—Miss R. E. S.

Answer: Marathon Paper Mills company is a Wisconsin manufacturer of specialty papers and paper board, which it converts into cartons, containers, and wrappers for packing food and other commodities. Operating results, consequently, are less dependent on conditions generally prevailing in the paper industry than on general business activity. Earnings in general have followed the trend of business.

The company's fiscal year ends Oct. 31. In only one of the last seven years, 1932, has the company failed to cover its fixed charges. Net sales for the year ended Oct. 31, 1934, were $8,666,000, against $7,582,000 for 1933, $7,139,000 for 1932, and $8,737,000 for 1931.

In the 1934 year the company covered its fixed charges 3.33 times, against 1.65 times in 1933. In 1932 a loss of $21,000 before fixed charges of $237,000 was sustained, while in 1932 fixed charges were earned 2.28 times.

On Oct. 31, 1934, current position appeared satisfactory. Current assets, including cash of $174,000, were $2,957,000 and current liabilities were $997,000. The $4,000,000 issue of first mortgage 5½s, due serially to Nov. 1, 1942, had been reduced to $2,900,000.

Universal Pipe and Radiator.

Investors' Guide: I shall appreciate information on Universal Pipe and Radiator stock.—K. O.

Answer: Universal Pipe and Radiator company is a holding company whose wholly owned subsidiaries manufacture cast iron pipe, boilers, radiators, plumbing supplies, railroad brake shoes, and artificial stone for ornamental purposes, as well as operating byproduct coke ovens.

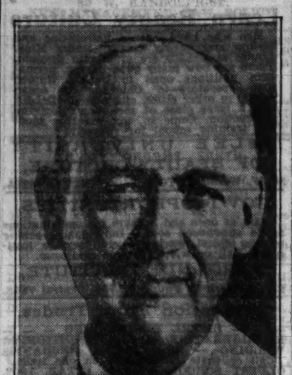
The company has sustained heavy losses in the last five years. The drying up of new building construction has taken heavy toll.

Loss in the first half of 1935 was $118,000, against $18,000 in the first half of 1934. The company lost $245,000 in 1934, $594,000 in 1933, $1,055,000 in 1932, and $500,000 in 1931.

The effect of these losses on current position is apparent. On Dec. 31, 1934, current assets, including only $77,000 cash, totaled $1,308,000 and current liabilities, including $740,000 secured notes payable, were $1,548,000. The company will be faced with the maturity of $1,604,000 of funded debt on Dec. 1, 1936. Interest has been paid irregularly.

The 26,103 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock, par $100, and the 488,287 shares of $1 par common are highly speculative.

Completes Long Trip



ALDEN B. SWIFT.

Alden B. Swift, vice president of Swift & Co., arrived at the Municipal airport late yesterday from Miami, Fla., on the last leg of an airplane tour which covered 16,000 miles and extended throughout Argentina and elsewhere in South America.

It was one of several plane trips he has made in South America and was "only a routine business trip" in which he inspected the Swift plants in Argentina. He said that the supply of cattle was normal there, as the drouth was not serious.

"I saw John McCutcheon of THE TRIBUNE while there," said Swift. "I flew over the Andes with the McCutcheons and later passed them in Pernambuco when they were on the Graf Zeppelin."

WICKHAMS QUIT GRAIN PIT AFTER BEING SUSPENDED

Partners Sell Seats on Board of Trade.

Thomas Y. Wickham and H. H. Wickham Sr., senior partners in the grain commission firm of Beach, Wickham & Co., yesterday sold their memberships on the Chicago Board of Trade. The action followed by a few hours membership suspensions imposed on the two brokers at a special meeting of Board of Trade directors late Thursday.

Thomas Y. Wickham was a member of the exchange for more than thirty years and since last February has been its first vice president. He announced his resignation as vice president yesterday shortly before notice of the sale of his seat was posted on the exchange floor.

Discipline Unusual Step.

The disciplinary step against one of the principal officers is one of the most unusual in the history of the exchange. Seldom since its organization in 1848 has a similar situation arisen.

The last notable case was in 1912 when Frank Bunch, then president of the board, was suspended from membership for violation of the rules outlawing bucketing.

The suspension voted against Thomas Y. Wickham was for a thirty day period. Three other partners of the firm, Clinton S. Beach, Corwin Wickham and H. H. Wickham Jr., were deprived of their membership privileges for the same period of time. Directors found these partners had violated the exchange regulations in failing to enforce minimum margin requirements.

Suspended One Year.

H. H. Wickham Sr. was found guilty on the same count and also for failure to report alleged irregularities on the part of a correspondent firm and was suspended for one year. The suspensions were to have taken effect Sept. 14.

The former vice president of the exchange declined to comment on the action of the board or his own withdrawal from membership yesterday.

No announcement was made by the firm of Beach, Wickham & Co. of its plans. It is a family concern for the most part. Thomas Y. and H. H. Wickham Sr. are brothers. The latter's two sons, Corwin and H. H. Jr., are partners. Under the disciplinary action the firm, as such, is barred from exercising its clearing privileges on the exchange for a 30 day period.

LIBRARY PLAZA REORGANIZATION GIVEN APPROVAL

BY AL CHASE.

Reorganization of the leasehold bond issue on the eight story Library Plaza building, at 1637 Orrington avenue, Evanston, under 77B of the federal bankruptcy act, was announced yesterday. The plan, just approved by the federal court, provides for the extension of the maturity of the bonds to Aug. 15, 1950, with fixed interest at 3 per cent per annum. Additional interest, up to a maximum of 5 per cent annually, will be paid as earned.

Provision is made for a sinking fund for the purchase and retirement of the bonds at tendered prices. The ground of this leasehold is owned by Northwestern university. The Library Plaza building was one of five properties erected in Evanston by Victor Carlson. On all of them petitions have been filed under 77B. The Library Plaza petition is the first to be confirmed by the federal court.

Trustee Draws Up Plan.

Robert Oakes was attorney for Albert J. Peterson who, as successor trustee to the Cody Trust company, which made the bond issue, proposed the reorganization plan as just confirmed. Peterson is associated in the reorganization of various Cody Trust company real estate bond issues, with the Bills Management and Mortgage corporation and Bills Realty, Inc. Cutting, Moore & Sidley represented the Victor Carlson trust, the equity holder. Barthell & Rundall were counsel for the building corporation.

With the consummation of the reorganization plan for the Norwegian-American hospital, at Francisco, Thomas, Cortez and Richmond streets, a 3 per cent distribution of interest will be made on Sept. 1 to the holders of new bonds, it was announced yesterday by Frank C. Bernard, of Sonnenschein, Berkson, Lautmann, Levinson & Morse, attorneys.

Citizen Group Maintains Control.

"The most significant feature of the reorganization is that it leaves control of the hospital in the hands of the public spirited citizens who have for many years devoted themselves zealously to its affairs," said Bernard.

The reorganization plan provides for a single issue of $470,000 ten year 5 per cent income bonds to be exchanged par for par for the outstanding bonds of the original two issues of $180,000 [of which $35,000 was paid] and $275,000. In addition to these two issues the hospital subsequently borrowed $50,000 for equipment. New bonds also will be issued against this latter indebtedness. All but $6,800 of the outstanding bonds were deposited.

U. OF C. TO RAZE BUILDINGS FOR WEST SIDE PARK

Contracts were signed yesterday by the University of Chicago with the Globe Wrecking company for the razing of several buildings at the southeast corner of Congress and Honore streets. This is located in the two block area recently proposed as a public park directly in front of the Cook County hospital.

A federal loan of $75,000 may be sought by the city and county to carry out the park project. The remainder of the proposed park site is owned by the board of education, the state, and one individual.

Among the buildings to be wrecked by the University of Chicago, all of which are more than half a century old, is the former home of the Cook County Nurses Training school. One of the old four story structures housed the famous gambling hall of Mike McDonald several decades ago. The university property fronts 125 feet on Congress and 217 feet on Honore.

CANADIAN HOG RAISERS VIEW AAA AS SANTA CLAUS

U. S. Policies Open Wide Field for Exports.

Canada has solid reasons for counting herself one of the principal beneficiaries of the Agricultural Adjustment program in this country. The American market has been opened to a wide variety of dominion agricultural products.

The acute scarcity of hogs in this country, resulting in a large measure from the AAA's slaughtering program last year, and the prevailing high level of pork prices has opened a new and profitable outlet for Canada. While exports of Canadian pork to Great Britain are dwindling sales to this country are showing phenomenal gains.

Exports to U. S. Soar.

Statistics covering the first half of 1935 show a decline in Canadian exports of pork to Great Britain to 159,700 pounds from 918,400 pounds in the corresponding period of 1934. At the same time exports to the United States rose from 90,900 pounds in the first six months last year to 1,445,000 pounds during the first half year of 1935.

These figures include fresh, chilled, and frozen pork. Since July 1 the flow of imports from Canada have increased in volume. Pork has also been coming into the country from England. Forty thousand pounds of English pork were received at New York last week.

Contrast British Methods.

The AAA idea of helping the American farmer offers a contrast with the English method. For the last two years England has placed all foreign pork on an import quota basis. In effect English producers were given priority in the domestic market and foreigners for the most part were not allowed to benefit from the program.

In this country producers have been made to curtail their production. Prices are high but the producer has less to sell. Consumers pay high prices on both domestic and foreign pork, but without benefit on the latter to the domestic producer.

Canada Exempt Under Quota.

Canada was exempted under the English import quota and was free to ship all the pork she wanted to to Great Britain. The high level of prices in the United States, however, made this country a more attractive market despite existing tariffs as reflected in the Canadian export figures.

Pork is only one of the many Canadian farm products which has found a market here since the advent of the AAA. Last year Canada sold the United States a substantial quantity of feed grain. This season she is expected to supply American millers with upward of 75 million bushels of bread wheat.
